DEDICATED TO

THE GIRL WHO MAKES THE WORLD
FEEL A LITTLE LESS HEAVY

GLOBAL LOVE

This e-magazine is more than just edits and letters. It's a reflection of what your existence means to us. You've touched lives across oceans and borders, inspired strangers to create, and made us all feel like part of something beautifully human, wrapped in one name: Aneet Padda.

This is our thank you. Our love letter. Our art in your honor.

(AUTHOR'S NOTE) DEAR ANEET,

This project was born from one simple thought that you deserve to see the love you've created across the world. Not everyone can reach you directly, so on behalf of all those hearts, we gathered everything they wanted to give you. Their words, their art, their emotions — and built this little universe of love.

Fariha (@aneetfied on X)

Editor, Host, Organizer

I was clueless at first. Someone who wanted to do something for you but didn't know where to start. Then, one day, a girl reached out with the same idea. Despite my trust issues, I said yes.

Together, we took a chance on a dream that felt too big for two people. We started this project with zero certainty and a lot of hope. But before we knew it, love did all the work. Within days, our slots were full, people from around the world joined in, and your name united strangers who'd never even met. The power of one character — Vaani Batra — started it all.

It's my very own creation — one that's never been made for anyone before. Because someone as rare as you deserves something just as unique.

Deepti (@aneetwood on insta)

Promoter, Host, Resource Collector

Fariha's POV: Deepti wasn't looking to start a "project." She had her share of rejections, lost ideas, and disappointments — yet when she saw me under a random comment, she took a chance. One message turned into long plans, late-night panic, and a shared dream.

She kept her trust issues aside (so did I) and from two people who barely knew each other, this entire global celebration was born. Deepti is the calm to my caffeine, the patient one when I start spiralling. The one who reminds me why we started when I'm five minutes away from losing my mind. We're both over thinkers, but we balance each other out.

Two strangers, one goal, and one woman who unknowingly brought us together — Aneet Padda.

