THE BOOKLET OF JCSSE 2023

The 20th International Joint Conference on Computer Science and Software Engineering

28th June - 1st July 2023

Naresuan University Phitsanulok, Thailand

Message from General Chair

Dear colleagues, friends and students. Welcome to the 20th JCSSE 2023. A very small domestic conference organized by the collaborative research network (CRN) in computer science with the financial support from the former Ministry of High Education of Thailand emerged about two decades ago and later became JCSSE. This conference has been consistently and strongly progressed in terms of academic quality, rank, and international recognition. This year, JCSSE organized by the Department of Computer Science and Information Technology at Naresuan University, Thailand has reached a very significant milestone in collaborative research among all 20 major universities in Thailand. We have been honored by the following keynote speakers, which we deeply feel thankful for their academic talks.

- (1) Professor Stefan Poslad from Queen Mary University of London.
- (2) Dr. Chanikarn Wongviriyawong, CEO of EATLAB, THAILAND.
- (3) Dr. Phitchaya Phothilimthana from Google Brain.

Although the crisis of conflict between two major world power countries seems to continue endlessly, JCSSE 2023 still maintains the quality of accepted papers. The number of submitted manuscripts to JCSSE 2023 from several countries is higher than the last conference. Among 182 submitted manuscripts, only 93 of them were accepted, which is equal to 51.1% acceptance rate. The success and quality of JCSSE 2023 came from the great efforts of the following people, which we would like to thank for their devotion.

- (1) Faculty members of the Department of Computer Science and Information Technology, Naresuan University, Thailand.
- (2) Organizing committee, technical committee, program chairs, track chairs.
- (3) IEEE Thailand section; ECTI Association; Krungthai Bank; Office of the Personal Data Protection Commission; PTT Exploration and Production Public Company Limited.

To commemorate JCSSE's momentous milestone, authors whose papers have the highest acceptance and lifetime citation accomplishments are awarded and recognized. Once again, we extend to you our warmest welcome and sincere appreciation for joining us on this special occasion. May this conference be a source of inspiration, intellectual stimulation, and lasting memories for all of us.

Message from General Chair

It is our great pleasure to welcome you to the 20th International Joint Conference on Computer Science and Software Engineering (JCSSE2023). While this year's conference marks two decades of collaboration, innovation, and knowledge-sharing, we are also extremely enthusiastic about it being the first fully in-person conference in three years due to the pandemic. What a perfect way to celebrate JCSSE's 20th anniversary, with a return to good old face-to-face interaction and networking opportunities!

This year's JCSSE conference will be held from June 28 to July 1, 2023, at the King Naresuan Exhibition and Convention Center, Naresuan University, Phitsanulok, Thailand. The organizing committee, in addition to working with the technical program committee and the track chairs to ensure paper quality, has planned several special focus and social programs, and invited speakers from a pool of entrepreneurs and cutting-edge researchers to enhance the attendees' experience.

The JCSSE2023 features three special guests. Stefan Poslad, from Queen Mary University of London, will share his insights on IoT-driven distributed AI. Phitchaya Phothilimthana of Google Brain will highlight her ground-breaking work in neural architecture. And finally, Chanikarn Wongviriyawong of EATLAB will join forces with Phitchaya Phothilimthana for an inaugural WiSE Talk! This special panel discussion aims to present viewpoints from top-level female leaders in both academia and industry about current and future career opportunities, specifically in different sub-fields of software engineering.

The JCSSE2023 Conference launched an initiative for promoting female researchers and leaders' participation in the organization of the conference. In addition to our female distinguish guests, seven of our organizing committee members are female. The number of female track co-chairs has also increased from the previous year. The technical program committee members and track co-chairs were nominated and invited based on geographical balance and continuity considerations and include researchers with experience from past conferences, while also opening the door to new volunteers who have committed to serve in the future. We truly appreciate the support from many researchers all over the world and feel very honored by the enthusiasm expressed by our colleagues in the community.

To commemorate JCSSE's momentous milestone, we are delighted to announce that we will be recognizing distinguished contributors through awards for papers with the highest acceptance and lifetime citation accomplishments. We invite all attendees to join us at the awards reception ceremony and the Gala banquet to follow, on the evening of June 29. We encourage everyone to participate in multidisciplinary conversation, forge new connections, and reminisce about the memorable moments we have shared throughout the years.

None of this would have been possible without the dedication and hard work of countless individuals. We would like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to the organizing committee, technical committee, program chairs, track chairs, reviewers, and volunteers who have selflessly devoted their time and expertise to curate a truly exceptional conference experience. We would also like to express our appreciation to the sponsors and partners, whose support has been instrumental in making this event a resounding success.

Together, let us leverage this anniversary celebration as a catalyst for further advancements, transformative breakthroughs, and an even brighter future for computer science and software engineering.

Once again, we extend to you our warmest welcome and sincere appreciation for joining us on this special occasion. May this conference be a source of inspiration, intellectual stimulation, and lasting memories for all of us.

Message from Technical Program Chairs

On behalf of the Department of Computer Science and Information Technology (CSIT), Faculty of Science, Naresuan University, we would like to welcome you to Phitsanulok, Thailand!

