Our Mission

To be a safe and enriching place for all cats on their journey to a loving home. We do this by providing compassionate care, shelter, adoption services and community engagement.

From the Executive Director

Dear Friends,

There is no single path to making a difference for cats.

Every day at Cat Care Society, we see the many ways our community chooses to show up for this work. Some open their homes and adopt. Some give monthly through our Cat-alyt Club, creating a steady and reliable foundation of care. Others donate a vehicle, contribute supplies, attend events, or honor the life of someone who cared deeply about animals.

Each action may look different, but together they make everything we do possible.

Our Cat-alyt Club is a powerful example of this collective impact. With gifts that add up over time, this community now includes 227 dedicated supporters, ensuring that no matter the season, we can confidently say yes to the cats who need us most.

Another example, in early April, 77 generous supporters helped raise $26,730 online for Meals that Heal. This total included a $10,000 match generously provided by an anonymous donor, which served as a primer that encouraged others to give. These funds will provide prescription diet food for more than half of the cats in our care, making a real difference in their health and well-being.

Because of you, we're able to care for cats with complex medical and behavioral needs, support families through challenging times, and continue evolving our programs to better serve both cats and the people who love them. Whether it's welcoming a shy cat into a patient home, providing critical resources to keep a pet with their family, or making a lasting gift that supports our mission for years to come, every contribution ensures cats in our care have a safe and enriching path to their next loving home.

In this issue, you'll see just a few of those stories — each one a reflection of the impact that's possible when people find their own way to get involved.

There is no "right" way to help, only the way that's right for you.

Thank you for being part of our community and for the many ways you make a difference for cats, every single day.

With gratitude,
EC Michaels

In Loving Memory of Linda Brandon

Cat Care Society mourns the loss of Linda Brandon, a devoted volunteer, generous donor, and former board member. Linda's expertise as a Certified Public Accountant helped guide critical financial decisions for the organization, and her kindness and dedication touched everyone she worked with.

She is remembered by her husband, Mark Brandon; her family and friends. As Mark shared, "Linda was a dedicated Cat Care Society board member for many years...She is greatly missed and was a good friend to so many in the Cat Care Society. She is forever loved by her husband, Mark, who is still raising three cats!"

From Clyde Dawson: Among the many reasons I have to think well of the Cat Care Society, it was there that I first crossed paths with Linda. There we became colleagues, and then, along with our respective spouses, the best of friends. Linda and I joined the CCS Board of Directors at the same time, in the fall of 2008.

Linda had served as a volunteer in the shelter for several years, and my wife Barbara and I had been donors for some time; it was obvious that we had a lot in common as "cat people." And I often found myself picking Linda's brains – she was a CPA, and when I was elected CCS Board Treasurer, I often turned to her for advice and guidance.

From that time on, we went out with Mark and Linda regularly, got to know each other's cats – taking turns cat-sitting as out of town trips came up – and generally delighting in one another's company. (And we never missed an opportunity to share a meal.)

I have never known a more devoted – or skilled – cat caregiver than Linda. And each time we got together, the first thing she wanted to know was "How are the cats?" This was usually followed by the latest tale of cat misbehavior at the Brandon household. One time Linda quoted herself as saying sternly to Dougie, "You are not my first rodeo, you know."

Of course, a reality for people who have animals is sometimes having to say a final goodbye. The Brandons and Dawsons have been there for each other at those times of loss for many years now. But just as often, we've shared the joys of new cat adoptions and the moments when one of us was finally accepted by one of the other family's cats. We all bonded over our love of cats, and our friendships broadened and deepened from there.

Once in a while, one meets someone who becomes the rarest, most cherished kind of friend. Though we miss Linda dreadfully every day, we give thanks that she was that friend in our lives. We, and our cats, are better off for it.

We are grateful for Linda's years of service and her lasting impact on the cats and community she cared for so deeply. Linda's family has requested that memorial gifts in her honor be made to Cat Care Society.

Meet Hitops

This 14-year-old lady is a loving companion to everyone she meets!

Hitops loves nothing more than curling up on a fuzzy blanket for a good nap, preferably near her people. While she's not much of a toy-chaser, she enjoys following you around the house and settling in close by for quality hangout time.

Hitops is a chatty girl who isn't shy about letting you know when it's mealtime. Despite being an older kitty with arthritis, she still gets the occasional burst of zoomies and can easily hop up on the furniture to claim her favorite comfy spot.

She's a gentle, easygoing companion who has been tolerant of other cats and dogs in her foster home. She especially enjoys relaxing on the couch with some soft jazz playing in the background. She's a classy lady, of course.

While she may have some age-related medical needs, we think she would be a wonderful addition to any home, and we will be more than happy to discuss what in-home care she requires with any potential adopters! Reach out about Hitops today!