BY SUZU @ZUWU0009 ON X

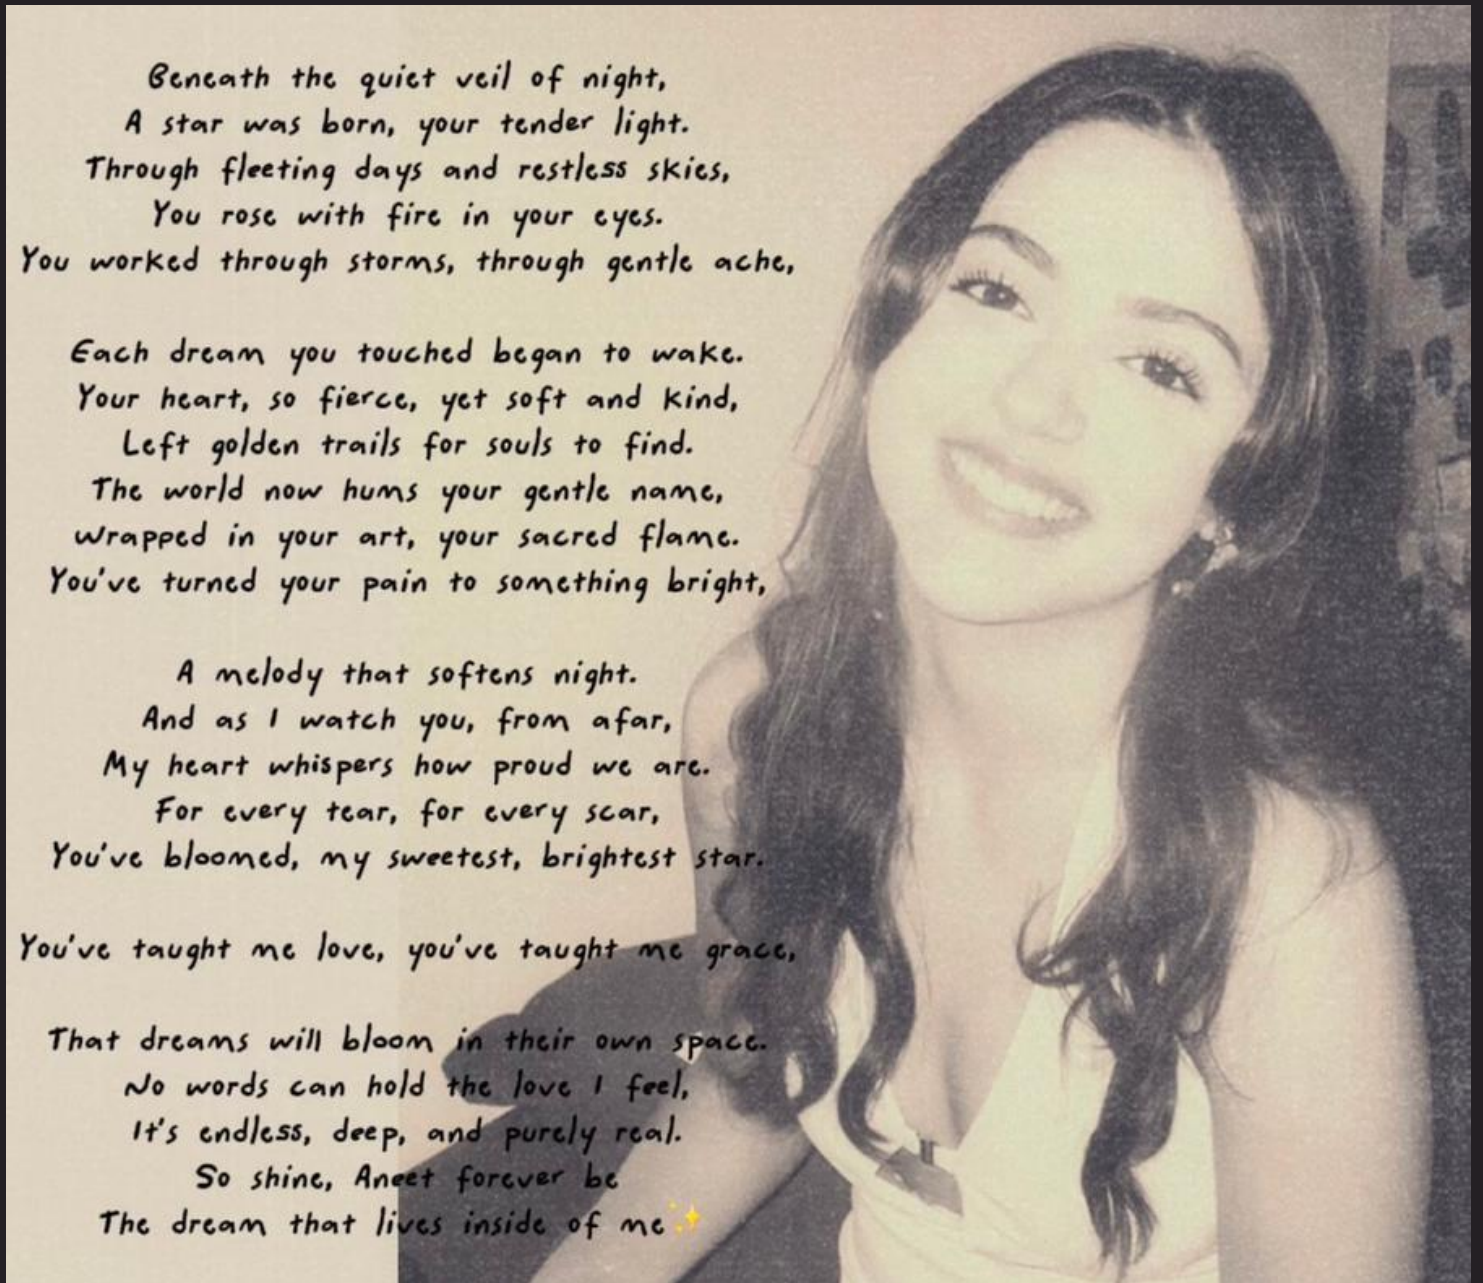

Beneath the quiet veil of night,
A star was born, your tender light.
Through fleeting days and restless skies,
You rose with fire in your eyes.
You worked through storms, through gentle ache,

Each dream you touched began to wake.
Your heart, so fierce, yet soft and kind,
Left golden trails for souls to find.
The world now hums your gentle name,
Wrapped in your art, your sacred flame.
You've turned your pain to something bright,

A melody that softens night.
And as I watch you, from afar,
My heart whispers how proud we are.
For every tear, for every scar,
You've bloomed, my sweetest, brightest star.

You've taught me love, you've taught me grace,

That dreams will bloom in their own space.
No words can hold the love I feel,
It's endless, deep, and purely real.
So shine, Aneet forever be
The dream that lives inside of me ✨

■ A Letter to Aneet — The Saiyaara Girl ■

Aneet...

Tonight, under this quiet sky, I find myself speaking to you through the language of stars.
They whisper your name softly... endlessly... like a song that never ends.

You are not merely a moment...

You are a journey — one written in the ink of dreams, painted in the light of longing.

Through tempests unspoken, through the stillness that follows pain, you have walked a path that few dare to walk — a path where love and loss intertwine and beauty blooms in the shadow of sacrifice.

That... is you. The Saiyaara girl. Luminous. Resilient. Eternal.

Tonight, the universe hums your story.
Each star — a vow. Each breath — a promise.

This is your moment... your epoch... your luminous hour.

On this day, 14th October, the world celebrates you — not just because it is your birthday, but because in your existence, the world found its poetry.

And I... I celebrate you, Aneet, not only today but always.
For on my own day — 1st October — I too celebrate the gift of life, and in your day, I celebrate the gift of you.

May your heart always waltz with fate's quiet decree, and may your spirit remain unbound — free to weave dreams across the tapestry of time.

Aneet... you are the verse I will carry in silence, the song that will never fade. The Saiyaara of hearts... forever.

Happy Birthday, Aneet.

May the universe bless you as beautifully as you have blessed it.

And know this — Kashish will always stand in the quiet, cheering your soul, celebrating your light, and walking beside you, even in silence. ♥■

■ Ode to Aneet — The Saiyaara Girl ■

Beneath the argent veil where dreams convene,

Aneet — you stand, a vision serene.

Through tempests unspoken, through echoes of pain,
You tread a path where love and loss entwine.

Tonight the heavens hum your hallowed refrain,

Each star a vow, each breath a gain.

