history

On April 17, 1995, the City Ordinance 7885 was enacted establishing the Dalubhasaan ng Lungsod Ng Maynila known as the City College of Manila (CCM) headed by Hon. Mayor Alfredo S. Lim, the father and founder of CCM with the support of Hon. Vice Mayor Jose L. Atienza Jr., and the City Council with Hon. Nestor C. Ponce Jr., Hon. Humberto Basco and Hon. Bernardito C. Ang as Principal Sponsors.

On April 26 of the same year, City Ordinance No. 7885 was passed into law and became operational with the main objective of providing quality education to the less privileged but intellectually deserving graduates from the Public Schools of Manila.

On June 6, 2006, the Manila City Council, at its regular session enacted City Ordinance No. 8120 elevating the Dalubhasaan ng Maynila or the City College of Manila (CCM) into a university and renaming it Universidad De Manila (UDM) to attune it with its present campus site at 24,000 square meters Mehan Gardens at Arroceros (now Cecilia Munoz-Palma) cor. Hospital Street (Antonio Villegas) Streets, Ermita, Manila. The new University was inaugurated by Hon. Mayor Jose L. Atienza Jr., and Hon. Juan Miguel T. Cuna on June 19, 2006.

On June 28, 2006, of the same year, City Ordinance No. 8120 was approved by his Hon. Mayor Jose L. Atienza Jr., and as such shall continue to operate in accordance with law and within the powers and limitations specified and organized as a corporation under the same name.

In 2015, the University's College Programs were recognized by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) in compliance with the CMO 30, S. 2006 - Policies and Standards in Operating Colleges and Universities.

In January 2020 UDM institutionalized the Learning Management System (LMS) that formed the basis of a remote blended learning platform or enriched virtual. In February 2020, Moodle App was adopted as a learning platform to provide students, faculty members, and administrators to create a new kind of learning environment where students and teachers need not to each other daily. It was operational during the pandemic.

UDM history

Prior to the Enhanced Community Quarantine on March 16, 2020, UDM conducted training regarding Moodle App and video tutorials via the Workplace App and as a source of communication among faculty and administration. During the entire duration of the quarantine period, the learning and teaching link between the students and faculty members of UDM were ongoing and students were able to comply with the different academic requirements satisfactorily. Since the start of the lockdown, there has been no disruption in the teaching and learning process in UDM.

On April 27, 2020, City Ordinance No. 8635 was enacted to amend the provisions of Ordinance No. 7885 as amended by Ordinance No. 8120, entitled "An Ordinance Amending Specific Provisions of Ordinance No. 7885, otherwise known as "An ordinance authorizing the City Government of Manila to operate the Dalubhasaan ng Maynila (City College of Manila) and for such other purpose", enacted on April 17, 1995". This Ordinance treated UDM as an independent and institutional department of the City of Manila.

From tertiary courses, the University has expanded with other program offerings -the Institute of Graduate and Professional Studies (IGPS), the College of Law (CoL), the Center for Micro credentialing and Industry Training (CMIT), and the Senior High School (SHS).

"urges to take action to combat climate change and its impacts."

The Universidad de Manila (UDM) and the City Government of Manila have joined forces to address the critical challenges posed by climate change, implementing initiatives that align with Sustainable Development Goal 13 (SDG 13): Climate Action. Through targeted programs focused on climate resilience, greenhouse gas reduction, and sustainable development, these entities are making substantial contributions toward climate sustainability within their communities.

The City Government of Manila has taken a strong stance in the fight against climate change by joining the BreatheLife campaign in 2019. This global initiative aims to achieve safe air quality by 2030, integrating climate change and air pollution policies for maximum impact. To advance this goal, the city has deployed air quality sensors throughout Manila, enabling continuous monitoring of pollutants and informing the development of a clean air action plan. These efforts highlight the city's commitment to safeguarding public health and addressing climate change through proactive air quality management.

Additionally, the city has embedded Climate Change Adaptation and Mitigation (CCAM) practices within its development strategies. By adopting low-emission development plans and incorporating disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation into urban planning, Manila is enhancing the climate resilience of its communities. These initiatives ensure that the city is better prepared to respond to climate-induced challenges, reinforcing sustainable urban growth while mitigating environmental risks.

In alignment with these municipal efforts, UDM has demonstrated a strong commitment to climate action through educational and community-based programs. The university's Urban Farming and Land Use Governance initiatives promote sustainable agricultural practices on campus, encouraging students and the public to engage in low-impact farming. By incorporating these techniques, UDM not only contributes to sustainable food systems but also raises awareness of practices that can reduce carbon emissions, reinforcing climate-friendly land use.

UDM further amplifies its climate impact through the Community Engagement Mentorship Program, launched in July 2022. This program unites students, faculty, and local volunteers to empower residents in Manila's barangays by sharing practical skills and knowledge aimed at strengthening socio-economic resilience. By integrating sustainable practices and climate awareness into this mentorship, UDM is fostering climate resilience at the grassroots level, preparing local communities to better adapt to climate risks.

13 CLIMATE ACTION

Collectively, the City Government of Manila and UDM are making significant strides in promoting climate resilience and sustainability. Their initiatives reflect a cohesive approach to tackling climate change, from enhancing urban infrastructure for clean air to educating citizens on sustainable practices. Through these ongoing efforts, both the city and the university are advancing the objectives of SDG 13, demonstrating a dedicated commitment to climate action and the protection of their shared environment.