To learn more about Hitops and set up a meet and greet, please email info@catcaresociety.org. You'll receive an overview of any medical or behavioral disclaimers to review before scheduling an in-person meeting.

Adoption Update: Cinder

After unexpectedly going viral at the beginning of January, 17-year-old diabetic cat Cinder captured the hearts of many. As a senior with ongoing medical needs, Cinder's journey to adoption was not an easy one, but by the end of the month, he finally found a loving home.

Kaleb saw Cinder's video on Facebook and chose to take a chance on a cat who needed a little extra care. After going over his diabetic care with our medical team, Cinder was ready to go home!

Kaleb shared that Cinder has adjusted beautifully to his new home. He gets along with all of his new kitty siblings and even enjoys "helping" in the kitchen. He loves breakfast and dinner time, helping clean out the dishwasher, carrying his toys around in his mouth, and leaving them all over the house.

Reducing Barriers to Cat Adoption

Why We Embraced Open Adoptions

By Beth Dokolasa, Board Member

Cat adoption should be an easy win—pairing cats in need with people ready to love them. However, outdated barriers in the adoption process, such as home inspections, background checks, landlord checks, and even interviews with the entire family (including other pets!) can delay or derail those connections. A growing body of research and best practice models, including the Adopters Welcome Manual from The Association for Animal Welfare Advancement, shows that these adoption hurdles do not significantly reduce the rates of returned animals or failed adoptions.

Over the past three years, Cat Care Society has removed barriers and adopted an open model—helping cats find homes faster while improving efficiency and maintaining our high standards of care.

The Myth of the “Perfect” Adopter

It's understandable that shelters want to make sure that cats are placed in safe and loving homes. However, well-meaning animal shelters and rescues often rely on a set of elaborate procedures designed to identify the “perfect” home. This creates a lengthy and complex adoption process which feels like a judgemental interrogation, ultimately turning off potential adopters.

Additionally, a study published in the Journal of Animal Welfare Science found that strict and elaborate screening is not correlated with lower return rates. Instead, these practices unintentionally create obstacles for well-meaning adopters, often disproportionately affecting people who are already marginalized or underserved, including renters, young people, and individuals with lower incomes and/or non-traditional lifestyles. The Million Cat Challenge, a joint project of two of the most widely-recognized shelter medicine programs in the world, emphasizes that the strict adoption barriers push people to obtain cats elsewhere, such as from acquaintances, friends, or Craigslist where paperwork and screening are not required. This can lead to problems such as the cat being a poor match for the home due to a lack of behavioral records, as well as potential health concerns as the cat may not have received essential vaccinations or been spayed or neutered.

The Reality:

Open Adoptions Get More Cats Into Loving Homes

The Million Cat Challenge initiative promotes open adoptions and emphasizes the importance of “conversations designed to help anyone walking into the shelter feel respected and anyone walking out to be more educated and hopefully with a pet they love.”

Based on a recent national survey, 58% of potential cat owners prefer shelters, and 45% prefer rescues, yet only 24% adopted from a shelter and even fewer (13%) adopted from a rescue. People want to adopt from shelters; we should let them! By making the process less intimidating, shelters can connect with more people and position themselves as a trusted resource for support and guidance should issues arise after adoption to help reduce returns and rehoming.

Increasing adoptions from shelters can also have a greater long-term impact. By eliminating barriers, “the shelter can place a cat who has been neutered and vaccinated and comes with cat care education and future support, possibly leading to a reduction in shelter cat intake in the future.” Additionally, simplified adoption processes reduce administrative burden, allowing staff to focus more on animal care, intake, outreach, and adopter support.

Cat Care Society's Approach

Over the last three years, we have intentionally removed restrictive adoption barriers which has allowed us to help more cats than ever before.

The results are clear when comparing Fiscal Year 2022 to Fiscal Year 2025:

Faster Placements:

The average time a cat spends in our care has significantly decreased from 58 days down to just 32. Streamlining adoptions and including clear readiness criteria and better communication, help ensure adopters feel informed and confident without compromising care.

Increased Intake:

Because cats are finding homes faster, we've been able to take in more cats. Our annual intake grew from 716 to 1,280 cats.

Decreased return rate:

Our return rate in FY22 was 6.3% and in FY25 it was down to 3.3%. This comes from making it easier to match the right people with the right cat by improving listings and educating adopters before they go home.

More Families Made:

Our total adoptions have climbed steadily year-over-year as a result of our open adoption policies and increased intake, rising from 743 to 1,105.

Conclusion

Simplifying the cat adoption process is not just a good idea, it's critical for the health and well-being of both the cats and the people who want to adopt them. By embracing open adoptions, we have expanded our community and impact, and much of this progress is thanks to our staff, volunteers, donors, and foster caregivers. By focusing on inclusion, trust, and education we can ensure that every cat has the best possible chance at finding a home.
