

AGRI-BUSINESS | AG/ANIMAL SCIENCE
| AG/AGRICULTURE RANGE MANAGEMENT

Agri-Business / AG/ Animal Science / AG/ Agriculture Range Management

Agri-Business: Learn the foundations of business procedures to efficiently manage financial operations in an ag-related business.

Animal Science: Learn aspects of the animal science field and related industries. Focus on the economics of livestock production, which includes management and marketing. Gain knowledge in the nutrition of domestic livestock such as cattle, sheep, goat and swine. Livestock reproduction and disease treatment and prevention are also at the basis of this program. Gain knowledge and skills for a successful career in the animal science field.

Agriculture Range Management is focused on experiential, field-based learning that explores range management, domestic livestock, wildlife management, soil and plant life as well as production techniques. Learn applied techniques to best manage land, resources, livestock, and wildlife sustainably. This program has an emphasis on internships and professional development by utilizing co-op work experience in the community.
