Background DATA

An individual was born and raised in the heart of concrete jungle engulf by mother nature which is rich in natural resources, by not any mean little more but little over the top in both landscape and mineral. However, unfortunate for little boy who was grown up with destined unfortunate background of lacking both wealth and status due to ancestry linked to those in power of the old era. Someone who was destined to be scorned by his illness and disability, grown up in a family which wasn't there for him to fulfil his needs, the house without the roof, the mockery of parentless and disability from those around him, thus leading to boundaryless, mannerless and overthinking persona to build a man. While he's always surround by those who learn to be a person of virtues, he often finds himself fight just to survives, none the less, he still persuades to be a better person each day, to be selfless, to be caring, to be generous and also to be understand.
