COME FLY WITH ME

THE GOLDEN AGE OF AVIATION

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | Loopfilm, ZDF, arte

In the late 1940s, thanks to technological advancements, pioneering spirit, and a touch of luxury, air travel transformed our world. The success story began in the 1920s with efforts to make the sky accessible to paying passengers. The first airlines consisted of daredevils in flying machines, but they quickly realized that passengers desired comfort, not thrills. After the Second World War, iconic aircraft like Lockheed's Super Constellation and Boeing's 707 became game changers. Travel had never been so fast, safe, or luxurious. Airlines competed to transport their passengers from one continent to another in the most comfortable manner. Airplanes became platforms for style, elegance, and opulence. The elite – successful businessmen, royals, statesmen, and show business stars – became the jet set.

AMERICAN SPY OR NAZI TRAITOR?

The Untold Story of Eric Erickson

52' (ENG, GER) | 2025

Hoferichter & Jacobs, mdr, arte

Eric Erickson is credited with providing intelligence on Nazi fuel production that may have shortened World War II. His story even inspired a Hollywood film. Yet, his legacy is fraught with contradictions. Even after the war had begun, he continued to conduct oil business with Nazi Germany, maintained contacts within the SS, and left behind letters riddled with inconsistencies. Who was Eric Erickson truly? This film embarks on a global quest for answers. In the United States, his great-nephew Joe Erickson sheds light on the man behind the legend. In Sweden, Maja Willner questions his reputation, while in Germany, Matthias Koch delves into his entanglements with the German oil industry. As archival photographs and documents are meticulously examined, a complex and multifaceted portrait emerges.

THE BALTIC WAY

A PEACEFUL PROTEST THAT CHANGED HISTORY

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024
south&browse, arte, SWR, ARD

An almost forgotten story that is becoming topical again today against the backdrop of the war in Ukraine. A human chain more than 600 kilometres long in the Baltic states led to the independence of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania in 1989. It was the longest-known human chain in history. This documentary film tells the story of how one woman, despite threats from Moscow, managed to bring two million people onto the streets and end the occupation of the Baltic states by the Soviet Union. How did she manage to mobilise these masses of people in a time without the internet and mobile phones? A story about a peaceful revolution that gives hope.

SECRETS OF ANCIENT STRUCTURES

6 × 52' (ENG, GER) | Release: Summer 2025
Go Button Media for Autentic, Superchannel

Ancient civilizations erected structures that continue to inspire awe and wonder. But how did they do it? And what secrets lie hidden within the walls of these incredible monuments? Archaeological finds and new technologies reveal clues to long-enduring mysteries. How did the Celts build Newgrange to last, even through cataclysmic flooding? And how do Mayan pyramids like those found at El Castillo hold clues to an ancient civilization's advanced understanding of the cosmos? As ancient edifices reveal design almost beyond comprehension, does captivating geometry like that found at the Chand Baori stepwell hint at otherworldly interference? From the iconic arches of Rome's Colosseum, to a fortress perched atop a remote volcano in Sri Lanka; from the colossal stone sculptures that dot an island in the Pacific, to an iconic wall that spans a whole continent, and the glimmering pools of Angkor Wat, what ancient secrets can be revealed about the structures that have shaped our world?

Leni Riefenstahl is considered one of the most controversial women of the 20th century. Her films TRIUMPH OF THE WILL and OLYMPIA stand for perfectly staged body worship and the celebration of the superior and victorious. At the same time, these images project contempt for the imperfect and weak. Riefenstahl's aesthetics are more present than ever today - but is that also true for their implied message? The film examines this question using documents from Riefenstahl's estate, including private films, photos, recordings and letters. It uncovers fragments of her biography and places them in an extended historical context. How could Riefenstahl become the Reich's preeminent filmmaker and keep denying any closer ties to Hitler and Goebbels? In personal documents, she mourns her "murdered ideals". Riefenstahl represents many postwar Germans who, in letters and recorded telephone calls from her estate, dream of an organizing hand that will finally clean up the "shit-hole state". Then, her work would also experience a renaissance, in a generation or two this time could come - what if they are right?

OPERATION AFRICA

THE RACE FOR TOMORROW'S RESOURCES

52' (ENG, GER) | 2025 | Streetsfilm, HR, arte

As the EU pushes towards climate neutrality by 2050, it's locked in a geopolitical race with China for access to precious resources. The green future comes at a price, and many of the raw materials needed are sourced from crisis regions in Africa. So far, China has taken the lead, but Europe is eager to catch up, promising fairer conditions to African countries than the authoritarian competition from Asia. Yet, not all are thrilled with the idea of former colonial powers returning to hunt for resources. Between jungle and rainforest, the green future is quickly becoming a fierce geopolitical race, raising ethical and environmental concerns that deeply affect local communities. From illegal cobalt mining in the Congo to controversial green hydrogen projects in Namibia, this documentary exposes the untold realities of Europe's clean energy ambitions, revealing the complex trade-offs between progress and exploitation.