For this is your epoch, your luminous hour,
An ode to the soul that blooms like a flower.

May your heart waltz with fate's gentle decree,

May your spirit remain unbound, forever free.

O Saiyaara muse, whose journey inspires,
May life grant the reveries your spirit desires.

In the tapestry of time, your name is spun,

A radiant thread beneath the eternal sun.

Through shadow and light, through sorrow and mirth,
You are the quiet miracle that graces the earth.

Happy Birthday, Aneet — in time's tender sway,

You are the song that will never fade away.

An endless verse in love's boundless sea,
The Saiyaara of hearts, eternally free. ♥■

Detangled Dreams

I often wonder; are dreams real, or just far-fetched visions?
Sometimes they knock the deepest passion in the gravest hours and leave us sleepless.

Are dreams supposed to feel claustrophobic or easy on the heart I couldn't gauge.
The kind of dreams I know are made with fleckles of love, a dollop of passion, and dizzled with enormous strength.

The one where your heart yearns to swim deeper into the ocean of creativity and never feels enough.

The kind that never makes you feel like you're on the edge of <sup>falling</sup> sinking and almost sinking.

After several detours and taking the wrong paths finally felt like my heart was at ease.

Being on camera felt freeing as if I were in a paradise of infectious happiness

The timed moments of my life that felt at home.

Was when I realized that maybe dreams are taxing but the kind that

Make you breathe with passion and wrap your existence around it.

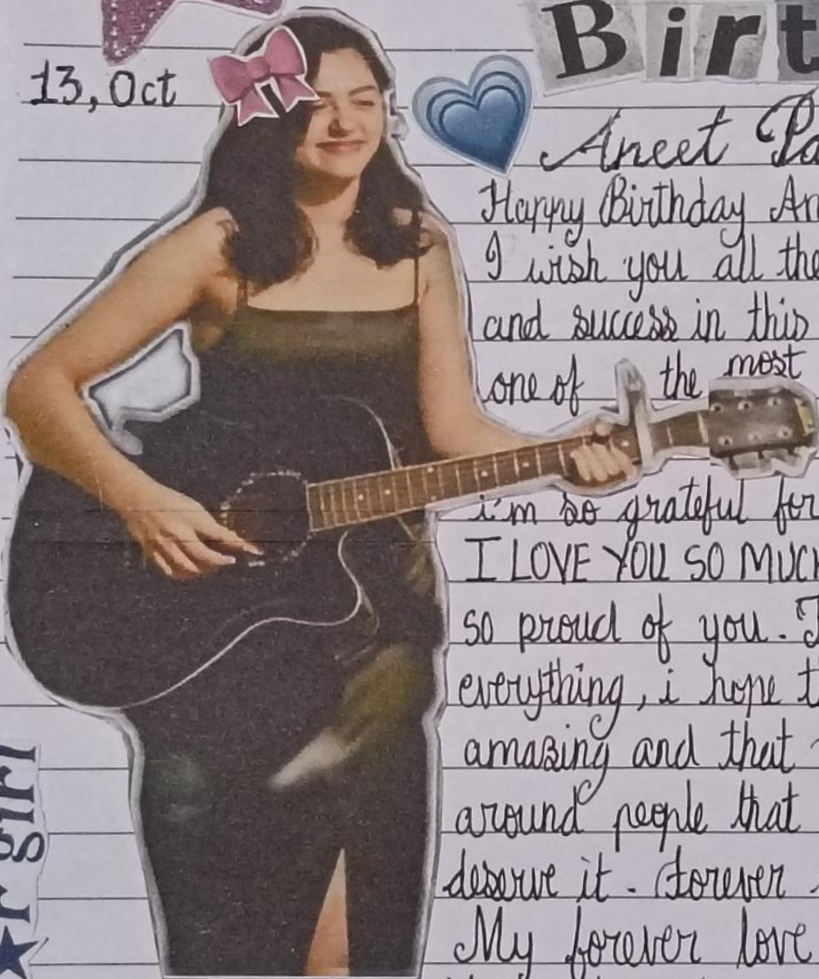

And maybe that is how I could have it all?

Dearest Aneet Di,
Even though we are miles apart and connected only through your art and presence, I truly feel like the luckiest younger brother to have someone like you to look up to.

You are a guiding light in my life - your hard work, your kindness, and the way you carry yourself with so much positivity inspire me every single day. I may be just one fan among many, but in my heart, you will always be my elder sister whose happiness means the world to me. From afar, I keep wishing and praying that all your dreams come true — that you achieve everything you've ever desired and so much more.

On this special day, I wish you the happiest and most beautiful birthday, Di! May every step you take be guided by love, every dream you chase turns into reality, and every moment of your life be filled with peace and laughter. May this year shower you with endless success, good health, and the kind of joy that keeps your heart smiling always. May the world open its arms wider for you, and may your light continue to shine brighter with each passing day.

Please always remember: you are deeply loved, respected, and admired. Your journey encourages me to keep moving forward with hope and courage. With all my love and prayers.

Keep shining, Di — the world is brighter because you're in it .

Happy birthday Aneet.

May each and every moment of your special day be filled with the same joy and happiness you bring to others.

