Trail run ultralight zero is landing this April

For serious runners who like to explore the world's trails at a faster pace.

The Trail Run Ultralight Merino Sport is Bridgedale's lightest Merino sock with no cushioning and plenty of ventilation for the runner who wears more cushioned footwear.

Merino Sport Fusion Technology provides moisture wicking, odour control and reinforced key areas for outstanding comfort and durability on the trails. The Sport Fit gives supportive compression for stability and balance around the ankle and mid foot and the zero debris cuff gives an extended close fit to prevent debris getting in and this means your sock won't slip down or bunch in your footwear. The natural toe box is wide and un-restrictive, allowing your toes to splay when running and the reinforced seam prevents splits and blow outs when descending. Built on a structure of LYCRA® and set by our Thermo Fit process ensuring the sock returns to its original shape and size after every wash. These socks deliver fantastic comfort for runners wearing more cushioned shoes, whether on or off the trails.
