This piece is not painted but has been negatively coloured in a buildup of semi-translucent gelcoat layers, which was then heavily reinforced with fibreglass whilst still in its silicone mould. This technique "bakes" the colour deep into the laminate and is a superior finish to traditionally painted fibreglass sculptures. It is made from fibreglass and has been reinforced with an internal steel armature.

Pelican on Post
L 67 x W 28 x H 73cm - 6kg

This Pelican has been attached to a treated pine post so it can be viewed from below as you would normally see it in the wild, around your garden, playground or day care centre. It creates a viewing reference to educate the public of the Australian wildlife.

Natureworks currently has three birds in this collection of birds on posts. They are placed on a removable caps that allows the bird to be taken down and cleaned from time to time.

The collection of birds on post consists of Powerful Owl, White Breasted Sea Eagle, & the Pelican, all can be viewed on our website.

If you would like any of our other birds to be on posts to help theme your outdoor space, please contact Natureworks on 07 3289 7555

OWL on post

Finding suitable mounting perches for our animals at an appropriate height beyond reach of the average vandal is solved by our “cap-mounted” playground animals, designed to be displayed on vertical poles.

The range of birds and mammals are permanently attached to the tops of 3m to 4m treated pine logs of diameter 175mm to 250mm.

The logs are concreted vertically into the ground and the sculptures are fixed with both adhesive and screws which are countersunk and sealed over, to prevent removal.

Labelling on the post enables the identification of the animal. Scattered along a bush pathway they provide a positive way of identifying the local fauna.

Giant Prehistoric Lizard

Komodo Dragon - Version

L-716 x W-160 x H-168cm - 157kg

A Lifesize Australian Native Animal?

This piece was commissioned by Campbelltown City Council as a playground feature element.

This megalania is well suited to playground use and comes with a standard acrylic paint finish in brown or polyurethane paint finish with the black & white version

This Giant Megalania was a major land predator of the Australian continent in the Pleistocene Era. This piece is a new addition to our megafauna collection. It will provide a great focal point for an education based play experience for children. It has been designed as a playground friendly Australian outdoor/indoor element and provides a powerful connection between the modern day contemporary fauna and our prehistoric past.

CLIMBING & CRAWLING BURROWS

The concrete burrows are elastomer lined to prevent sore heads

Theming Product

Discovery Tunnels are fun

Custom Build

These Burrows were a custom build for Currumbin Sanctuary's "Wild Island"

A series of "underground" concrete burrows were formed above the ground to avoid flooding, then partially buried. Poly carbonate dome peep holes admit sufficient light to enable children to navigate the burrows and to "gain their bearings" by standing and looking out. During their journey, children discover viewing windows into illuminated dioramas of the native Australian animals which dig burrows, such as wombats, bilbies, tortoises, platypus, bandicoots, snakes and more.

This cave was commissioned by the Woolongong city council. It was made on site at Natureworks and sent to Woolongong on a trailer where it was carefully fitted into place, sealed and painted.

It provides an educational experience of cave wildlife.

Any Size Tree is Available

What an achievement!

In 2006 Natureworks was contracted to build the largest indoor artificial tree on the planet. It was to grow through the atrium space of 6 floors of retail shopping in the largest shopping centre in Asia, reaching a height of 32 metres at the ceiling where the trunk still had a diameter of 6 metres. At ground level the 11 metre diameter featured a walk through "cave". The tree weighs 30 tonnes and includes 12 primary branches weighing an average of 1800kg each.
