Leath Na hOibre, (Community Quilt)

Free event - Saturday & Sunday - The Anglers Rest Hotel

During the Something In The Water festival in 2024, local textile artists Ester Kiely, with the help of the Headford Community, created an incredible community quilt. This beautiful work of art is testament to the community spirit of the town, and can be admired all weekend, but not during performances in the venue.

Sarah Martyn - 'Voices of the Land'

Free Event - Saturday & Sunday - St. Fursa's Parish Hall

The work of local visual artist, Sarah Martyn, captures the vibrant colours and intricate details of the natural world, through paintings of flowers and landscapes that invite views to engage intimately with nature. Her more abstract works, Paintings from Flooded Lands, consider the destructive and regenerative aspects of floods, as natural phenomena, which have their own beauty.

This exhibition also includes a collaboration with the community, where audiences will be invited to collaborate on the creation of communal artwork, by helping with the colouring of a print wallpaper of the artists drawings, thus reflecting the collective creativity and vision of the community.

PCH Photography Exhibition - Free Event -
Friday, Saturday & Sunday - Tesco Window

Local P.C.H. students come together to showcase some of their best loved pieces of photography, some taken on the phone, others on their much loved cameras from home! From farm animals to their love of nature, their range of photos will be displayed during the festivities to show off the creativity and vision of young people today.

Brickeens, by Headford Lace Project -
Free Event - Saturday & Sunday - St. Fursa's Parish Hall

This project was inspired by Headfords location as a gateway town to Connemara and the Joyce Country and Western Lakes Geopark. Headford is situated near the shores of Lough Corrib and famous for its trout-fishing. Breac is the Irish word for trout and a small trout is a bricín. Locals also refer to trout in English as Brickeens.

In July 2025 Australian Visual Artist, Mary Elizabeth Barron visited Headford Lace Project to deliver an artist talk, a bobbin lace community engagement workshop and a masterclass using recycled plastic as thread. Mary guided locals and visitors through some simple large-scale bobbin lacemaking techniques to create a series of speckled brickeens.

Plastic bread bags recycled by local businesses were used as our thread.

Mary's work aims to highlight the plight of plastics in the world's oceans and waterways. Headford Lace Project will display these colourful brickeens made by members of the community at 'Something in the Water'.

Sticks and Stones and Bones by Kathleen
Mc Mahon - Free Event - St. Fursa's Parish Hall

This exhibition is an exploration of our connectivity to nature through cultural heritage, using raw linen, bone, hazel wood, granite and flint.

Exhibition, by Faya Harnesse
Free Event - Saturday & Sunday - The Home Place Café

Faya Harnesse is a 16 year old emerging visual artist, who expresses herself through collages created from the things that inspire her – music, film, and the people around her.

Originals Only - Saturday 4th October - The Anglers Rest Hotel - 9:30pm

An evening celebration of local musical and songwriting talent,

James Biggins is from The Neale in Co. Mayo. He's a singer/songwriter who also plays guitar and harmonica to accompany his songs about grief, relationships and life!

Joe Costello has always had an urge to write original material, whether in bands or in creative writing. More recently, he has started to concentrate on solo pieces as a singer-songwriter, writing about love and injustice with equal passion.

Ailish Laffey has performed with many different groups, crossing a variety of genres, all the while working away on writing her own material in the background. This will be her first ever performance of her original music.

Ava Merrigan is a young singer-songwriter and musician from Galway, who has been singing and playing music for as long as she can remember. Her passion for music is evident in the songs she's bringing to this evening, about remembering childhood, and love.

Cathy Shannon is an Irish Indonesian singer-songwriter based in Headford. Passionate about creating space for others to showcase their talents, she hosts the monthly open-mic at Campbell's Tavern and the songwriters open mic at Monroe's in Galway. Her own music genre is called 'folk with tears and giggles.'

Amráin Muige Seola - Sunday 5th October -
The Angler's Rest Hotel - 5:00pm

Taking a 1923 published collection of local songs, 'Amhran Mhuige Seoladh' as their starting point, this performance will focus on the original arrangements of some of the traditional ballads, penned by local songwriters and collected by Eileen Costello (1902-1918), that capture life in our town over a century ago.

The songs themselves are rarely played, and at risk of fading from living memory, and becoming lost or extinct.

Fortunately, we have Brid Dooley, Nicola Joyce, Fabian Joyce, Orlaith Keane, Niamh Ni Ruiseil, Aoibheann O'Flaherty and Eoin Wynne, with Mairead Berrill, Matthew Berrill of Headford Music Works, here to perform, and breathe new life into these songs, in an early evening performance that is guaranteed to make you smile.

Con Tempo - Sunday 5th October -
St. Fursa's Parish Hall - 6:30pm

MusicConnects, formerly known as Galway Music Residency, is a music residency programme deeply rooted in the rhythm of Galway, bringing inspiring music and musicians into the heart of everyday life. Through their work with ConTempo Quartet, their long term resident artists, and collaborations with local and national musicians, they connect Galway audiences to music, to each other and to the pressing issues of our time. In 2025, they are exploring Nature and Ecology through music, celebrating and bringing awareness to the flora, fauna and ecosystems that surround us. The October programme presented here explores Birds, their flight, their song and their surroundings. Enjoy music from Haydn, Dvořák, Edward Cowie, Hilary Kleinig and the Irish Premiere of Taking Flight by Jane O'Leary.

Under Milkwood- Friday 3rd & Saturday 4th
October - St. Fursa's Parish Hall - 7:00pm

Headford Actors Workshop is delighted to bring Dylan Thomas' Under Milk Wood to the stage as part of the Something in the Water Arts Festival. This community ensemble of adult performers, based in Headford, Co. Galway, was founded to provide creative opportunities for local people to explore acting, voice, and stagecraft.

Directed by Marcus Wynne, with musical direction by Mairéad Berrill and cello soloist Naomi Berrill, this lyrical "play for voices" invites the audience to wander through the dreams, secrets, and stories of the villagers of Llareggub.

Headford Actors Workshop celebrates collaboration, creativity, and community, and is proud to contribute to the vibrant cultural life of Headford.

Double Bill: Where The Old Man Lives & Muck - Sunday 5th
October - The Angler's Rest Hotel- 8.00pm

In association with Maglite Films and Red King Productions, we are delighted to bring you two incredible short films with a local interest.

'Where The Old Man Lives' is an award winning short film written by Ruaidhri Hallinan & co/wrote along with Eamonn Keane, starring Michael Harding, Ruth McCabe and Michael Patric . It tells the story of an old man, living in fear and isolation, who risks everything to protect himself from dangerous intruders.

The second short film of the evening, 'Muck' featured in Galway Film Fleadh's Best of the West selection in 2025. It's a dark folk horror piece written and directed by Barra Convery, produced by Ruaidhri Hallinan, and filmed in March of 2025 in Ballycurrin House.

The evening will also feature a short questions and answers session with Glencorrib resident, Ruaidhri Hallinan, who began writing for screen during 2020, and writer/director Barra Convery.
