WINTER AUCTION 2023

Art on a Postcard (AOAP) presents a bumper ninth edition of its Autumn/Winter collection with over 500 works and six guest curators. The auction showcases a stellar line-up, including London-based artist Rana Begum, Thomas Dane Gallery's Hurvin Anderson RA, world-renowned textile designer Kaffe Fassett MBE, Stephen Friedman Gallery's Anne Rothenstein, celebrated Scottish painter Andrew Cranston, LA contemporary artist Kim Dingle, Glasgow-born Jack Milroy, rising star Matthew Eguavoen, based in Lagos, Nigeria, New Contemporary Tom Harker, popular abstract artist John Simpson, Sheffield based Ryan Mosely NYC based artist, famed for his instantly recognisable drawings, doodles, characters and murals Jon Burgerman, Dutch artist Bobbye Fermie, and the Chilean Marco Bizzarri headlining this year's show, which aims to raise money for The Hepatitis C Trust's unfunded helpline, a vital resource for the many thousands of people who received infected blood or blood products.

The curators include innovator Frankie Shea of Moniker Projects, who founded, funded, and produced the first annual art fair of its kind, showcasing works rooted in urban culture, street art and graffiti. Frankie has brought in artists from Bristol's graffiti heritage such as Nick Walker, Sickboy and Hugo Farmer, interdisciplinary artists Faith47 and Fa Razavi and the prolific and notorious writers TOX and 10FOOT.

Next up, is impressive Guts Gallery director Ell Pennick, thought to be one of the youngest gallerists navigating today's art world. Frustrated with the lack of opportunities for Ell's generation, especially within the working classes, Gut's Gallery employs an equitable business model to empower the next generation of artists. Ell has introduced exciting emerging talents such as Sophie Vallance Cantor, Olivia Sterling, Georg Wilson, and Iranian British artist Leila Tara H.

Gallerist Ed Cross has championed the work of African and African diaspora artists since founding his eponymous gallery 13 years ago. On Ed's roster are Reuben Powell, Russian artist Vladimir Logutov, and sculptor and installation artist Abdulrazaq Awofeso.

Gillian Jason Gallery director Millie Foster collaborates with female-identifying artists, continuing the legacy started by her grandmother of exhibiting work by pioneering artists. Millie's roster includes the brilliant painter Christabel Blackburn, multidisciplinary artist Precious Opara, and recent RCA graduate Bethany Hadfield.

Katherine Kittoe of Kittoe Contemporary showcases artwork in a novel way by placing them in houses and hosting 'art parties'. Katherine's roster includes illustrator Charlotte Farmer, cartoonist Joe Berger, and still life painter Jason Line. Finally, comedian and art critic Verity Babbs' selection includes RCA graduate Cecilia Reeve, Portuguese-born Chica Seal, and abstract expressionist Taya De La Cruz.

Art on a Postcard's own selection highlights include returning contributing artist Helen Beard, a firm AOAP favourite, the wonderful Sussex painter Peter Messer, Japanese artist Motonori Uwasu, whose unique painting style will surely be a massive hit and Nigerian artist Matthew Eguavoen Imuetiyan, whose submissions will be snapped up before you can say charity auction.

"This year's auction is the most diverse and interesting we have produced. The curators have each brought their own unique perspective, all coming from very different backgrounds. The result is easily the best show we've ever put on. Hosting the private view at Gathering is the crowning stroke."

Curated by Ell Pennick

Photography by Brynley Odu Davies

Director and Founder of Guts Gallery, Ell Pennick is one of the youngest gallerists navigating the art world today.

As a working-class, queer Northerner with no art background, Pennick's footing in the art world started with their frustrations at the lack of meaningful opportunities for people like them.

After being unable to accept a place at a renowned institution due to their financial status, Pennick began to question the wider, social austerity within the arts.

They launched Guts to create a fair art-business model (which has “far more importance to them than a piece of paper with a Masters grade on it”) and to champion emerging artists.

They made it their mission to help artists demand the respect - and ownership - they deserve.

Curated by Ed Cross

Photography by Dola Posh

Ed Cross works with emerging and established artists across and beyond the African diaspora.

The gallery seeks to stage conversations – between practitioners, international audiences and as guided by its artists – to amplify voices historically silenced, and to create space for their independent development.

Since launching in 2009, Ed Cross has held exhibitions across the world: from New York to Paris, and London to Lagos. Now operating from its permanent space in central London, the gallery continues to build on its values of cooperation and curiosity.

Curated by Millie Foster

Outgoing and articulate, with a gift for understanding, Millie guides the gallery's agile collaborative attitude, working with the historical expertise established by her grandmother, while continuously approaching things through a dynamic start-up mindset.

Her background in investment banking and tech start-ups informs her efficiency and problem-solving skills, underlined by an eye for detail which applies as much to artworks as it does to operations.

A strategic thinker, she blends her relational approach with market-driven acumen, drawing excitement from emerging markets that, as she puts it, “should have been welcomed into the spotlight long ago and are incredibly important for local artists themselves.”

For Millie, female and non-binary hold the power to drive change through the way people see, and in turn how they think.

Curated by Katherine Kittoe

I studied History of Art & Archaeology at The University of Liverpool, followed by many and varied roles at Sotheby's for 15 years. I went on to Royal Museums Greenwich, Exhibitions Department and then set up Kittoe Contemporary in 2018.

Kittoe Contemporary is a nomadic gallery showing a talented group of emerging and established artists exhibiting at Art Fairs, Pop-Ups and Events where collectors can enjoy Art in a relaxed, convivial atmosphere.

We help our clients fill their homes with exciting art they will find rewarding and love for many years. Our artists have very different styles, different mediums and methods and we delight in these contrasts. They offer something for a variety of tastes and budgets and we are passionate about the quality of their work.

Curated by Frankie Shea

Frankie Shea is an arts producer, project manager and art advisor and dealer born and based in London.

Shea is known as both a committed mentor and discerning producer of public art and has curated a rich programme of educational workshops, film screenings, talks, and commissions such as the ambitious, large scale Living-Walls, London public art project for Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park.

His passion for and interest in alternative subcultures and aesthetics was integral to the development of Shoreditch's art scene, as well as the exhibitions he organised at various London galleries and UK institutions.

In 2010, he founded Moniker Projects, which provides platforms for urban and outsider art forms. Moniker Projects funded, curated and produced the inaugural Moniker Art Fair, the first-of-its-kind fair that uniquely exhibited works with roots in urban culture.
