DP Biology

The IB Diploma Programme (IBDP) Biology curriculum provides a comprehensive exploration of life sciences, focusing on core topics such as cell biology, genetics, ecology, evolution, human physiology, and molecular biology. Designed to foster scientific inquiry and critical thinking, the course integrates theoretical knowledge with practical investigations, including experiments, data analysis, and fieldwork.

Assessments include Paper 1 (multiple-choice), Paper 2 (data-based and extended response questions), Paper 3 (experimental skills and option topics), and the Internal Assessment (IA), where students conduct an independent scientific investigation. The curriculum encourages interdisciplinary connections, preparing students for further studies in biological sciences, medicine, and environmental research.

DP Chemistry

The IB Diploma Programme (IBDP) Chemistry curriculum provides a comprehensive foundation in chemical principles, integrating theoretical knowledge with practical applications. Covering key topics such as stoichiometry, atomic structure, periodicity, chemical bonding, thermodynamics, and organic chemistry, the course emphasizes scientific inquiry, experimentation, and data analysis.

Assessments include Paper 1 (multiple-choice), Paper 2 (structured and extended response questions), Paper 3 (experimental skills and option topics), and the Internal Assessment (IA), where students conduct an independent investigation. With a strong focus on problem-solving and real-world applications, the curriculum prepares students for further studies in chemistry, medicine, engineering, and environmental sciences.

DP Physics

The IB Diploma Programme (IBDP) Physics curriculum provides a comprehensive foundation in fundamental and advanced physics concepts, integrating theoretical knowledge with practical investigations. The course develops critical thinking, problem-solving, and data analysis skills by covering key topics such as mechanics, waves, electricity and magnetism, thermal physics, and atomic/nuclear physics.

Assessments include Paper 1 (multiple-choice), Paper 2 (structured and extended response questions), Paper 3 (experimental and option topics), and the Internal Assessment (IA), where students conduct an independent scientific investigation. Designed for both Standard Level (SL) and Higher Level (HL) students, the curriculum encourages inquiry-based learning and real-world applications, preparing students for further studies in physics, engineering, and related sciences.

Computer Science

The 2025 IB DP Computer Science curriculum introduces two key themes: Concepts of Computer Science (covering networks, databases, and machine learning) and Computational Thinking & Problem-Solving (including programming, OOP, and abstract data types for HL). Machine learning is a new addition, reflecting advancements in the field.

The assessment structure has been streamlined—Paper 3 is removed, while SL and HL students now take two external exams: Paper 1 (problem-solving and code interpretation in Java or Python) and Paper 2 (real-world applications). The internal assessment now focuses on developing a computational solution, incorporating a collaborative science project to encourage interdisciplinary learning.

Extended Essay

The 2025 IB Extended Essay (EE) curriculum introduces key updates to enhance critical thinking, research integrity, and digital literacy. The updated assessment criteria place greater emphasis on academic integrity, research reflection, and structured analysis.

New interdisciplinary options expand subject choices, allowing students to explore global themes across disciplines. A stronger focus on digital research skills promotes academic referencing and digital literacy, ensuring students can effectively navigate online sources. Additionally, the enhanced reflection process provides structured RPPF (Researcher's Planning and Progress Form) guidance, helping students engage in deeper self-reflection throughout their research journey.