I loved you in Saiyaara and I cried after the film .That doesn't happen often . I just want to say, I love you forever and ever and ever and Ami Tomake Bhalobashi.

Hey Aneet, Happiest Birthday to you my little sister! Today marks a special day, a day to celebrate you and all the joy, love, happiness laughter you bring into my world. As you celebrate another year of your life, I want you to know that I thank my Universe for gifting us such a beautiful soul full of talent and love.

Your presence in Bollywood is like a gift and a breath of fresh air! My girl, always remember this is just the beginning. There's a long way to go my dear. Remember from where you started, stay the way you are! Never change, and stay focused! Be humble and keep working hard You will always have our back forver and ever and ever. Love You darling. Here's to another year of adventures, memories, and making more moments to cherish. May your birthday be filled with love, laughter, and all your favorite things. God bless you dear.

With love,
From Kolkata

Happy Birthday to you!

On your special day, I just want to tell you how much you are admired and loved. Watching you in Saiyaara was such a beautiful experience you brought such grace, emotion, and depth to the screen. Every scene you were in, felt alive, and it's clear how much heart you put into your work. You didn't just play a role; you made us feel it.

But what makes me adore you even more is who you are beyond the screen. The way your nose scrunch appears whenever you smile (it's honestly the most heart-melting thing ever!) and the way your eyes sparkle with warmth and emotion both are so unique and unforgettable. No wonder Ahaan lovingly calls you his starry-eyed girl because truly, your eyes hold entire galaxies within them.

As a fan, it makes me so happy to see how beautifully you balance your professional achievements and your personal journey. You inspire me and so many others to dream big, work hard, and still remain kind at heart. Your positivity and authenticity shine just as brightly as your talent.

On this birthday, I wish for you endless happiness, love, and success. May new opportunities keep coming your way, may your journey take you to even greater heights, and may you always find reasons to smile that signature scrunchy smile of yours. Keep shining, keep inspiring, and always remember you'll forever be our starry-eyed girl. With lots of love and admiration.

Shambhavi

Watching your journey has made me appreciate not just your talent, but the energy and heart you put into acting.

I hope this year brings you endless success, happiness, love, and all the things that make you smile. Keep shining brighter than ever, Aneet, because the world truly deserves to see your light

"Forever and ever your fan"

Happiest birthday, Aneet!

Wishing you all the happiness, love, and everything you want in your life! I watched you in Saiyaara and honestly... every scene had me crying, laughing, and feeling everything at once! Your monologue in the movie — "Saiyaara, matlab taaron mein ek tanha taara" — always makes me sobbb.

The moments you shared with Vaani Batra felt so real and made the experience unforgettable. It's been amazing to watch your journey as an actor. I feel so happy witnessing your growth, your dedication, and the passion you pour into every scene.

Literally, every time I see your work, I feel like one of the happiest people on the planet. I can't wait to see your future projects — you've already left such a mark, and I'm so excited for everything you'll do next! I just know that whatever you take on in the coming years will be equally magical, and I can't wait to cheer for you every step of the way.

Megha

Dear Aneet,
Happiest Birthday!

The very first time I saw you in Big Girl Dont Cry there were many girls but you shined brighter than anyone I found you funny silly and so incredibly cute But the moment I saw you as Vani my heart literally stopped. You looked breathtakingly beautiful and your acting was extraordinary. You didnt just shine you glowed. Your chemistry with Ahaan is magical but I love you even more Ahaan was right you truly have the universe in your eyes and I could get lost in them forever. I've never made a fan page for you but I've always admired you deeply. A fan page feels too small you truly deserve the whole world.

Anindita

Dear Aneet,
First of all, wishing you a wonderful birthday... happiest birthday to the person who makes the world a brighter, more beautiful place just by being in it. On your special day, I just want you to know how deeply loved and appreciated you are. Beyond your incredible acting, your own self is truly inspiring. Your kindness, honesty, strength, and positivity make you even more graceful.

Watching your hard work and talent shine so brightly has been a great joy. You approach your work with such vulnerability and dedication that it is really commendable. Be just the way you are. May the year ahead be full of exciting new projects, continued success, and surrounded by all the love you deserve. May your dreams continue to flourish and bring you joy. I'm really proud of you, my "Saiyaara," and will continue to be here cheering for you, celebrating your every success, and supporting you in all of your dull days.
Lots of love and best wishes for you.

Once again, happiest birthday Aneet
Each word I've written comes straight from my heart. I hope this year brings you endless love happiness and success. May all your dreams come true and may you keep shining brighter than ever.

Nudar, Urwah, Insiya

*Dear Aneet,
Happy birthday to the incredibly beautiful, kind, and talented soul that you are. From the three of us Nudar, Urwah, and Insiya — we just wanted to take a moment to celebrate you.*

You've touched our hearts in a way words can barely capture, and this letter is our way of sharing that love with you.

From Nudar:

Dear Aneet, I will never forget the day we got to be on a Zoom call with you — it felt truly magical. You were warm, genuine, and full of light. In that brief moment, your talent, humility, and kindness shone through, making everyone feel seen and valued. Your smile, laughter, and presence left us completely enchanted.

You have a rare gift of connecting with people, even from afar, leaving an imprint on the heart that lingers long after. Through your performances, words, and smiles, you've inspired us and reminded us why we love cinema and celebrate genuine souls. Even simple moments with you feel monumental, and you leave sparks of joy wherever you go.

