INTRODUCING

802

END BORDER EDITION

Crafted from the same premium-quality Turkish cotton as our RH 802 Turkish Towel collection, this refined interpretation introduces a distinctive end-border detail while preserving the integrity, weight, and luxurious hand of the original design.

Woven from long-staple Turkish cotton, the towel offers exceptional absorbency, softness, and durability. The newly positioned end border creates a more defined frame, elevating the silhouette with a tailored, architectural finish—an understated yet intentional design shift that enhances visual balance when folded or displayed.

Maintaining the same plush texture, density, and performance as the original RH 802 construction, this edition brings a subtle statement to bath styling. The structured end border adds depth and dimension, while the clean field of the towel preserves its timeless, minimalist character.

A study in proportion and craftsmanship, the RH 802 End Border Edition reflects quiet luxury—where material integrity and considered detailing define the experience.

An evolution of our RH 802 Turkish Towel collection, this refined edition preserves the exact construction, material integrity, and hand feel of the original—reimagined with a distinctive double interior border.

Woven from the same premium long-staple Turkish cotton, the towel maintains its exceptional absorbency, substantial weight, and remarkably soft touch. The introduction of two precisely spaced interior borders creates a balanced architectural rhythm across the surface, offering a subtle yet elevated design statement.

The double-border detail enhances visual structure without compromising the clean, minimalist field that defines the RH 802 aesthetic. When folded or displayed, the layered borders introduce depth and proportion—an understated expression of craftsmanship and intentional design.

Identical in quality, density, and performance to the original RH 802 construction, this edition reflects RH’s philosophy of quiet luxury: timeless materials, disciplined detailing, and enduring refinement.

An evolution of our RH 802 Turkish Towel collection, this edition maintains the identical construction, weight, and material integrity of the original design—distinguished by its refined double interior border and offered in two considered dye techniques.

The original interpretation is solid-dyed, allowing for rich, uniform saturation across the entire towel. This method enhances depth of tone while preserving the plush hand and substantial character of the premium long-staple Turkish cotton.

In contrast, the yarn-dyed + solid-dyed variation introduces a layered dimension. The borders are yarn-dyed prior to weaving, ensuring precise tonal definition and structural clarity, while the finished towel undergoes a final solid-dye process to achieve overall chromatic harmony. The result is a subtle interplay of depth and contrast—architectural yet restrained.

Both versions retain the same absorbency, density, and tactile softness that define the RH 802 standard. The difference lies purely in expression: one offers a seamless, monolithic presence; the other reveals a nuanced articulation of color and craftsmanship.

A study in material integrity and disciplined detailing, each reflects RH's philosophy of quiet luxury—where technique elevates the essential.

INTRODUCING

COREFIBRO-LINEN BORDERED

A refined fusion of material and texture, this edition reimagines our RH 802 Turkish Towel through the unexpected pairing of plush Turkish cotton and a tailored cupro-linen fabric accent.

Crafted from the same substantial-weight, long-staple Turkish cotton that defines the RH 802 collection, the towel retains its exceptional absorbency, density, and soft hand. The addition of cupro-linen introduces a distinct textural contrast—smooth yet structured, fluid yet architectural.

Cupro lends a subtle luster and silk-like refinement, while linen contributes natural body and understated strength. Together, they create a composed, elevated border detail that frames the towel with quiet precision. The interplay between the plush terry surface and the tightly woven cupro-linen panel results in a visually rich, layered aesthetic. The effect is both restrained and luxurious—balanced proportions, disciplined design, and tactile depth. A statement in material integrity and thoughtful construction, this piece reflects RH's philosophy of understated opulence and enduring craftsmanship.

COREFIBRO-LINEN BORDERED

The design is elevated through a considered use of contrast—where tonal variation is not disruptive, but harmonizing. The contrasting hue is intentionally selected to complement the base color, creating a refined visual balance rather than sharp separation.

Instead of overpowering the composition, the contrast border frames the towel with architectural clarity, enhancing proportion and depth. The interplay between tones introduces dimension while preserving a cohesive, monolithic presence.

This disciplined approach to color creates unity through contrast—an understated yet deliberate design gesture that reflects RH's philosophy of quiet luxury and composed sophistication.

SATIN LINE TOWEL & BATH MAT

The plush terry field remains unchanged, delivering the substantial hand and exceptional absorbency that define the RH 802 standard. The distinction lies in the reimagined interior border, now woven as a tailored satin stripe. Its smooth, refined surface introduces a subtle luster and architectural clarity, offering contrast in texture while maintaining tonal restraint. Completing the collection, a coordinating bath mat has been developed in the same construction and weight, echoing the satin border detail. Dense underfoot and visually composed, it reinforces continuity within the space—balanced, cohesive, and quietly elevated.

A disciplined refinement of a signature design, this edition reflects RH's philosophy of material integrity, proportion, and understated luxury.

An evolution of our signature 802 Bath Towel, reimagined with a refined contrast stitch detail.

