Ripples of Hope: How a Mother's Journey Created Generational Change

When Mariana left an unhealthy marriage, she had little more than a car and her two children – an 8-year-old son and a 4-year-old daughter. She had a job and was a hard worker, but she still struggled to find a path forward. For months, her family lived doubled up with a friend of hers. Then, she found Bridge Communities.

"It was very rough," Mariana recalled. "We didn't take much. We just had a car." But acceptance into Bridge Communities marked the beginning of a new chapter.

While Mariana worked with her mentors on budgeting and career development, her children found stability in their new home. "My children's lives completely turned around at Bridge. They loved it, and they loved the neighborhood," she said. Bridge connected her kids with counseling, educational support and more.

With guidance from Bridge staff and mentors, Mariana set and achieved ambitious goals: paying off her car, finalizing her divorce, and becoming a homeowner. Their support also helped her secure a promotion at her company, building a stronger financial foundation for her family.

"I was thankful - very, very thankful - because I could see my kids smile, and it's not about the things. It's about how happy they were."

By the time she left the Bridge program, Mariana's family was ready to achieve what was once so far out of reach. Today, she owns her own home. Her children are thriving in school. She was promoted to a managerial position at work, and she's built the stable, joy-filled life she always wanted.

"Stick to your dreams because they do come true," Mariana advised current Bridge families.

"My dream came true. I have a better job, a home for my family, a car, and I'm able to provide for my kids."

Like so many of the more than 1,000 families Bridge has served, Mariana's journey hasn't just transformed her own family – it has created ripples of positive change that will influence generations to come. Her children are better set up for success, her accomplishments inspire current Bridge families, and her story demonstrates the profound impact of community support.

Dear friends,

1,000 families! You did it – you helped us reach this incredible milestone. I am filled with gratitude and deeply honored that you have entrusted us to serve over 1,000 families facing homelessness. Each of these families represents not just individual success stories but countless ripples of positive change flowing throughout DuPage County. Each family's achievements in education, career growth, housing stability, and self-sufficiency has woven new strength into our community. Their transformation began with a single act of strength to reach out for help, and I thank you for being there when they needed you most.

Bridge's mission has always focused on breaking the generational cycle of poverty and homelessness for all families regardless of their original circumstances. In 2024, we deepened our culture of belonging through staff and mentor trainings and evolution of our communication materials and HR practices. We also added client alumni voices to our feedback loops to provide invaluable lived experiences to our decision making. This work represents our commitment to creating spaces where everyone belongs and feels valued; it builds upon our already steadfast organizational values: Partnership, Hope, Integrity, Respect, and Empowerment.

When families enter our program, they receive much more than shelter. They benefit from mentoring, employment coaching, children's services, and gain the tools to build permanent stability. Thanks to compassionate supporters like you, families who enter Bridge break the cycles of homelessness and poverty for future generations. Your generosity is not just changing lives today but building a stronger, more resilient community for tomorrow. Thank you for your commitment and partnership in this life-changing work.

With gratitude for you,
Amy Van Polen
Chief Executive Officer, Bridge Communities
