DIFCO
TRUST THE DIFFERENCE

The founders decided to turn our company into joinery factory rather than to get into the fit-out business, as they felt that the local market demands more joinery suppliers. In 2015, the founders restructured the company, gave it a new name, added investors to support the fit-out division and started a supportive division to the joinery factory. Due to the market demands the company decided to expand the fit-out division. Due to the global recession in 2008, the founders decided to switch the company activities back to the joinery factory till the global economy situation settle down. the founders decided to develop and invest in the fit-out division once again. We rebranded the company and set a new strategy for the fit-out division.

The name Design Interiors Fit Out Company was selected to reflect the company vision and target in the next decades. Professionals

As a young professional, you may think you can't lead or advance because of your youth or short tenure in your company.

In fact, youth and short tenure can be assets. Young professionals may not bring years of experience to a company, but they bring energy, exuberance, a fresh education and knowledge of new technologies that others in the company may not have. They also bring a fresh perspective - a new look at old problems. As a young professional, you can still be a leader even if you're not in a position of power. DIF has a group of wise and young professionals, helping the company make wise decisions with a spirit of young motivated professionals.

With DIF existence in the UAE market, the company founders were very keen to share the company business plan with so many professional employees, this was the reason for our clients to trust DIF and have the continuity of extending relationship.

Now, DIF has a strong professional team, ready to take the company to the next level.

Our HS&E policy aims to the followings:

- Create a culture that is intolerant of accidents and incidents.
- Moving safety to a core value rather than just one of a list of competing priorities.
- Make safety important, personal and real, such that it influences everyone's choices and actions.
- Treat legal compliance as the minimum acceptable standard.

Health&Safety.

A communications gap has kept environmental, population, and development assistance groups apart for too long, preventing us from being aware of our common interest and realizing our combined power. Fortunately, the gap is closing.

We now know that what unites us is vastly more important than what divides us. We recognize that poverty, environmental degradation, and population growth are inextricably related and that none of these fundamental problems can be successfully addressed in isolation. We will succeed or fail together. Arriving at a commonly accepted definition of 'sustainable development' remains a challenge for all the actors in the development process.

Our commitment to sustainability has never been stronger. Designed using advanced environmentally friendly practices.
