HOLTER/ELR AT HOME

HOLTER/ELR monitoring is a diagnostic method to record the heart's electrical activity over an extended period. It is used to detect irregularities in heart rhythm that may not be evident during a standard ECG.

Homecare Helpline

89043-95589

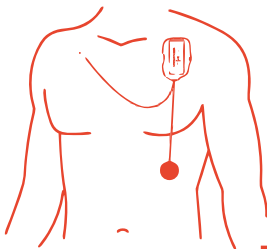

At-Home Cardiac Monitoring Services

Benefits

-  Continuous cardiac rhythm monitoring over 1, 2, 3, 5, or 7 days, as prescribed
-  Uncovers hidden arrhythmias often missed by short-term, in-clinic ECGs
-  Correlates symptoms such as palpitations, dizziness, or fainting with rhythm change
-  Enables early diagnosis and intervention for heart rhythm disorders
-  Non-invasive, compact, and portable wearable devices for everyday comfort

Why choose Holter/ELR-at-home

-  Doctor-supervised cardiac interpretation for accurate diagnosis
-  Certified Holter and ELR devices
-  Flexible 1, 2, 3, 5, or 7-day monitoring options based on clinical need
-  Comfortable, non-invasive, and portable setup at home

ABPM AT HOME

Ambulatory Blood Pressure Monitoring (ABPM) is a diagnostic method for measuring blood pressure. Unlike traditional blood pressure checks, ABPM provides a more accurate picture of how blood pressure fluctuates over 24 hours while you go about your daily activities and sleep.

Homecare Helpline

89043-95589

Home-Based ABPM Services

Benefits

24-hour real-time blood pressure tracking

Helps fine-tune treatment and medication dosage

Doctor-supervised interpretation of results

Non-invasive, comfortable, and portable device

Identifies hidden hypertension and night-time variations

Why choose ABPM-at-home

Doctor-supervised analysis for accurate diagnosis

Certified devices for precise readings

Convenient, painless 24-hour home monitoring

PATIENT ATTENDANT AT HOME

When your loved ones need help with everyday tasks during recovery, Medanta's trained caregivers offer consistent, respectful, and patient-centred support. Our attendants play a vital role in maintaining daily routine and ensuring that the patient's comfort and dignity are preserved.
