McCures WINE CELLAR

Botas De Barro - Verdejo & Tinta de Toro

Botas de Barro was created to support the farmers who care for some of Spain's oldest vineyards.

After moving from Sheffield to Toro, Spain, the founder of Spanish Palate was welcomed by local growers who shared their knowledge, traditions and passion for the region's remarkable old vines. When many of these farmers began facing pressure from larger producers pushing grape prices down, she created the Botas de Barro range to help ensure they received a fair and sustainable price for their grapes.

The name Botas de Barro – meaning “muddy boots” – honours the generations of growers who have worked these vineyards. The boots featured on the labels are the real boots of the farmers themselves.

A tribute to the many pairs of muddy boots that have walked these vineyards, caring for the old vines that produce such wonderful wines today.

Verdejo

One of Spain's leading white wine regions, Rueda is known for its indigenous Verdejo grape. Its continental climate and gravelly soils produce fresh, aromatic wines with vibrant fruit and balanced acidity.

Tasting Notes: Crisp, bright and highly aromatic with a pale straw colour and fresh fruit character.

Food Pairing: Ideal with salads, lighter fish dishes, or enjoyed on its own.

Tinta de Toro

Toro is one of Spain's oldest and most prestigious red wine regions. Its extreme climate and dry conditions produce powerful wines from the local Tinta de Toro (Tempranillo) grape, known for their deep colour and rich intensity.

Tasting Notes: Deep cherry red with purple hues. Intense aromas of dark berries, violets and liquorice, with a full palate, balanced tannins and subtle oak.

Food Pairing: Perfect with red meats, roasts and cured cheeses.
