Wood Grain Effects & Colours

Composite board railings are an effective, low maintenance alternative to wood for your railings. Composite boards have numerous advantages over traditional timber, primarily being the fact that they will not degrade over time. We offer our customers a range of composite board colours (shown above), all of which have an embossed wood grain effect that looks and feels like traditional solid wood.

Utilising composite boards for your railings provides a strong, long lasting and modern alternative to traditional wood or metal railings. These boards require minimal maintenance and are the perfect solution for residential and commercial applications, making a vibrant, long-lasting product that won't rot, warp or splinter and do not require gluing, treating or painting.