THE SECRET LIFELINE OF CAPITALISM?

52' (ENG), 90' (GER) | 2025
Kick Film, BR, arte, FFF Bayern

Worldwide, one in two people works in the informal economy and the trend is rising.

In the countries of the "Global South", insecure, unregulated employment relationships in the shadow economy have always been the bitter norm. But even in the western industrialized countries, the proportion of people with a "standard employment relationship", with clear rules for working hours, vacation and insurance against illness and old age, is falling. What are the causes of this development and what are the prospects? What will the future of work look like? Will informal work become the new norm? And what is it like to live in this precarious, informal normality?

EUROPE'S DEADLY MIGRATION POLICY

52' (ENG, GER), 45' (GER) | 2024

BR, Deutsche Welle, NDR, Lighthouse Reports

Refugees are abandoned in the desert and left to die: the deadly cost of Europe's migration policy.

This investigative documentary exposes the harrowing consequences of a European migration strategy that funds security forces in North Africa, leading to refugees being abducted and left unprotected in the desert – a brutal practice that has affected thousands of people to date and caused dozens of deaths. Drawing on over a year of research by renowned international media partners, the film reveals, for the first time, exclusive footage captured at great risk, showing how EU partners such as Tunisia and Morocco are ruthlessly taking action against migrants. The documentary confronts European Union policymakers with the research and explores alternative approaches for a less deadly migration policy.

A HEART ON DEMAND?

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | Hoferichter & Jacobs, arte, rbb

Groundbreaking advancements in transplantation medicine are emerging amidst a global shortage of donor organs.

With over 8,400 patients in Germany alone awaiting life-saving transplants, the film delves into innovative solutions that could redefine organ donation. At Berlin's Charité hospital, Dr. Eriselda Keshi pioneers Tissue Engineering, transforming animal organs into human-compatible replacements. In Japan, Dr. Minoru Takasato develops organoids – miniature lab-grown organs from stem cells, offering hope for scalable solutions. Meanwhile, Swedish scientists test artificial hearts designed to mimic the human organ's natural functions. Blending cutting-edge research with moving patient stories, the film highlights both the promise of technology and the persistent societal and ethical challenges. From lab-engineered pancreases to four-chambered mechanical hearts, "A Heart on Demand?" showcases the future of personalized medicine and asks: How far are we from a world where no patient dies waiting for an organ?

THE ONE HEALTH APPROACH

The health of humans, animals and the environment is closely interlinked and must be considered as a whole. If this balance is upset, diseases can arise that are transmitted from animals to humans and can develop into epidemics. Researchers from all over the world are currently working on an approach to deal with this problem - the so-called One Health approach. Human health can no longer be viewed in isolation. Animals and humans share habitats, climatic and environmental conditions - and many pathogens.

THE MIRACLE OF HUMAN ADAPTATION

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | south & browse, ZDF, arte

Exploring humanity's journey through evolution and what the future holds for our species in an ever-changing world.

Modern humans have existed for about 200,000 years. But instead of stagnating, we continue to evolve. Again and again, our species makes small but sustainable "evolutionary updates." We take a journey through human evolutionary history and discover how we've adapted to our environment over time. And we look to the future: Will we be able to adapt evolutionarily to our world in the future? Are we and our genes at the mercy of technology and climate change – has evolution ended? How great is our potential?

THE ART OF BREATHING

Here is the story of Kosha, an orphaned Temminck's, or ground pangolin, from Zimbabwe. She's a small, harmless, scaly, ant-eating mammal with a ridiculously long tongue. Kosha was rescued from poachers in 2017 and taken to the Tikki Hywood Foundation when she was a pup. Here she was raised by caring humans and released back into the wild. Now fully grown, Kosha offers her main carers, Lisa, Ellen and Luke, a rare glimpse into her secret life. So little is known about pangolins in the wild. Six years of ups and downs – of life and death situations, of previously unknown pangolin behaviour culminating in the birth of her first pup, give Lisa, Ellen and Luke the clues they need to fill in some of the missing gaps in pangolin science. And those revelations will make a big difference to the liberation and survival of the many rescued pangolins to follow.

Whale sharks: mysterious visitors shaping an island's future.

This inspiring story shows how a single marine species can impact the economy and society of Santa Maria, one of the smallest islands in the Azores. It is the only place in Europe where large numbers of whale sharks are sighted, yet their migration remains a mystery. They appear surrounded by thousands of tunas. Could global warming be at the origin of the recent appearance of this marine species on the island?

A close-up, artistic shot of a fish, likely a trout or salmon, in a lake. The fish's head is on the left, showing its eye and gills, and its tail is on the right. The background is a soft, out-of-focus view of the lake's surface and water, with warm, golden light filtering through, creating a serene and mysterious atmosphere.