Though we don't know you personally, our admiration is real and profound. Thank you, Aneet, for lighting up lives, for your kindness and authenticity, and for inspiring us to be better every day. We hope this year brings you as much joy, love, and light as you've given us.

Happy Birthday my Saiyaara.

From Urwah:

Happy Birthday, Aneet! Wishing you a day as bright and beautiful as your soul. This day is not just special for you or your loved ones but for the entire fandom. You truly shine with grace, talent, and positivity - a personality that inspires everyone around you. May this year and the coming years bring you even more success, happiness, and endless opportunities to achieve your dreams.

The moment I got the chance to see you and interact with you during the Zoom meeting, it honestly felt surreal like a dream come true. Your presence radiated such calmness, positivity, and kindness that it left me speechless. The way you spoke, smiled, and connected with everyone showed the kind of person you truly are humble, sweet, and full of grace. That day will always hold a special place in my heart because it made me realize how wonderful you are, both on-screen and off-screen.

From Insiya:

My Dearest Love Anniee Babyy Hope you remember me. It's a true privilege to write this message for you. I first saw you in your mesmerizing ads, and since then, I've admired you endlessly. Your beauty is ethereal, but it's your tender, radiant heart that truly shines. On this special day, I wish you the happiest birthday. May life unfold like a dream, full of joy, success, and serenity. You've come so far and truly deserve it all. I'll always treasure the memory of our Zoom meeting the playful glances, gentle teasing, and the flutter in my heart. Perhaps destiny will let our paths cross again improbable, but never impossible.

I love you deeply, endlessly, beyond measure. You deserve all the beauty and joy the world can offer. Happy birthday, my beloved. Always your supporter, always your admirer. May you continue making your parents, friends, fans, and loved ones proud. May the people who are important to you always stay by your side, and may your bond with them grow even stronger. We love you forever and ever.

Deepi

Happy Birthday, Aneet! May God bless you with good health and immense well-being. Keep achieving greater success in your work. Thank you for embodying Vaani Batra so perfectly... May your artistic journey be abundant with joy and creative fulfillment, allowing your inherent talent to shine brighter with every new project. Never lose that beautiful innocent spirit that makes you so unique. Please always remain the sweet, down-to-earth person you are. Keep gifting us many more memorable characters, much like Vaani. May your passion always be your guide. We love you very much. And since I am Bengali, I'll say it once in Bengali: "Subho Jonmodin Aneet" (Happy Birthday Aneet). Lots and lots of love from me,
From Kolkata

Aleesha

Happy birthday to the queen of hearts. Your charm, dedication and performances continue to inspire and light up our screens. Thank you for inspiring millions like me. May your journey ahead be filled with the golden moments, heartfelt smiles, and the same magic you bring to every role.

I don't have a Fanpage for some personal reasons, but that doesn't mean I-or anyone else without one love you any less. When I heard that you joined a zoom meeting with your fangirls on Sunday, I felt sad that I couldn't be there. But at the same time, I was truly happy for the girls who got the chance to talk to you. Then I found out about your birthday project, and my hope came alive again that I could finally send you my wish and it would reach to you.

So what if I don't have a Fanpage? My love and my prayers for you will always find their way to you and that makes me so happy. I just want to say that I and all of us love you so much. We will always remain your fans & we will always keep you in our prayers.

Wishing you all happiness in the world, today and always. Always and forever and ever and ever.

Azyerr

Hi Aneet, azyer here please know u are loved so much, lots of love from the other side of world Africa.

Happy Birthday to the sunshine of our screens
- Aneet

On your special day, we just want to say how much you mean to us-your fans. Your presence lights up not just the roles you play, but also our lives. There's a warmth in your smile, a calmness in your voice, and a fire in your performance that makes us fall for you a little more every day. You're not just an actress, you're an emotion to so many of us. And as Vaani Batra, you didn't just play a character - you lived her. You gave her soul. From her chaos to her courage, from her laughter to her pain, you made us feel every bit of her journey. You made Vaani unforgettable, and no one else could've done it the way you did.

You slayed in every frame with grace, fire, and that unbeatable sparkle in your eyes. But beyond the screen, what makes you even more special is your humility. You treat your fans not like followers, but like family.

May this year bring you all the happiness, opportunities, and love you deserve. Keep shining with that natural grace and warmth that makes you so special to your fans. We'll always be cheering for you - in every role , every project ,every step.

With admiration and love.

Dear Aneet,

A very Happy Birthday to you! On this special day, I just want to express how much you mean to me as a fan. You are not only incredibly talented, but also a person who inspires with your kindness, dedication, and positivity. Watching your journey has been so motivating—it reminds me that with hard work and a good heart, anything is possible.

Birthdays are not just about celebrating another year, but also about celebrating the impact you have on people's lives. And I can honestly say you've touched mine in such a beautiful way. Your smile, your energy, and the way you connect with people bring so much joy. Every time I see your work, it feels like a little spark of inspiration. I hope this birthday brings you all the happiness you deserve. May the year ahead be filled with love, success, good health, and countless amazing memories.

