ARTWORK GUIDELINES FOR FULLY DYE SUBLIMATED GARMENTS

Creating artwork for fully dye sublimated garments requires attention to detail to ensure high-quality results. Here are some simple guidelines to follow:

FILE TYPE

Use vector files whenever possible. Common formats include AI (Adobe Illustrator), EPS, and PDF. If you use raster files, make sure they are high resolution (300 DPI or higher) and in formats like PNG, JPEG, or PSD.

COLOR MODE

Set your artwork in RGB color mode. Sublimation printers work best with RGB colors.

RESOLUTION

Ensure your artwork is at least 300 DPI to avoid pixelation and maintain clarity.

BLEED AREA

Include a bleed area of at least 0.5 inches around your design. This extra space ensures your design covers the entire garment without leaving blank areas.

TEXT AND FONTS

Convert all text to outlines or curves. This ensures the text appears correctly even if the printer doesn't have the font installed.

BACKGROUNDS AND PATTERNS

Ensure background patterns and images are seamless and large enough to cover the entire garment without repeating.

SAFE AREA

Keep important elements like logos and text within a safe area, at least 0.5 inches away from the edges. This prevents them from being cut off during the printing process.
