HERBIOTICS

Gifts of Nature & Science

Herbiotics laboratory, the first green lab in the Philippines and one of the few green labs in the world.

The Story . . .

It was an enormous challenge to constantly navigate the maze of organic vs. non-organic labeling. We aimed for a chance to heal, therefore avoid using products filled with carcinogens, hormone disruptors, and other harmful substances. I finally realized that if I wanted to give the purest and healthiest food supplements and personal care products, I had to make them. Thus, Herbiotics USA was born in 1994.

Herbiotics® USA was established in Silicon Valley, California. This year, 2023, we are celebrating our 29 years in the challenging but exhilarating world of natural medicine!

Herbiotics was founded amidst the intellectual brilliance, thick-willed determination, and boundless energy for discovery ushered in by the dawn of the computer age in Silicon Valley. Driven by a strong commitment to help create healthier communities now and for future generations, we carried this spirit of innovation to the Philippines, where we opened our first facility in 2000.

Herbiotics® is a community of experienced educators, scientists, herbalists, chemists and practitioners, trained in nature's principles and scientific methodologies.

At Herbiotics®, we can guarantee the freshness, purity, and potency of our herbal products by overseeing the process from seed to bottle. All of our herbs and ingredients go through numerous inspections before and after processing, ensuring that you only receive the highest quality botanicals available. Our in-house physicist and chemist from the University of California, Berkeley implements the highest quality control standards. More than thirty years of studies, research, and practice cultivated the development of unique, step by step, scientifically validated methods of growing, harvesting, and processing from raw materials to your hands.

Enjoy optimum health and wellbeing with Herbiotics organic products and wholefood supplements.

One Vision

To promote the life giving and health protecting properties of nature's resources as "Our Vital Root of Existence."

One Mission

To continuously educate and research the healing properties of nature as a core factor to integral health, wellbeing and sustainable living.

One Core Objective

To lead and link with various cultures, groups and individuals through the production, development and use of natural, organic health products and services in total harmony with the laws of nature and the environment.

From Earth to Your Hands...

We live in an era where medicine is separated from food, as taught by medical science. Herbs were once the primary means of treating illnesses and assuring good health. We have wandered too far from that approach, as we are just beginning to rediscover the powerful health benefits of nature's resources.

At Herbiotics[®] we are fully committed to our responsibility to preserve, sustain and promote a healthy and beautiful planet. Its people and the environment are key components of holistic wellbeing in mind, body and spirit.

What a difference it would make if we all be involved in giving back to our earth what she so generously and abundantly given all of us.

Together, let us create a just, sustainable and healthy world.

We promise quality, purity and safety
for your health and wellbeing, as well
as for the planet,
by using nature's purest organic ingredients!

*I have used herbs for more than thirty years with thousands of patients, and see the miracles they perform on a daily basis. It is time to educate ourselves and become responsible for our own health. Healing herbs are more than just the latest trend; they are historic, literally ancient, curatives for a vast array of rare and common ailments. Discover the wonder of healing herbs around you! Not only do herbs contain a plethora of medicinal and culinary properties, they also instill a strong sense of connection and interdependence when growing, harvesting and using your very own herbs.

A close-up photograph of a Passiflora flower, also known as a passion flower. The flower has a complex structure with a central yellow and green ovary, surrounded by a ring of purple and white filaments. The petals are white with a purple tinge. The background is a blurred green and white, suggesting a natural setting. The text is overlaid on a dark blue diagonal band.

NATURE'S GIFT

TO PREVENT & CONTROL CHRONIC DISEASES

Herbal medicine was long regarded as hocus-pocus by science. However, indigenous plant knowledge is now sought after by many researchers, scientists and BIG Pharmaceuticals as the new gold. The mysteries of indigenous medical knowledge have become so captivating that over 100 pharmaceutical companies and Western countries are funding studies on indigenous plant knowledge. Philippine medicinal plants, mostly cultivated by indigenous communities and foreign companies, carry an untold wealth of nutrients, phytochemicals and active ingredients. This point is well emphasized by one of the greatest Philippine botanists, researcher and author Dr. Eduardo Quisumbing, in the introduction of his book Medicinal Plants of the Philippines. He writes:

*“Our physicians will do well to keep an open mind and listen with respect to the claims put forth by the humblest herbolario / herbalist. That these claims are not based on empiricism is no valid reason why they should be ignored by physicians, for our original knowledge of recognized, valuable drug-producing plants the world over was almost invariably so derived... The blundering, half –superstitious trials and errors of primitive, uneducated people have given us important drugs as Cinchona for malaria, Digitalis and Strophanthus for heart disease and Quassia as a bitter tonic.*”

As of 2008, mankind is confronted by 346 generic infectious diseases. An average of three new diseases are described every two years, and a new infecting organism is published every week! Over 1,600 human pathogens have been reported. The medical establishment and drug companies do an excellent job of brainwashing us to believe that only drugs, which come with many side effects, can heal the body. In spite of the fact that modern pharmaceuticals have displaced some of the traditional uses of herbs, 80% of the world population continues to use herbs as their primary means of medical treatment. Many of today's commercially based medicines are actually derived from very common garden plants. Plants are sophisticated chemical factories, with herbs being full of pharmacological agents. In today's age, we have lost the freedom to teach and share this knowledge accumulated over the last 5,000 years.

Presently, the Philippines offers approximately ten thousand different species of plants. Studying them extensively can generate a considerable number of plants with distinct medicinal values. Sadly, less than a handful is currently recognized in the standard pharmacopoeias. The Philippines' remarkably rich medicinal plant resources must contribute to the life and healing of not only 110 million Filipinos, but also the rest of the world.

Our one hundred- acre organic farm at the foot of the pristine, unpolluted mountains of Aborlan, Palawan is the ultimate place to produce organic herbs and botanicals. As member of Biodynamic Association of America*, we fully commit to our responsibility as stewards of this planet, from planting to finished products. All leftover plant materials from production are used as compost. Every weed and plant around the premises of our facility is edible and/or therapeutic.

Our more than thirty years of studies, research, and practice led us to develop a unique and scientifically validated method of growing and manufacturing food and herbal products, from seeds, harvesting, and processing to your hands.

* The Biodynamic Association (BDA) is an association of individuals and organizations in North America who are committed to the transformation of the whole food system, from farm to table. BDA is a worldwide movement for the renewal of agriculture based on an understanding of the spiritual forces at work in nature and in human social life.

The two main sources of waste are: (1) waste that is generated from the normal and natural metabolic functions of our body, (2) direct ingestion of toxic chemicals from food and drinks. DP is the antidote for modern living and program for preventative healing and disease treatment. Detoxification heals illness and promotes optimal health.
