UNIVERSITY GAMES

2025

Dear Friends of University Games,

This space is annually devoted to talking about the new consumer trends and new games and puzzles that we are introducing. I am going to do a bit of that—however, the major thrust of this letter to you is on the topic of CELEBRATION.

In 2025 University Games achieves the extraordinary benchmark of flourishing for 40 years in the toy industry as an independent company. On April 1, 1985 when Cris Lehman and I founded University Games we had no visions of where we would be 5 years later—so 40 years stretched far beyond our eyesight. We were in our twenties and just hoped we could get Murder Mystery Party off the ground and maybe make a few bucks. I secretly hoped that someday we could license a game to Parker Brothers or Milton-Bradley (we did with 20 Questions).

CELEBRATION: To our incredible team—in 40 years we have had hundreds of staff members in the US, England, the Netherlands, France, Belgium, Australia, New Zealand and Hong Kong. Do you remember Jeff Loeb, Jeff Pinsker, Vince Kurr, David Norman, Steve Peek, Connie Gee, John Herbert and Cherie Martorana Neve? Cris and I are so grateful for their hard work in the early years—as we are for the contributions of our amazing team today led by Richard Wells, Andrew McCosker, Greg Waples, Craig Hendrickson, Lee Ching, Ann Herrick, the Freres, Steve Burgess and Doug Cribelar. Oh yeah—and Jeff Pinsker and Connie Gee are still here too.

CELEBRATION: To our amazing supplier network who have built University Games behind the scenes. While all of our suppliers are deeply valued, I want to acknowledge two very long-time supporters of University Games: Michael Or of Longshore Limited and Sheung-Kai Tsoi of Easwell Industrial Ltd., who became our first two Chinese suppliers in 1994. Without their valued advice and encouragement we would not have made it 40 years. I also want to thank Kuni Kobayashi and Hideki Kamishita, who have helped University Games in recent years with the Hanayama cast puzzles and 3D Crystal Puzzles.

CELEBRATION: To our loyal and committed sales reps and agents. You are University Games' calling card to all of our customers.

CELEBRATION: To the game designers and inventors who bring us their great ideas. We wouldn't have Stupid Deaths, Dirty Words or Organ Attack without them.

CELEBRATION: This is the most important thank you of all. To our fantastic retail customers who have believed in us and our games for the past four decades. You have sold more than $2 billion worth of University Games products and more than 200 million games, puzzles, glowing stars and doodletops. WOW!

I beelined down the aisle and saw the same lady struggling to reach for the last bottle on the top shelf. Without hesitation, I quickly grabbed it and left.

...for not adding a co-worker on social media?

The next day, they cornered me about it! I explained my rule, and they were offended because they thought we were closer than that. I responded, playfully, "We are! This is standard practice—it's nothing personal."
