

GUILTY

Print off the next pages and put in an enveloped marked "Who Dunnit".

Do not read if playing along!

The Town Sleuth

Have you all written who you think the murderer is on the Who Dunit cards? Now it's time for the big reveal. The Town Sleuth has left you a note to read out:

I've had to leave on urgent business but I know who the murderer is. Do you? I'm certain SHE is sitting here in the room. She might even be working out how she will escape...

The Reveal

The Murderer was the nosy reporter, Paula Puffleworth. In a moment of blind rage fuelled by passion for the town, Paula murdered Mayor Westcott. Paula can explain what happened.

Which plot lines did you expose?

Exhibit A brought to attention the bottle of opiate pain pills. Did anyone detail the plot line of Mayor Westcott's illness? You would've found that Dr Fairweather was prescribing him an amount much less than what he was taking! This, no doubt, was doing him damage, but wasn't the reason for his death. A couple of you may have thought he was dealing to Freddy because of his addiction history... don't be so quick to judge!

Who found out about the shocking affair between Mrs. Dee and Butler John? How could the two people closest to Mayor Westcott betray him like this!? Did anyone catch them in their plan to murder The Mayor after tonight's party? I bet they're smiling now that Paula took it out of their hands.

Slade was a big suspect all throughout the game and with good reason to be! Slade's prison plans are going to have big implications for the town of Hampstead. Who caught him in this plan? Slade, Roy, and Paula knew about this from the get-go! Paula was writing a tell-all expose on The Mayor and was trying to gather as much information as possible. She knew a lot of everyone's secrets, but had to be very careful in what she revealed. After all... she was hiding the murder!

Did anyone discover the news about Mayor Westcott's illegitimate son, Freddy? Did you find out whether or not The Mayor knew about this? Skye did all she could to hide this secret, but with the information getting around to a fair few of you, she may have had no choice but to fess up.