Wingram is in the business of sustainable plastic manufacturing with a particular focus on sustainable and eco-friendly alternatives to existing materials. In terms of eyewear products, Wingram's newest BioAcetate S70 is a sustainable material that can be utilized for three main types of eyewear: (1) traditional injection frames, (2) injection acetate frames, and (3) handmade acetate frames.

BioAcetate S70 is also a high-performing material that offers numerous performance benefits. The material stands out because of its Hardness Enhanced CA (HECA) properties. HECA helps provide a solution to many of traditional acetate's headaches, such as deformity or shrinkage. Thinner frames can also be made since this material is harder, more durable, but not brittle. Better surface treatment can also be experienced which leads to better final quality frames for the end-consumers. The 5-main eco-benefits of BioAcetate S70 for eyewear are the following:

1. ISCC Sustainability Carbon Certification
2. 62 % biobased according to ASTM-D6866
3. Biodegradable according to ISO-14855
4. Harmful plasticizers free (NO DEP)
5. Biocompatibility according to ISO-10993
