CAMIRAL STADIUM COURSE, COSTA BRAVA

A Letter From Our Founders

A MESSAGE FROM ROSS AND ANDREW

Dear Friends of Your Golf Travel,

As we celebrate the 20th anniversary of Your Golf Travel, it's incredible to reflect on how much has changed in the world of golf travel since we first started this journey together. From humble beginnings - just the two of us sharing a phone in a bedroom office - to becoming the world's largest golf travel company with a team of over 250 across offices in London, Brighton, Scotland, Ireland, Portugal, Turkey as well as the USA, it's been an amazing adventure, and we're only just getting started!

When we launched YGT, Portugal and Spain were already firm favourites among travelling golfers, and they remain as popular as ever. However, we've seen new areas rise to the challenge. The Lisbon region, with new standout courses like the Dunas Course at Terras da Comporta and West Cliffs, is now rivalling the Algarve's long-held dominance. Similarly, in Spain, while the south continues to shine, fantastic options further north such as Camiral Golf and Wellness are offering new experiences for city break-style golfing experiences around Girona, Barcelona and Madrid.

Further afield, destinations like Turkey, UAE, and Morocco have seen incredible investments, transforming them into true golfing powerhouses. Belek, in Turkey, in particular has emerged as a world-class hotspot, boasting a host stunning courses and 5-star luxury resorts within a small radius. Greece has also made its mark, with Costa Navarino establishing itself as a world-class golf resort with 4 championship courses. Andrew and I were thrilled to host our 2024 Founders Series Grand Final there and can't wait to return for an event next year.

Across the Atlantic, the USA remains the ultimate golfing destination, with its countless bucket-list courses attracting players from around the globe. From Pebble Beach to Augusta, Kiawah Island to Pinehurst, Bandon Dunes to Whistling Straits, Sawgrass to Bethpage and everything in between, the magic of American golf continues to captivate.

The landscape of professional golf has unexpectedly shifted in recent years with the introduction of LIV Golf - now golf fans have even more opportunities than ever to see the world's best players up close at some iconic venues. A side effect of this has made all four majors increasingly important.

Looking back at our journey, we've grown far beyond what we could have ever imagined. From a two-man operation to sending 4 million golfers away to over 30 countries and more than 4,000 destinations since our inception, it's been an incredible adventure.

This has been driven by our fantastic team of experts, and we're privileged to have a roster of ambassadors to add even more unrivalled knowledge to the company for our customers' benefit. The insight and passion of Lee Westwood, Darren Clarke, Suzann Pettersen and Chief Tuition Officer Simon Holmes enhance our offerings and help us deliver unforgettable experiences to our clients.

But none of this would be possible without you - our loyal customers. Your love for the game, your desire to explore new destinations, and your countless stories shared with us have been the true driving force behind our growth. We're grateful for your trust in us over the past two decades, and we look forward to many more years of helping you create unforgettable memories on and off the golf course.

As we look ahead, the future of golf travel has never been brighter. New destinations continue to emerge, and the sport we all love is growing in ways we couldn't have imagined 20 years ago. We can't wait to see where your next golf adventure will take you.

Here's to the next 20 years of fairways, friendships, and unforgettable experiences.

Best Wishes,

R. Marshall.

Simon Says...Play Your Best Golf!

World-famous golf coach and Sky Sports Golf analyst Simon Holmes shares his best tips for playing your best golf on holiday. And, in celebration of Your Golf Travel's 20th Anniversary, offers 20 lucky readers the chance to get their swing personally analysed by him!

When you're heading off to play golf abroad, especially on courses that are very different from what you're used to in the UK, there are a few things to keep in mind to make sure you play your best.

First off, remember that the warmer, more humid conditions can really affect your carry distances. For instance, if your 7-iron normally carries 135 yards back home, it might go up to 150 yards in these new conditions. So, it's a good idea to recalibrate your club selections as you go.

Also, be prepared for the rough to be a lot thicker and more challenging than what you're used to. If you find yourself in some heavy, lush rough, don't be afraid to play it safe - maybe grab a 9-iron instead of your usual 7-iron until you get a feel for how the ball comes out.

Lastly, keep an eye on the grain of the greens, especially in hotter climates. The grain can really influence how your ball moves, so take some time during practice to understand it.

The key is to give yourself a bit of time to adjust to the new environment and, most importantly, enjoy your golf holiday!

