Hinge Weight Chart (BS EN 1935)

This is the European standard for the classification of the strength and durability of side-hung metal hinges.

Hinges are tested against a standard door and number of cycles to achieve certification.

A single hinge is tested, whereas in reality a minimum of three hinges will support the door. This chart shows the various grades.

Hinge Class	Door Mass	Cycles per Annum
1	10kg	10,000
2	20kg	10,000
3	20kg	25,000

TOP QUALITY HINGES... WITHOUT THE HEFTY PRICE TAG!

SOX
STAINLESS STEEL

The SOX Atom hinge is constructed from coated stainless steel for greater resistance to corrosion. A high-performance premium product that has been UKAS tested to Grade 13, 200,000 cycles. It's a three-knuckle hinge, which houses polymer bearings. The advantage of using polymer over the traditional ball bearings is any grease seepage should stop, unlike ball bearing hinges. Ball bearing hinges also have a steel ball bearing which can cause corrosion over time even on the highest grade stainless steel hinges.

- Tested in a UKAS accredited Laboratory (Data available on request)
- Radius or Square hinges available in all 7 finishes
- Up to 120kg Doors
