ABOUT US

PearlLavish began as a mother's heartfelt quest to provide her child with the best amidst the bustling city life of Gurugram, near Delhi. Priyanka, a devoted mother, faced the challenge of finding a soap gentle enough for her daughter's sensitive skin, especially with the rising pollution in the Delhi-NCR region. The harsh chemicals in commercial soaps only worsened her daughter's skin issues, leading Priyanka to seek a natural, skin-friendly alternative.

Drawing from ancestral wisdom, Priyanka turned to her kitchen, blending pure herbs, natural oils, and love. Her first creation—a soap infused with neem, turmeric, and aloe vera—became a breakthrough. The gentle formulation not only healed her daughter's skin but also filled their home with a calming natural fragrance.

Word of her handmade soaps spread quickly among friends and neighbours, who shared similar concerns about the effects of pollution on their skin. Priyanka began expanding her creations, developing a variety of soap formulations designed to combat pollutants and toxins while rejuvenating the skin.

What began as a personal project soon evolved into a growing community favourite. Friends introduced her soaps to their families, neighbours spread the word, and even corporate offices started ordering them as thoughtful gifts. PearlLavish became synonymous with purity, sustainability, and a return to nature, resonating with urbanites seeking solace amidst the chaos of city life.

All Soy Candles

Soy candles are an eco-friendly alternative to traditional paraffin candles, made from soybean oil a renewable, biodegradable resource. Unlike paraffin, which is derived from petroleum, soy wax burns cleanly, producing little to no soot.

This makes soy candles a healthier option for your home, especially for those with allergies or sensitivities.

One of the key benefits of soy candles is their long, even burn. Because soy wax has a lower melting point, it burns slower and lasts longer than paraffin, offering excellent value. It also holds fragrance well, releasing a pleasant, consistent aroma throughout the room without overwhelming the senses.

Shaped like a miniature boat, this candle is often crafted from durable wax with intricate detailing that mimics the structure of a vessel—complete with sails, decks, and hulls. Christmas Tree Candle

A Christmas tree candle is a charming and nostalgic decoration that brings the warmth and glow of traditional holiday celebrations into your home. Unlike electric lights, these candles evoke a timeless, classic ambiance reminiscent of old European Christmas traditions. Typically small and tapered, they are designed to sit delicately on the branches of a Christmas tree, often held in place with clips or holders to ensure safety.

Made from wax in festive colors like red, green, gold, or white, Christmas tree candles emit a soft, flickering light that enhances the cozy atmosphere of the season. Their gentle glow complements the natural scent of pine and the shimmer of ornaments, creating a magical effect that is both elegant and serene.

Hampers that Speak from the Heart

Wax Sachets

Wax sachets are fragrant, decorative items crafted from wax and infused with dried botanicals and essential or fragrance oils. They offer a flame-free alternative to candles for freshening up small spaces like closets, drawers, bathrooms, or linen cupboards. Typically made using soy or beeswax, wax sachets are both eco-friendly and visually pleasing, often incorporating herbs, flowers, spices, and citrus slices.

To make a wax sachet, melted wax is poured into molds and then decorated with dried flowers or fruits before it hardens. Fragrance oils or essential oils are added to give off a lasting, gentle scent. Common aromas include lavender, rose, eucalyptus, cinnamon, and citrus — all of which can be tailored to suit the season or mood.