May all your dreams come true, and may you continue to shine even brighter than before. Please keep being the wonderful person you are. No matter how big you grow, always know that your fans (like me) will always be here, supporting you with love and admiration.

Happy Birthday once again, Aneet!
May this be your best year yet.

Happy Birthday, Aneet Padda!

The Name itself is enough, angels like you are born once in a lifetime and the more I say it will be lesser only to justice with your BEAUTY, DEDICATION TO YOUR CRAFT and I just want to say you and Ahaan both achieve great milestones.

Wishing you a day as beautiful and bright as your smile. May this year bring you endless happiness, success, and unforgettable moments. As a fan, I truly admire your talent, grace, and the warmth you bring to every role and appearance. Keep shining and inspiring us all – the world is better with your light in it!

JUST REMEMBER AHNEET HAVE FULLEST SUPPORT of their fans. Love You Forever and Ever and Ever.

Happy, Happy Birthday Aneet! To my sunshine girl, thank you for giving us hope. Thank you for striving so hard that you made it big and I hope you continue to achieve all these stars and more. Never been an ardent bollywood follower but something about you just clicks, maybe it is a Delhi thing?

Your honesty reflects, will always carry your phrase 'the beginning and ending of everything is love' with me. Be cheeky it's very admirable because we are too.

Heart, heart. We're all just heart Your sense of humour, honesty and your wit amazes me, never change and may all your stories keep finding new skies. Rest assured, I'll be right here waiting to catch them all . Happy Birthday once again.

We adore you, Aneet

Dear Aneet,
Wishing you the best birthday. On this special day, I just want to let you know, how much I admire you as a person and so many others through your incredible talent, dedication and grace. Your performance as Vaani in Saiyaara and Rooki in Big Girls Don't Cry leaves the lasting impact, not only entertaining but also touching hearts.

You are really one of the most beautiful person. Your kindness and your hard work makes you shine both on and off screen. You have given us many reasons to smile, dream and believe in ourselves and I am truly grateful to be your fan and as your well-wisher.

Many Many happy returns of the day, Aneet. May not only this year, but every year bring you immense joy, success, good health and everything you wished for. Keep being the wonderful person and an amazing artist that you are.
Love You Forever and Ever and Ever!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

May the crown never fall!

May this year bring you sprinkles of joy and sparks of growth! You inspire me to chase my dreams, just as you did. Getting to know about your journey, made me realise how dreams are never too big or too small, but are just waiting for you to manifest them and hold its hand tighter!
THANK YOU!

Glitz on, Rockstar!

Dear Aneet,

i am grateful for the night you were born, for the way the universe held its breath so someone like you could walk the earth and carry entire galaxies in your chest without knowing it you move like sunlight that doesn't know it's watched, gentle as wind through hollow trees, fierce as fire in shadowed corners, constellations in your gaze, morning in your smile, something older than time in the hollow of your voice sometimes it feels unfair that i don't know you, and yet my heart guards you like a flame against the storm, because even months older than me, you feel wiser, like you've lived a thousand lives learning how to hold the world without breaking it you are beautiful in ways the world cannot name, wearing humility like stardust, and kindness like gravity, pulling everything good toward you, making me want to write, to dream, to believe again in the soft impossible of being

i see you in fragments, in laughter too pure for this world, in eyes that flare when you speak of what you love, your journey like constellations forming over a sleeping sea, inevitable, divine, you are not just a rising star, you are the whole sayiara, the night teaching itself to glow you are warmth grown human, love finally speaking aloud, the girl who carries galaxies in her chest and makes the world breathe a little deeper, and if i could tell you one thing, it would be this — you are not just seen, you are felt, infinite, unforgettable.

happy birthday to my forever sayiara.
i love you — for ever, and ever, and ever, and ever.

with love, always,
judy [ @aneetmoons ]

Dear Aneet, my sayiara <<33

Happy Birthday, Aneet Padda

To the most beautiful and talented girl, who made us fall in love with Vaani Batra in Salyara — you were pure grace, emotion, and magic on screen.

You didn't just play Vaani, you became her — every glance, every silence spoke poetry.

May your journey ahead shine brighter than ever, and may every project you touch bloom like the first sunrise of Salyara.

"Kuch kahaanay-an & kirdaar sirf likhi nahi jaati, woh jee jaati Jatin... aur tumne Vaani ko sirf nibhaya nahi, jiya hai — Wishing you all the love, light, and laughter this year — and endless success for everything you heart dreams get keep shining Meri SAYIARA, MY SUPERSTAR."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY ANEET!

I am writing this letter to tell you that watching you in ~~Sag~~ ~~Sag~~ Sayara has changed my life in more ways than I expected. It started on 20/07/25 when I first saw you as Vaani. I was immediately struck by your acting and beauty. You made me laugh, cry, smile and love with Vaani, with you. Since then I am looking forward to seeing more of you. I am living in the UK so I threw away the dreams of ever meeting you but I sincerely hope that this letter reaches you. We love you Aneet forever and ever and ever. It has been a while since an actress has inspired me but you inspire me everyday to keep trying hard to achieve my goals even when the path doesn't seem easy. On this day (your birthday) I hope that you enjoy it to the fullest with the biggest smile on your face. Eat lots of cake, spend time with your friends and family and also remember that us fans; Aneetians and also Ahneetians will always stand by you. Once again I Love You Aneet, Never stop smiling and growing.

