Series Synopsis

Nora Kaminski may not have a medical degree but this unconventional practitioner certainly has her wits about her. And she's going to need them on the island of Rügen, where she'll have to deal with quirky locals while sorting out her finances. She has just enough in the bank to pay for a room in a "charming, old-style captain's house", where a steady supply of hot water is never a given.

For now, the only person she can rely on is her colleague and friend from university, Dr Richard Freese, who wants a partner who thinks out of the box but is also secretly harbouring feelings for Nora. Assistant Mandy rounds out the medical team.

Nora Kaminski

Doctor.

"The trick is to hang in there, even when the going gets tough. If you give up, you're done for."

Although she never finished her medical degree, erstwhile ship's doctor Nora is a skilled and experienced physician. When the strong-willed and charismatic 42-year-old (rather reluctantly) takes up residence on the island of Rügen, she has to juggle dealing with eccentric locals with managing her own precarious finances. She has a penchant for sarcasm and tends to stand her ground, even in the face of adversity.

Nora's determination to succeed and help others endears her to viewers.

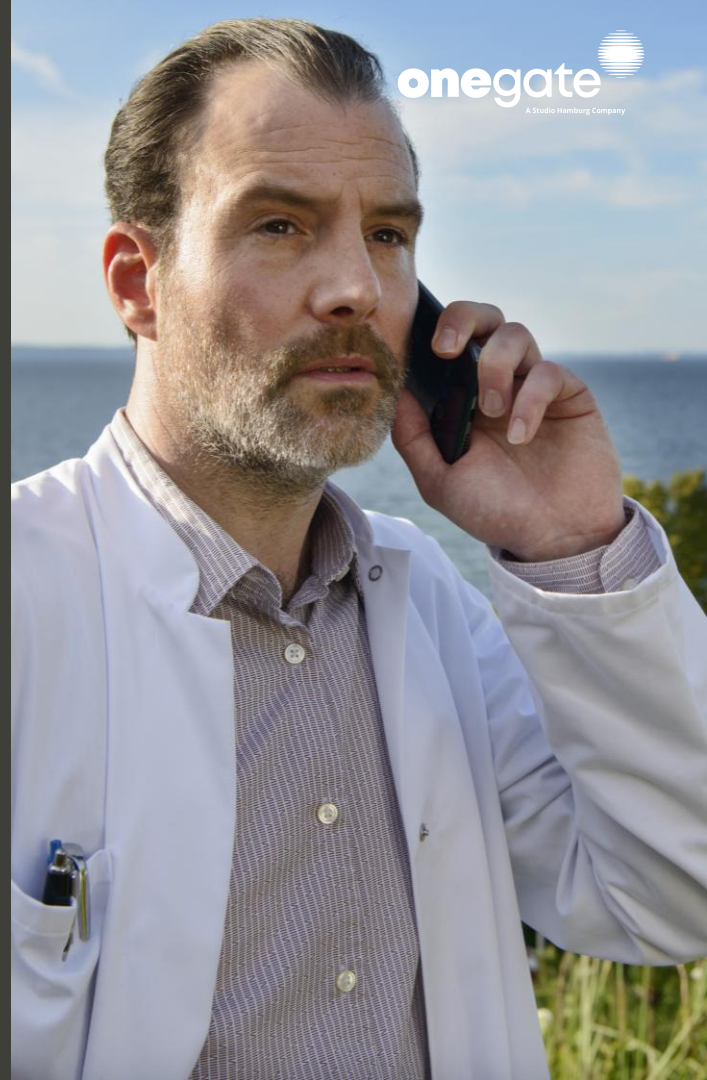

Dr Hannes Stresow

Doctor and Nora's colleague.

"We're basically rock stars. Except we save lives instead of singing songs."

He's a proficient surgeon with years of experience under his belt who used to work at a hospital in Hamburg. Confident and assertive, Hannes is never afraid to speak his mind. Although he can sometimes come across as arrogant, he is generally well liked for his quick wit and sense of humour. And his caustic exterior hides a kind heart and tireless dedication to helping those in need.

Over the course of the series, Hannes is involved in several relationships, but struggles to commit due to his fear of getting hurt.

Mandy

Medical assistant.

"I know how to take care of people. That's why I do what I do."

Mandy is friendly, compassionate and always eager to help others. She takes her job very seriously and often goes above and beyond the call of duty to ensure that her patients are comfortable and well looked after. Her warm, approachable personality makes her popular with colleagues and patients alike. And her no-nonsense attitude means that she can be assertive when need be.

Over the course of the series, Mandy serves as a trusted confidant to many of the main characters, and develops a particularly close friendship with her colleague, Nora Kaminski.

Max Jensen

Nora's love interest.

A helpful person with a big heart.

Max, an architect with a compassionate heart, is facing a challenge in his life. His teenage daughter, who can be demanding at times, has expressed her desire for her father not to pursue a relationship with Nora. Despite this difficult situation, Max is determined to preserve his profound love for Nora. He deeply values Nora's professional journey and admires her work.
