GENERAL GUIDELINES

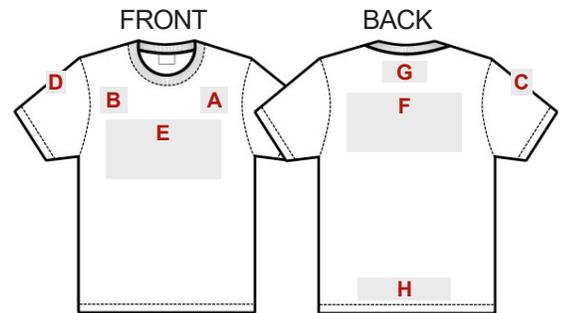

ARTWORK FILE FORMAT

- Vector artwork (line work) is an object which can be scaled, modified, and re-coloured
- Providing Vector artwork ensures accurate image output
- Acceptable file formats: ai, eps, cdr
- Unacceptable file formats: jpeg, png, tiff, psd, bitmap
- Time spent re-drawing / modifying client supplied designs will result in delays

LOCATION

- Logo placement options:
A - left chest, B - right chest,
E - front, F - back,
G - upper back/neck, H - above hemline
- Logo placement must be indicated in the initial planning stages
- Each additional location is subject to additional charges

LOGO SIZE

- Artwork is produced to fit the smallest size garment in the purchase order
- If your logo is mainly on adult larger sizes but, you want some youth and smaller unisex shirts, we recommend producing two (2) logo sizes*

*Additional screen charges apply

Youth | Women's | Men's
(10.5 in logo displayed)

CUSTOM PAD PRINT

- Pad print: engraved plates are used to stamp product information onto the garment
- Information to include: logo, fabric contents, care instructions and size
- Mock-up proofs are provided and must be approved prior to production
- Stamp placement is on the back inside neck of the garment
- Plates are available for size ranges of S - 2XL
- Turn-around time: three (3) weeks after all artwork approval
- Minimum order: 600 units

EMBROIDERY

Machine embroidery on apparel uses computerized stitching to create precise, consistent designs with a polished, professional finish. It delivers durable, high-quality detailing that adds texture and dimension to logos, lettering, and decorative elements across a wide range of garments.

DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

- Each colour thread is stitched according to a digitized design based upon your approved graphic
- Artwork is required in a vector format, which is then prepared within digitizing software and converted to stitches
- Indicate thread colours for each garment colour within the order
- Image/Logo cost is dependent on the number of stitches in the graphic; this is determined by our graphic artist
- Stitch simulation in an artwork mock-up is provided for customer approval prior to stitching garments
- A one-time charge of $30.00 is applicable for each image digitization required
- Minimum order quantity: 12 pieces / per graphic
- Turn-around time is 2 - 3 weeks after proof approval

Indicates garments suitable for Embroidery

SP SCREEN PRINT

Screen printing with ink applies bold, vibrant designs to apparel by pressing ink through a mesh screen onto fabric. The process is best suited to simple, clean designs and a limited number of colours, resulting in smooth, long-lasting prints with strong colour saturation and visual impact.

DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

- Screen printing works best for simple graphics without small details
- Great for solid designs, limited colors, and large runs
- 1-6 colours maximum per design
- Artwork requires separations for each colour in the design
- Ink colours need to be indicated for all garment colours within the order
- Each colour is produced on its own screen
- Screens are secured on a carousel where each colour is printed on the garment before being put through a dryer
- Mock-up proofs are provided for customer approval prior to printing
- Minimum order quantity: 12 pieces / per graphic
- Turn-around time is 2 - 3 weeks after proof approval

DIRECT TO FILM (DTF)

Direct-to-film (DTF) printing transfers detailed designs onto garments using a heat-applied film and ink system. It works well for simple to moderately complex artwork and multiple colours, producing vibrant, durable prints with a smooth finish and strong flexibility across different fabric types. Direct-to-film printing can be used instead of screen printing when there are fine details in the design. It's ideal for smaller runs.

DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

- Your digital design is printed onto heat transfer film using water-based inks
- An adhesive powder is then applied and the design is cured with a heat press
- DTF bonds with: synthetics (nylon, polyester), blends (cotton/ polyester), natural fibers (cotton)
- Perfect for vibrant designs and smaller quantities
- Minimum order quantity: no minimum
- Turn-around time 2 - 3 weeks after proof approval

Indicates garments suitable for DTF

DIRECT TO GARMENT (DTG)

Direct-to-garment (DTG) printing applies water-based inks directly into the fabric, allowing for a soft print with a smooth hand feel. It is ideal for detailed, full-colour artwork and photographic designs with subtle gradients. DTG is often chosen over screen printing when the design is multi-colour and/ or very complex. It is best suited to small batches or one-off pieces.

DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

- The garment is pre-treated with a bonding agent in preparation for the ink application
- The approved graphic / design is printed onto the pre-treated fabric
- The ink soaks into and locks with the fabric through the pre-treatment
- Once printed, the garment is placed onto a conveyor dryer which evaporates the pre-treatment and cures the ink
- The final result is a durable, lasting print that feels smooth to the touch
- For best results, DTG should be used on high percentage cotton blends
- Minimum order quantity: no minimum
- Turn-around time 2 - 3 weeks after proof approval

Indicates garments suitable for DTG

APPLIQUE

Applique on apparel involves stitching fabric pieces onto a garment to create bold, textured designs with depth and dimension. It is commonly used for lettering, numbers, and graphic shapes, offering a handcrafted look with strong visual impact. Applique is often chosen over screen printing because it adds a premium, tactile quality and durability that printing cannot replicate, making it ideal for statement pieces, varsity-style designs, and garments where texture and craftsmanship are part of the aesthetic.

DEVELOPMENT INFORMATION

- Bold (in size and shape) cut pieces are secured to the garment
- Temporary glue or iron-on adhesives are used to secure the pieces
- Machine stitching permanently secures the cut pieces to the garment
- Minimum order quantity: 6 pieces
- Turn-around time 3 - 4 weeks after proof approval