From, Aadhya (Ahneetalchemy:IG) (Advvspeaks:x)

Dear Aneet,

Here it is a small effort from my side for your birthday, hope you like it :)

आपकी आँखें जैसे गहरा समंदर,
डुबना चाहें उसमें मैं इस कदर,
कि रहे न मुझे कोई फिक्र !!

चेहरे की चमक से चमके हर कोना
आपके जैसा न कोई था, न है, न ही होगा ॥

आपके अलकाज़ जैसे गुलाब की पंखुड़ीयाँ,
आपकी शक्ति जैसी आप ही हो पूरी दुनिया !!
आपकी मुस्कान से रोशन है हर पल
आपकी सादगी ने जीत लिया है
मे दिल !!

आपको मिले हर वो चीज़ जिसकी आपको चाहे हो,
पर हमारे लिए तो आप ही हमारा संसार हो !!

Dear Aneet, 🍷

Wishing you the happiest birthday, my Saiyaara girl — the one who has inspired me more deeply than words can express. On this special day, I just want to pour my heart out and let you know how much you truly mean to me. You're not just an actress I admire; you're someone whose presence, grace, and spirit have genuinely touched my life.

From the first time I saw you on screen, there was something so magical about you — the way you speak through your eyes, the raw honesty in your performances, and the warmth you radiate effortlessly. You don't just act; you feel every moment, and that's what makes you extraordinary. You've shown me what passion, dedication, and authenticity really look like. Every time I see your work, I'm reminded of why I started admiring you — not just for your beauty or your talent, but for the person you are behind it all. 💖

You've inspired me in ways I can't even explain. Watching your journey, your growth, and your commitment motivates me every single day to dream bigger and work harder for what I love. You've taught me that success isn't about fame — it's about staying true to your art, to your heart, and to yourself. And you, Aneet, do that so beautifully.

Honestly, I've tagged you so many times, made edits, written captions straight from the heart, and every single one of them was just a small attempt to show how much love and admiration I have for you. Maybe you haven't seen them yet, but I still hold on to the hope that one day, this message or one of my little efforts will reach you. Because all I really want is for you to know how much you've impacted someone out here — someone who truly believes in you and your light.

I'm so, so excited for everything you're going to do next — the projects, the performances, the new journeys. I know they'll be filled with your magic, just like always. You deserve every bit of love, success, and happiness that this world has to offer.

On your special day, I just want to say — thank you. Thank you for being you. Thank you for inspiring me to believe in my dreams, for reminding me that hard work pays off, and for simply existing the way you do. You've given me more than you'll ever know.

I hope this birthday brings you all the joy, peace, and love you deserve, and that somehow, this little message finds its way to you. Because it's not handwritten but written with nothing but pure admiration and endless love 💖

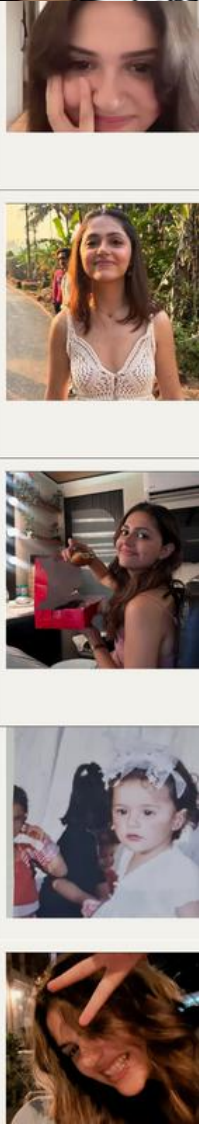

I love you forever and ever & ever my starry eyed girl 🥰❤️

Happy Birthday, Aneet 🎂
 With all my heart,
 Your admirer always.

Dear Aneet. ❤️

No words can ever be enough to describe what I feel for you. You're truly my saiyaara and I will not try to explain it because "mere paas kehne ko bohot kuch hai Aneet, par kehne jaisa kuch bhi nahi hai" so here's a small poem I wrote for you and I hope you'll like it. I hope it does a good job at explaining what you mean to me, because I fail.

With your starry eyes, you light the skies.
 In your gaze, wonder lies.
 Vulnerable as a child, yet strong as a flame,
 there's kindness etched within your name.
 You walked alone, yet reached so high.
 My self-made star in the velvet night sky.
 My Saiyaara, My beautiful star,
 Never have I known a soul rarer by far.
 Through the darkest nights, where no light shone,
 You managed to somehow walk alone,
 the world and me we'll never see those scars,
 But keep them as proof that you've outshined them stars.
 From the darkness you carried for so long, a new dawn arose.
 In the dulllest hours, it was hope you chose.
 Your gentle fire- it stayed with me, became my way whispering there's hope each day.
 For you, I wish love in abundant streams,
 For the universe to work it's magic and crown your dreams
 Shine bright, my saiyaara, my taaron ke beech wo tanha taara jo apni chamak se puri dunia roshan karta hai..my star.
 You're a lone light who's brighter than all soo far.
 For truly, in all the galaxies above,
 There's no one quite like you my little love.
 Happy Birthday my babygirl! 2 years elder to you and you'll always have an elder sister in me. - From Aastha (@celestillak on Instagram and X)

Pretty little Annie

dream on little dreamer

Can't stop loving you!