Now, how would you like the chance for me to take a look at your swing personally and advise you on what you need to work on to get those scores lower? To celebrate Your Golf Travel's 20th Anniversary, I'm going to randomly pick 20 readers to work with. All you need to do to be in with a chance of getting your swing analysed by me is to scan the QR code below and enter your details for free. Good luck!

Costa Navarino

Portugal

The popularity of Europe's golfing capital shows no sign of decreasing - in fact, there's more incredible opportunities for golfers to experience here than ever before.

It still is the case that when you think of golf holidays, you think of Portugal.

Of course, the Algarve, with its 40+ world-class courses, takes most of the headlines with its mix of legendary tracks like Vilamoura Old Course, Vale do Lobo Royal Course, Pine Cliffs, Quinta do Lago and Palmares Golf with breakout stars such as Monte Rei and Ombria Golf Course.

But the areas around Lisbon, such as Óbidos, Estoril and Cascais, have emerged out of the Algarve's shadow and are true golfing hotspots in their own right, set in stunning coastal locations overlooking the Atlantic. Any golfer that has sampled the delights of Praia D'El Rey, Oitavos Dunes, Troia, West Cliffs or Dunas Golf Course at Terras da Comporta, will be sure to agree.

With its temperate climate, spectacular golfing conditions, warm hospitality and world-class dining and entertainment, there are few better places to play golf than Portugal.

After decades of welcoming golfers to its shores, Portugal somehow continues to get better and better, with the Lisbon region now starting to rival the Algarve for quality golf.

There Are Golf Jobs, And There Are Golf Jobs...

OUR ALGARVE RESIDENTIAL RETURNED FOR A THIRD CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN 2024

What if your boss sent you to live and work in the Algarve for a month, with a schedule that includes playing world-class golf courses and experiencing the finest local hospitality? For the third year running, Your Golf Travel has done exactly that, sending four lucky golf travel experts on a month-long immersion in one of Europe's top golf destinations.

This year, Glenn Stevenson, Bradley Allmark, James Edwards, and Max Lee-Sang were chosen through a competitive interview process to spend four weeks in the Algarve, living and breathing everything the region has to offer. Organised in collaboration with the Algarve Tourist Board, this year's programme was extended by an extra week, giving the team even more time to deepen their knowledge of the area.

While in the Algarve, the team played a handpicked selection of the best courses, including Monte Rei, Vale do Lobo, Amendoeira, Pestana Gramacho, Palmares, and Quinta de Ria. It wasn't just about the golf, though - they also got to experience the region's exceptional hospitality, staying at the finest hotels and enjoying a host of local excursions.

For the first time, Premier Golf, our US-based sister company, joined the programme, with Senior Golf Travel Specialist Kara Guthrie on hand to broaden the team's understanding of the region, as the Algarve continues to grow in popularity among US golfers.

We're incredibly proud of our Algarve Residential. It's a money-can't-buy experience that gives our team unparalleled knowledge of one of the world's most popular golf destinations. This expertise translates directly into better service for our customers, helping us create unforgettable golf holidays.

From playing iconic courses to building relationships with local partners, our experts return with first-hand insights that are passed directly onto our customers. Whether you're planning your first trip to the Algarve or a return visit, you can trust that our team has the first-hand experience to make your next golf holiday truly exceptional.

The 2025 Ryder Cup

Bethpage Black Course, New York, USA | 25th - 28th September 2025

Following the barnstorming European triumph on Italian soil in 2023, Luke Donald's European team will be looking to become the first since 2012 to win away from home. And you can be there to witness it for yourself. Will Rory, Rahmbo, Fleetwood, Hovland and co repeat their heroics to bring the trophy home? Or will the supremely talented US team get back to winning ways in front of their home fans?

There's no better location for this battle. Bethpage Black Course - around 1.5 hours outside of Manhattan - is listed in the Top 100 Courses in the World, and is considered one of the hardest too. Having hosted the US Open in 2002 and 2009 (when only five players broke par), as well as the PGA Championship in 2019, its narrow fairways, huge greens and nasty rough are sure to test the best players on the planet.

And away from the tournament grounds, you'll have time to explore the neverending joys of the Big Apple. We don't know who will win, but one thing is for sure: we'll be there with hundreds of Your Golf Travel customers having the time of their lives.

As with all our tournament packages, you'll get more than just entry to Bethpage. Accommodation, transfers, golf days, exclusive parties and much more all take your Ryder Cup experience to the next level.

Thought the Ryder Cup couldn't get any better? Think again.

You'll never forget the experience. Trust me. See you in New York!
