CEO MESSAGE

Throughout its history, the mission and values have remained constant: to focus on early childhood education and to encourage open-ended play.

Peter Handstein
Founder & CEO

In 2026, the company will celebrate its 40th anniversary—a milestone that honours both achievements and the people who have contributed to its success. Throughout its history, the mission and values have remained constant: to focus on early childhood education and to encourage open-ended play. Research and product development have continually advanced these priorities, recognising their essential role in nurturing children’s growth and development.

The early years of a child’s life are pivotal for creativity and emotional development. In particular, Emotional Intelligence (EQ) has become increasingly recognised as vital in helping children manage emotions, navigate conflicts, and develop empathy. The company’s mission has always emphasised reinforcing positive social behaviours and attitudes through play-based learning. At a time of global challenges and uncertainty, this mission is more relevant than ever—equipping children with the soft skills they need to become innovative, compassionate leaders of tomorrow.

A Collaboration of Creativity

A new partnership with the Metropolitan Museum of Art (The Met) marks an exciting step forward. Together, the organisations are for launching a line of art-inspired toys designed children ages 0-3. This collection introduces art concepts and history in playful, accessible ways, nurturing creativity from the earliest years. The new product line will debut at The Met later this year and be available worldwide beginning January 2026.

This collaboration reflects a shared vision: to spark creativity, inspire open-ended play, and foster a lifelong appreciation for the arts in children everywhere.

Strengthening the Global Supply Chain

The year 2025 stands out as a time of significant global uncertainty, underscoring the importance of resilience in production and supply networks. To address these challenges, the company is pursuing strategic expansions into regions such as Southeast Asia and Latin America, while also evaluating opportunities in North America for select product lines. These efforts aim to strengthen resilience, ensure adaptability, and meet the evolving needs of partners and customers.

With these investments, and a continued commitment to the principles that have defined the company for 40 years, the path forward remains clear: to grow responsibly, innovate with purpose, and uphold the trust that customers and partners place in the brand.

Play is at the heart of everything we do. Children love to play and with our toys they gain valuable life skills. Because when children play with our toys they learn so much more about themselves and the world around them.

Love play, learn.

together

Collaborating with The Met allows us to weave the richness of global art into toys that spark imagination and curiosity from a child's earliest moments. This collaboration isn't just about creating beautiful products—it's about planting seeds of creative thinking that will grow with the next generation.

Peter Handstein
Founder and CEO of Hape

This program merges Hape's expertise in early learning toys with the stories of 5,000 years of art in The Met collection. Together, we aim to inspire the next generation by connecting families to a beautiful world of art through play.

Brands

Over the past 40 years Hape has grown into a leading Educational Wood toy brand. To continue this growth we are introducing the following brands to expand our reach to new age groups, categories and seasonal products.

All brands will be available domestically, can be combined together and ship from same Wisconsin based location.

PolyM

PolyM® building bricks are produced under international standards of safety and are regularly tested by independent testing institutes. Originally built by a father – Anton Meyer, German engineer, and founder of PolyM® – for his beloved daughters, it is fitting that the PolyM® building bricks reach new generations with each passing decade.