We are honored to be the host of this year's International Joint Conference on Computer Science and Software Engineering (JCSSE2023) which marks its 20th anniversary. The CSIT Department is proud to be a part of this rich tradition that serves as a central forum for leading scientists and engineers to present and exchange advancements in computer science, software engineering, and related fields. With esteemed keynote speakers and high-quality research presentations, JCSSE attracts experts from around the world to our beloved country, facilitating the promotion, sharing, and discussion of various issues and developments in the fields.

This year, the JCSSE2023 Technical Program Committee accepts 93 papers out of 182 submissions. Out of these submissions, we have more than 500 world-wide researchers and scientists listed authors. The beautiful diversity of our conference can be seen in Fig. 1.

Fig. 1. Authors by country as listed in submitted papers

JCSSE2023 offers an invaluable opportunity for young researchers to showcase their talents and present intriguing research ideas ranging in various topics, as shown in Fig. 2.

To celebrate the 20th anniversary of JCSSE, the organizing committee has arranged a three-day event-pack schedule for our attendees. We will start off with a workshop to discover the RISC-V architecture on June 28 followed by a banquet for the steering committee.

Our technical program starts on June 29. We are honored to have Stefan Poslad, from Queen Mary University of London and Phitchaya Phothilimthana of Google Brain to be our keynote speakers. This year, we also launched a panel discussion called “WiSE Talk!” to celebrate women in the field of software engineering. The fourteen parallel sessions in the afternoon will be a great opportunity for the participants to exchange knowledge and foster collaboration. Everyone is then invited to join us at the reception ceremony where the winners of the best paper and the best presentation awards will be announced. The organizing committee will also be honoring distinguished contributor throughout the decade with these two following awards:

- 1) JCSSE 20th Anniversary Most Publications Award to Peerapon Vateekul who has published 17 papers in JCSSE since 2011; and
- 2) JCSSE 20th Anniversary Most Citations Award to Orasa Patsadu, Chakarida Nukoolkit, and Bunthit Watanapa for their work on “Human Gesture Recognition using Kinect Camera” 2012 the 9th International Conference on Computer Science and Software Engineering (JCSSE), which was cited by 136 papers.

KEYNOTE - THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 2023In an Age of Many Successful Big Data AI Model Rollouts & Apps – Is There Still a Case for Utilising Small Data-driven and Distributed AI?*Stefan PosladSchool of Electronic Engineering and Computer Science
Queen Mary University of London, United KingdomSynopsis

The current dominant trend for AI is for a small number of organisations, either industrial, institutional or national, but seldom citizen-driven ones, to amass big data, and to apply increasingly sophisticated (e.g., deep machine learning) AI algorithms, executed in centralised (cloud-based) high computation resources, to solve real world problems that are more general, hence, the term AG(=General)I. And yes, some problems are able to be solved better this way, but is this the most suitable way to solve the many outstanding critical environmental & human societal issues? In this talk, some reflections will be offered to counter and complement the current dominant (big data, deep) AI model trend. This includes a discussion of the multi-dimensional aspects of human/animal/plant intelligence that so far still surpass current AGI, the motivation for distributed, small data (Io)-driven AI, a discussion of some models & applications to enable this, and a future outlook.

Keynote Speaker Biography

Stefan Poslad leads the Internet of Things (IoT), more specifically the IoT2US (Internet of Things to Ubiquitous, Computer, Science) Lab at Queen Mary University of London, where he is a fellow of the Digital Environment Research Institute (DERI), and Cognitive Science research group. He is a fellow of the UK AI Alan Turing Institute and is regarded by Stanford University as being in the top 2% of scientists worldwide. His current research and innovation focus is AI-driven, data science-driven and geoscience-driven models, to enhance how we physically sense and analyse human location and motion behavior shifts, and physical environment changes, both outdoors and indoors. He has been the lead researcher for QMUL in over 15 international collaborative projects with industry. He is the sole author of a leading book on Ubiquitous Computing: Smart Devices, Environments and Interaction that has over 1000 research citations that are in use for teaching by over 70 institutes worldwide, across six continents.

KEYNOTE - THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 2023Machine Learning for Machine Learning Compilers at Google*Phitchaya PhothilimthanaResearch Scientist
Google Brain*Synopsis*

Search-based techniques have been demonstrated effective in solving complex optimization problems that arise in domain-specific compilers for machine learning (ML). Unfortunately, deploying such techniques in production compilers is impeded by several limitations. In this talk, I will present an autotuner for production ML compilers that can tune both graph-level and subgraph-level optimizations at multiple compilation stages. We demonstrate how to incorporate machine learning techniques such as a learned cost model and various learning-based search strategies to reduce autotuning time. Our learned cost model has high accuracy and outperforms a heavily-optimized analytical performance model. In an evaluation across 150 ML training and inference models on Tensor Processing Units (TPUs), the autotuner offers up to 2.4x and an average 5% runtime speedup over the heavily-optimized XLA compiler. I will outline how we deploy the learning-based XLA autotuner at datacenter scale to automatically tune the most heavily-used production models in Google's fleet everyday. The deployed tile size autotuner has been saving approximately 2% of fleetwide TPU compute time.
