ANDREAS KYPRIANOU

A gift can be a daunting task, but also a wonderful experience. A study finds that spending money on others promotes happiness. The good feelings you may experience from giving someone a gift they love may also last longer than spending money on ourselves. A few things to keep in mind, if you want to follow the gift etiquette: -Gifts should be tied to their meaning not necessarily their value. -Spend more on others than yourself -Gift cards can be a good thing -Think like the one who will receive the gift. This year, we have decided to help you even more to navigate our gift offering. Whether you are looking for a gift for a romantic date, to make an impression to your future father-in-law, or to thank an esteemed collaborator, we have made it easier for you! If you know what you want though, we have a section with a feature on each wine region. Last but not least, you can always pass by or call us, we are here to serve!

WINES TO CELEBRATE

Champagne and celebration go hand to hand, historically it has been associated with luxury and the parties of the royal courts and aristocracy of Europe.

It has launched countless ships, sealed countless weddings, and been around countless New year's resolutions. Champagne is festive by nature with its bubbles, and when you pop the cork (even if etiquette does not recommend it, what's more fun than popping the cork?).

Think of other bubbly alternative too such as Prosecco, Cava, and Vouvray which are great bubbly alternative to Champagne.

DINNER PARTY WINES

What wine to pick for your dinner party?

Start with the size of the company, and expect for each guest to drink about 3 glasses of wine. Think magnum (1,5L), double-magnum (3L), or even bigger. Large-format bottles are not only handy, they are part of a show.

Then, you'll have to pick crowd-pleasing bottles to satisfy different palates and complement the meal.

An easy tip is to have the wine matching the style of the cuisine: Italian for pasta, Argentinian or Australian for a barbecue.

About the budget, it's entirely up to you, but no need to spend a lot of money, good quality and affordable wine can complement your food perfectly.

Put up a show, it's time to get your decanters out and to use different wine glasses: tulip style glasses for the sparkling wine, medium-sized wine glasses for the white wines, and a large wine glass with a broader surface area for the reds.

Did you know that wine bottles can be great investments? However, what makes a wine collectible?

The below is not a rule, but it can be useful to start with the 3 Ps'

Like most other collectibles, the market dynamics are complex. But it's useful to start with 'the three Ps': production volumes, producer reputation and provenance

To this, there is Appellatio, Vintage, and Limited edition.

LOW INTERVENTION WINES

Low-intervention wine, or minimal intervention wine, is a type of wine made with minimal interference from the winemaker. The goal of low-intervention winemaking is to allow the natural flavors and characteristics of the grapes to shine through, without the use of additives or excessive manipulation.

GREECE

In the ancient world, Greece was once one of the foremost producers of wine. However, in contrast to the country's important wine heritage, modern Greek wines are only recently reaching the rest of the world. However, Greece is catching up fast, with some being showcased in the wine lists of top Michelin Stars around the world.

ΟΙΝΟΥ ΣΟΦΙΑ

Με το φεγγάρι οδηγό, στού Αιγαία το πέλαγος ταξίδεψε
για της Νεμέας τα εύφορα χώματα.
Ρίζωσε, κι άκουσε τη βροχή
ενός μύθου αλλιώτικου απ' τον δικό της.
Κι ύστερα βυθίστηκε στις σιναλάσπες
μιας ήσυχης σιωπής.
Και τ' όνομα αυτής, Σοφία...
Του οίνου τ' αποτύπωμα

CYPRUS

One of the most ancient producers of wines in the world - archeological evidence suggests that winemaking on the Mediterranean island may have existed as many as 6000 years ago. Well known for its sweet dessert wine Commandaria, Cyprus gains to be known for wines produced from its indigenous grape varieties, untouched by phylloxera and its unparalleled terroir due to its Troodos ophiolite.

TEΘYS

For the last fifteen years, we have been importing wines from all over the world and always focusing on the local grapes and traditions of each winery we represent. Now it is clear to us, that we need to channel our energy into promoting the uniqueness of Cyprus and the potential of our ancient soils and the well adapted indigenous varieties of our island.

Tethys wines is an aspiring project focusing in single vineyard wines from unique vineyards in the Pitsilia and Krasohoria area.

Every year, we select and harvest the best of the best grapes resulting in producing what is called “vintage” wine. This is why you will not enjoy the same wine from year to year, but get a unique flavor profile, based on the grapes harvested from that particular year.

The origin of our name - TeΘys (Tethys):

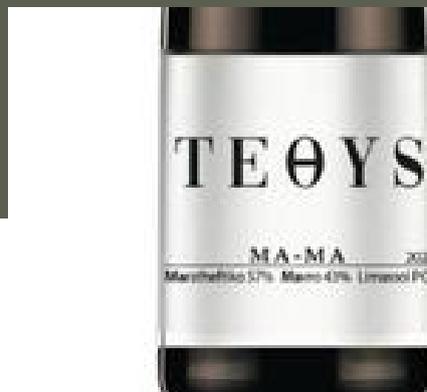

Our name pays homage to the ocean TeΘys and is a reference to how Cyprus was formed.

Indeed, the Troodos Ophiolite Complex that gave birth to the island of Cyprus, was formed 90 millions years ago, on the TeΘys sea floor.

BORDEAUX

Bordeaux Wines are world-renowned blends and ones of the most copied around the world. Predominantly it includes Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot but also Cabernet Franc, Petit Verdot and Malbec, with tiny amount of Carménère. Vintage variance is particularly important for Bordeaux wines. Cellar-worthy vintages can surge in value over generations.

Bordeaux has three main styles: Left-Bank blend (Cabernet Sauvignon dominant), Right-Bank blend (Merlot dominant) and White blend (Semillon and Sauvignon Blanc).

The range of corporate values is embodied in the orange label, a winning chance launched by Piccini in 2002.

The company ventured where others would not: transforming Chianti, one of the most conservative Italian wines, into a young and dynamic wine, proving its capacity for innovation and continuous dynamism.