From Amina (aneetforever, Pakistan)

Every scene you touch, turns into a golden time.
 Smile like sunshine, ur heart is so kind,
 You're the kind of glow the world should find.

You've got that magic, soft and true,
 Every frame just blooms with you.

Pretty little Annie, you're the vibe we adore,
 Every smile you give makes us love you more.
 Sweet and humble, yet you shine so high,
 Our golden girl under heaven's sky.

Pretty little Annie, starlight in your soul,
 You paint everything with your gold-souled role
 Gentle grace and laughter too,
 Every heart just falls for you.

Pretty little Annie, you're our melody,
 The softest dream, our harmony.
 With every light, your warmth will stay,
 Forever loved in your Annie way.

for aneet <3

there's magic in the way you smile,
 it makes the world feel soft a while.
 the kind of glow that's calm and true,
 the kind of light that stays with you.

you speak and everything feels kind,
 a quiet strength, a thoughtful mind.
 you're made of stars, of gentle grace,
 the sun would hide to see your face.

so here's my wish, pure and clear,
 may joy be close to you this year.
 you deserve the brightest skies,
 our starry girl with moonlit eyes.

TO OUR SHINING STAR, ANEET KAUR PABDA
✦✦ A little something from the heart ✦✦

There was once a girl who lit up her school's small stage, eyes full of wonder, heart beyond her age.

Performing with joy, dreaming to soar high, believing someday her name would touch the sky. ✨

In a small room, with nothing but hope to keep, she honed her craft, letting her talent bloom deep. No easy way, just endless practice, day after day,

She began in silence, no spotlight to guide, while the world slept on, she stayed awake inside. She turned her late night tears into faith so deep, and quietly built the life she dreamed to keep.

Through doubt, through fear, she chose to grow, and patience became her silent glow.

Not fame, not show but her steady fire that turned her struggle into something higher.

And today, that little girl beams with pride, seeing the path her dreams have supplied.

From whispered dreams to a shining name,

Aneet bloomed and nothing's the same. ★

Happiest Birthday to our starry eyed girl! ✨
 Firstly, you're literally the biggest inspiration to me. I can't even put into words how much you inspire me. I remember first seeing you in the Cadbury ad, and I was so awestruck seeing how effortlessly beautiful you were (only to find out that your beauty is inside out:)). When I found out about Saiyaara, trust me I've waited for every single update so eagerly. I live in Toronto so waking up at random times or staying up late for any sort of notification became a new normal and it was literally all worth it. Couldn't resist watching Saiyaara on loop in the theaters and on Netflix, you were so good omg 😍. I can't wait to see you flourish and reach greater heights in all your work you do. Thank you for being you and making us fall in love with you! I really wish and hope I could meet you some day! And as you said, "mere paas kehene ko sab kuch hai par kehene jaisa kuch nahi", it's literally how I feel, sitting here writing this hoping you'd read it. Congratulations Aneet! Hoping this year brings everything you want! I love you forever and ever <3

Vaani Batra

Vaani referred to Krish as the color of her life that added hues and meaning to her monochrome stained heart. She didn't want to snatch the colors of his life with her faded moments of reminiscence. She didn't have the heart to let her love break his soul in an unimaginable way wrapped with silent screams. Every time she uttered the unpleasant name she knew he was dying silently. The stabs cut through his soul and made him bleed in her love. Love is supposed to offer solace and colours but hers was offering torment and blood. The color of love was red but that of her love was the kind of red stained with blood splashes of his soul. The more she wanted to love the more she was unwillingly causing havoc. She wanted him to stop bleeding his life dry in her love and chose himself over the pain. Without leaving the door of his life abandoned and slamming it shut with an untold goodbye she knew he would never stop. Vaani had peeked into his abandoned soul and vowed never to leave it barren and drenched in tears again. So that his heart reached the stars exactly where she wanted him to. Love makes you leave your world behind and she knew leaving hers, she knew his world would be all about her music clung to his existence. To make him reach the stars, she left her soul behind barren and abandoned for him to shine. Love is giving and a lot of things painful. To paint his success she stained her heart and drenched it in agony and sorrow. So what if he couldn't be there with her in the days of silence and fading memories? So what if his hands couldn't embrace her fragments? She pieced herself together to not let him apart. Such was her love lingering yet staggering; devastating yet unfathomably deep. Her love wasn't all flowery and fragrant but it had the unpleasant staleness of sacrifice too. The nodes were promising love and a forever and ever and ever too with a splashed of pain. She knew how to love in her absence, showered him with love behind stained tears, and chose to become his shadow. The kind that couldn't hold him in sunshine but shielded him from the storms. Such deeply profound and heartfelt was her love and that is the only kind of love that should and can be celebrated. Through the silence, numbing pain, deteriorating losing memories her soul could never erase his aroma. Her soul couldn't fathom to unlure the fragrant love that filled her barren heart with love forever and ever and ever.

Happy Birthday, Aneet! May this year open new doors, spark new dreams, and bring you closer to everything you've been wishing for. So happy to see your journey from scratches to stardom! Shine higher my future superstar. Will always be there for you, cheering for you forever and ever and ever 🙏 God bless you my girl 🙏