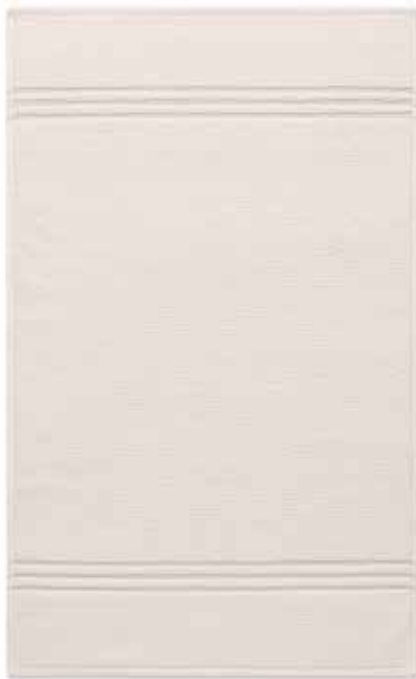

Crafted in the same exceptional composition and weight as the original 802, this towel preserves its distinguished hand, density, and absorbency. The plush texture and substantial gram weight remain unchanged – offering the same enveloping softness and elevated performance.

The addition of a subtle contrast stitch introduces a tailored, architectural edge. A restrained detail that enhances definition while honoring the purity of the original design. Understated yet intentional, it brings a modern refinement to a timeless essential. Designed to integrate seamlessly into curated bath environments, the 802 Contrast Stitch Edition reflects a quiet sophistication – where craftsmanship, material integrity, and thoughtful detailing define the experience.

An evolution of our signature 802, this bath mat reinterprets the original design with a refined contrast stitch detail.

Crafted in the same exceptional composition and substantial weight as the 802 towel, it preserves its distinguished density, high absorbency, and plush hand. The deeply textured surface remains soft yet resilient underfoot, delivering elevated performance in a grounded, architectural form.

A precise contrast stitch frames the perimeter, adding subtle structure and visual definition while maintaining the purity of the original design. Thoughtfully proportioned and meticulously finished, the 802 Bath Mat – Contrast Stitch Edition brings understated refinement and material depth to curated bath spaces.

Crafted in the same exceptional composition, weight, and distinguished hand as the original 802, this collection preserves its renowned density, absorbency, and enveloping softness. The foundation remains uncompromised – substantial, refined, and enduring.

This edition introduces woven satin bands within the body of the towel, creating subtle architectural structure and a restrained interplay of matte and sheen. The interior satin borders are balanced by a coordinating satin finish along the edge, establishing a composed and harmonious frame.

The result is a study in contrast – plush terry against the smooth precision of satin weave. Understated yet intentional, the detailing lends dimension without excess, honoring RH's commitment to material integrity and timeless design. Designed for curated bath environments, the 802 Satin Border Series reflects quiet luxury defined by craftsmanship, balance, and thoughtful restraint.

INTRODUCING

ONE SIDE TERRY TOWEL

Rewoven using the signature border of the 802 collection, this bath towel is thoughtfully reinterpreted with a dual-surface construction: one face in plush terry loops, the other defined by the structured 802 border design.

Crafted to the same standards density, and material integrity as the original 802 towels, the piece preserves the collection's substantial hand and refined performance. The looped face delivers exceptional absorbency and softness, while the bordered surface introduces architectural clarity and a tailored finish.

This balanced interplay of texture and structure creates a composed, elevated aesthetic—quiet yet intentional. Designed as a natural extension of the 802 collection, it completes the bath ensemble with continuity, proportion, and disciplined detailing.

A study in material precision and understated luxury, this piece reflects RH's philosophy: timeless construction, restrained design, and enduring refinement.

INTRODUCING

KIMONO COLLAR ROBE & SLIPPERS

A refined extension of the 802 collection, translated from bath to body.

Drawing inspiration from the signature border of our 802 towel, we developed a bespoke robe-weight fabric that carries the same woven motif with greater depth and dimension. The result is a textile that feels both structured and indulgent – substantial in hand, yet fluid in drape.

Tailored in a modern kimono silhouette, the robe is composed with architectural restraint. Clean lines and balanced proportions allow the border weave to become the defining element. The cuffs, collar band, and pocket trims are thoughtfully finished in coordinating interpretations of the same fabric – offered in both tone-on-tone refinement and deliberate contrast.

Matte texture meets subtle definition, creating a layered expression of craftsmanship. Every detail is intentional, every proportion considered.

The 802 Border Weave Kimono Robe reflects a quiet sophistication – where material continuity, tailored construction, and understated contrast redefine everyday ritual as elevated experience.

SHAWL COLLAR ROBE
& SLIPPERS

Tailored with a classic shawl collar and fluid raglan sleeves, the silhouette balances softness with precision. The shawl collar frames the neckline with understated volume, while the raglan construction allows for a more natural drape across the shoulder – relaxed yet composed.

