In every successful team, it's the small acts of support that build a strong foundation. To celebrate these moments of collaboration—whether it's a quick response, a helping hand during a crunch, or simply stepping up when it counts we've introduced a special token of appreciation. This gesture, exchanged among team members, recognizes the everyday efforts that make a big difference. It's a simple yet meaningful way to say "thank you" and foster a culture of gratitude within every department.
