Why Local Authorities Love

Working With Us

Case Study.

The Challenge

Kirklees Council lost 50% of their permanent workforce over a 3 month period and during this time, they also experienced an unprecedented rise in requests relating to SEN.

As a result, their statutory service was compromised and the deadlines were not being met. It was also heavily impacting on the team who were experiencing a zero work-life balance during this period.

Subsequently, Kirklees Council required extensive assistance in securing suitable interim candidates to assist with the caseloads.

The Solution

After successfully delivering on projects across multiple councils, Managing Consultant, Richard Shorrock thoroughly understood the needs of this particular service and he was able to confidently approach this challenge.

Through his extensive network of SEN professionals, Richard was able to identify a number of appropriate candidates who could fit into the different gaps within their team which delivered a significant boost to the council's candidate pool in a very short period of time without sacrificing on quality.

After recruiting a high volume of interim staff, the team was able to continue operating in accordance with their statutory deadlines.

Here's What Kirklees Council Said

"The interim team which we currently have fitted in amongst the team perfectly and they are obviously a really talented bunch.

Richard communicated quickly and effectively to ensure the process was speedy. He was responding at all times of the day and nearly always with immediate responses.

I would absolutely recommend Spencer Clarke Group for the recruitment of SEN staff and I look forward to continuing to work with them when required."