The border weave moves seamlessly across the body, transforming what was once a subtle towel detail into the defining language of the garment. Plush yet structured, substantial yet effortless, the fabric offers depth of texture and enduring comfort.

Measured in proportion and disciplined in detail, the 802 Border Weave Shawl Collar Robe reflects a quiet sophistication – where material continuity, considered tailoring, and timeless design elevate everyday ritual into a refined experience.

INTRODUCING

ONE SIDE TERRY BATHROBE

The original 802 border motif has been developed into a dedicated robe-weight fabric, preserving its woven character while introducing greater scale and dimensional presence. In contrast, the body is crafted in a single-loop terry – soft, absorbent, and quietly substantial – offering a matte surface that enhances depth and tactility.

The silhouette is rendered in a modern kimono cut, defined by clean geometry and balanced proportion. The custom border fabric is placed with intention at the collar, cuffs, and belt – framing the form with subtle structure and tonal definition. The interplay between the smooth, architectural weave and the plush single-loop body creates a layered composition of texture and light.

The 802 Dual Fabric Shawl Collar Robe embodies a quiet refinement – where craftsmanship, proportion, and material dialogue redefine everyday luxury. The defining border of the 802 has been transformed into a bespoke outer fabric – woven with depth, structure, and quiet dimensionality. Architectural in presence yet refined in tone, the exterior carries the visual identity of the collection with clarity and restraint. Inside, a fine-loop terry lines the robe with understated softness. Lightweight and absorbent, it offers a gentle counterpoint to the structured outer weave – creating an experience that is both tactile and tailored. Designed with a classic shawl collar, the silhouette frames the neckline with relaxed elegance. The collar flows seamlessly into the body, allowing the two fabrics to meet in measured balance – textured structure on the outside, plush subtlety within. The union of these materials is intentional: one expresses form, the other comfort. Together they create depth without excess, contrast without disruption.

BATH TOWEL

Woven with intricate mini-texture patterns, these towels are elevated through a specialized piece-dye process that enhances both depth and character. By dyeing the towel after it is fully woven, each fiber absorbs color with subtle variation—allowing the dimensional textures to emerge with richness and nuance. This technique highlights the delicate surface detailing, creating soft tonal shifts across the sculpted weave. The result is a towel with layered visual depth and a lived-in sophistication, where color and texture work in harmony. Exceptionally soft to the touch and thoughtfully crafted, these distinctive towels bring refined texture and effortless elegance to your bath—adding a quiet statement of style to everyday living.

Crafted from the perfect Aegean Cotton, this design combines breathable comfort with a sophisticated, textured look. The result is a balanced composition that captures timeless elegance while maintaining a relaxed, natural charm in your living space.

GARMENT DYE WAFFLE

DUVET COVER SET

Featuring a distinctive waffle texture, this bedding set brings a refined yet sporty elegance to any bedroom. The dimensional waffle pattern adds depth and character to the overall look, creating a relaxed but sophisticated atmosphere.

To make the waffle design even more special, the duvet covers have been piece-dyed. This process enhances the richness of the color and gives the fabric subtle tonal variations, adding a unique and premium touch to each piece.

While the front side showcases the textured waffle fabric, the inner side is crafted from smooth percale, offering a crisp, breathable, and comfortable feel against the skin. The combination of structured texture and soft percale ensures both visual appeal and everyday comfort.

Blending modern style with functional comfort, this bedding set is designed to become an essential part of your bedroom's sporty and contemporary elegance.

INTRODUCING FRAME KNITTED THROW SET

Experience exceptional softness with premium Aegean cotton. The elegant frame detail, created by combining two different colored yarns, adds a refined and distinctive touch to the design.

Its lightly textured, subtly perforated structure enhances breathability, offering a fresh and comfortable sleep experience. With its versatile color palette, this bedding coordinates effortlessly with any bedroom style, bringing timeless elegance and everyday comfort together.

INTRODUCING CORE BLANKET & DEC PILLOW

The blankets featured in the image are crafted from premium Aegean cotton, renowned for its long-staple fibers, natural softness, and exceptional durability. This high-quality cotton enhances the overall comfort and performance of the fabric, offering a breathable structure and a luxuriously smooth touch against the skin.

Each blanket is woven with distinctive textured patterns, carefully designed to add depth, dimension, and character to the surface. These varied texture designs not only elevate the visual appeal but also create a sophisticated layering effect, making the blankets both decorative and functional. The interplay of weave structures gives each piece a unique identity while maintaining a refined and timeless aesthetic.

Thanks to the natural properties of Aegean cotton, the blankets are lightweight yet cozy, soft yet resilient, and suitable for year-round use. Their versatile design allows them to blend effortlessly into a variety of bedroom styles – from modern minimal to relaxed contemporary interiors.

With their elegant texture, breathable comfort, and understated luxury, these woven blankets bring warmth, harmony, and a refined sense of style to your bedroom space.
