The MacEwan House - Palms Springs

VIOSKI HOMES

The MacEwan House is a mid-century–influenced retreat nestled in the desert. At the heart of the home lies a soaring great room where living and dining are above, offering the perfect vantage point to stargaze from the comfort of a rooftop deck.

Encircling the great room, full-height curtains can be drawn to enclose the space for a more intimate, plain fun.

The home is thoughtfully laid out to encourage gatherings of all kinds. The great room stretches out toward the valley below, inviting you to take in the view. The open floor plan gives the sense you are hovering above the valley while still being grounded.

The grounds are planted with native palms and succulents, designed to thrive and grow in the wild oases of Palm Springs, offering dappled shade, gentle breezes, and a courtyard—appears as a fountain, with its low, curved edge lending a sense of movement.

As the evening settles in and the desert breeze stirs the palm trees with a gentle sway, the mid-century design, made for living beautifully.