Wildlife returns to thrive in a vast wilderness, restored to its former glory. In Zimbabwe, there lies a vast valley that, after generations of agricultural and livestock farming has seen its natural environment restored to its original state. The land has been revitalized, and thousands of animals have been relocated from other parks, marking the most extraordinary translocation project of large animals ever undertaken in the world. Now, wild dogs, elephants, rhinos, lions, hyenas, and many other species once again reign over the valley. We will capture their lives, their remarkable survival techniques, and their adaptation to their new home spanning nearly 400,000 hectares. This is Savé Valley, a wild miracle.

WELCOME TO THE NEIGHBOURHOOD

2 × 52', 90' (ENG, GER) | 2024

Terra Mater Studios, federvieh, ServusTV, NDR/arte

Cities are like living organisms. When balanced, they keep their inhabitants – humans, animals, and plants – happy. Out of balance, they suffer, impacting all who live there.

Today's challenges put cities under a lot of pressure. What are the consequences of rapid urbanisation for biodiversity, cities' ecosystems, and people's health? And how can we keep cities healthy? The prevailing opinion is that cities belong to the people and that "nature" is the place for animals. However, animals have adjusted to city life over time. Blackbirds sing louder and earlier in the morning to brave rush hour; urban foxes have grown shorter snouts for they no longer use them to catch mice but tear open plastic packaging. White-footed mice in New York can now digest fast food instead of whole grains. Hedgehogs or sand lizards have disappeared from the agricultural landscape, and have found their home in the diverse mosaic of private gardens.

Intriguing behavioural animal stories, sublime city shots, and the exciting projects of proficient scientists will reveal amazing connections in an entertaining way and give us a new look at life in our cities.

HEALING THE BLIND

THE HIMALAYAN EYE SURGEON

30' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | NZZ

Nepalese eye surgeon Dr. Sanduk Ruit is considered a pioneer in the treatment of cataracts. With his revolutionary surgical technique, he has already restored sight to more than 130,000 patients in the global South. Coming from the humblest of backgrounds, the 70-year-old has made it his life's mission to provide high-quality surgery to even the poorest of people - even those for whom the nearest hospital is out of reach. His next quest takes him and his team to the extremely remote Dolpo region in Nepal.

VOICES FROM THE DIGITAL BEYOND

30' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | NZZ

"I want to abolish death. No one should ever really have to say goodbye," says Justin Harrison, founder of 'You, Only Virtual'. His app enables the bereaved to communicate with virtual clones of their deceased loved ones - via text message or even by phone call. What sounded like science fiction just a few years ago is now reality. For J. R. Adams, the virtual exchange is a way of allowing his mother to continue to be part of his life. Jason and Melissa Gowin, both seriously ill, create virtual doubles of themselves so that their children can actively maintain memories of them after their death. But there are also critical voices...

THE FORGOTTEN TEMPLES OF TIBET

RESTORING MUSTANG'S LOST HERITAGE

30' (ENG, GER) | 2025 | NZZ

High in the Himalayas, at an altitude of 4,000 meters, lies the ancient kingdom of Mustang, surrounded by towering, impassable mountains. Over the centuries, these sacred sites fell into decay, putting Mustang's rich cultural heritage at risk. Only recently has the restoration of its monasteries sparked a remarkable revival. Italian conservator Luigi Fieni and his friend Tsewang Bista, nephew of Mustang's last king, embark on a four-week journey through the former kingdom. Their mission: to preserve Mustang's cultural heritage for future generations

HISTORY

COME FLY WITH ME

THE GOLDEN AGE OF AVIATION

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024 | Loopfilm, ZDF, arte

In the late 1940s, thanks to technological advancements, pioneering spirit, and a touch of luxury, air travel transformed our world.

The first airlines consisted of daredevils in flying machines, but they quickly realized that passengers desired comfort, not thrills. Soon, enclosed airplanes with cabins replaced open biplanes. After the Second World War, iconic aircraft like Lockheed's Super Constellation and Boeing's 707 became game changers. Travel had never been so fast, safe, or luxurious. Airlines competed to transport their passengers from one continent to another in the most comfortable manner. Airplanes became platforms for style, elegance, and opulence. The elite – successful businessmen, royals, statesmen, and show business stars – became the jet set. The notion of being pampered 10,000 meters above the ground with gourmet menus, lounges, and extravagant service stirred the longings of an entire generation and continues to resonate today.

PEACEFUL PROTEST THAT CHANGED HISTORY

52' (ENG, GER) | 2024

south&browse, arte, SWR, ARD

An almost forgotten story that is becoming topical again today against the backdrop of the war in Ukraine. A human chain more than 600 kilometres long in the Baltic states led to the independence of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania in 1989. It was the longest-known human chain in history. This documentary film tells the story of how one woman, despite threats from Moscow, managed to bring two million people onto the streets and end the occupation of the Baltic states by the Soviet Union. How did she manage to mobilise these masses of people in a time without the internet and mobile phones? A story about a peaceful revolution that gives hope.
