SYNOPSIS

"Help! Can You Hear Us? - Navigating Societal Fault Lines with Children" is a deeply personal account of Vidya Shankar Chakravarthy's life and work with children, as narrated to biographer Vasanti Sundaram.

Founder of Relief Foundation, Vidya has worked closely with some of the most vulnerable children in our society – those in conflict with the law and those in need of care and protection. Drawing from her experience within government –run juvenile homes in Tamil Nadu, as well as her roles in the Juvenile Justice System, the book offers rare, firsthand insights into the lives of children who often slip through society's cracks.

Written from the perspective of a civilian stakeholder deeply engaged with the Juvenile Justice System, this work invites readers to look beyond labels and statistics, and to confront the human realities of childhood, vulnerability, and justice.
