ABOUT OUR TEAS

Our Teas

We source tea and herbs from a variety of places. Some of our teas are pure from the source while others are custom blends that we create in-house. Our strength lies in blending delicious proprietary herbal wellness blends.

ORGANIC & NATURAL

We take pride that our teas are sourced from farms using sustainable and organic processes. While many of our teas are certified organic, many of the small farms we work with do not have the ability or financial resources to apply for certification. These teas are listed as 'natural' to assure you of the quality and care that was taken in the production of these teas. All of our flavoring also come from natural sources, never adding sweeteners or artificial ingredients. All teas are non-GMO, gluten free, and vegan.

"NO MATTER WHERE YOU ARE IN THE WORLD, YOU ARE AT HOME WHEN TEA IS SERVED"

WHAT IS TEA?

You may have heard the term 'true tea' but what exactly is it? True tea is defined by tea that comes one plant named Camellia Sinensis. From this one plant we can make several different types of tea (white, green, oolong, black, and pu'erh). True tea always contains some amount of caffeine, while herbal options (plants other than Camellia Sinensis) often have no caffeine with few exceptions.

BLACK TEA

SINGLE-ORIGIN

FLAVORED

Black tea is the most oxidized type of tea and contains the most caffeine out of oolong, green and white tea types. The varieties of black tea are named after the different regions where they are produced (eg. Darjeeling from West Bengal and Ceylon from Sri Lanka).

Processing: Black tea is made from tea leaves that are fully oxidized then heated and dried

Health benefits may include reducing the risk of stroke.

Black teas have a vast flavor profile from earthy, fruity, smoky or nutty based on a variety of factors including the growing climate and nearby plants and flowers, Based on each tea's notes, this bold drink can pair well with breakfast foods like eggs but also with meats and lemony desserts.

ASSAM

Bold, powerful black tea from the Assam region of India, this tea steeps to a dark, scarlet red with malty notes that makes it perfect for mixing with milk and sugar.

Ingredients: Single Origin Organic Black Tea from Assam, India.

CEYLON

Bright and lively, this "breakfast-type" Sri Lankan tea has citrus overtones with a full-body and medium astringency.

Ingredients: Single Origin Organic Black Tea from Sri Lanka.

DARJEELING

Sweet, tangy and lightly earthy black tea, aptly named the "Champagne of Teas" due to its low astringency and gentle roundness.

Ingredients: Single Origin Black Tea from Darjeeling, India.

GOLDEN MONKEY

Highly prized, this hand-processed black tea is characterized by its pale gold threading that resembles monkey claws. You'll find light, honeyed peach notes and a lack of astringency in this fine black tea.

Ingredients: Single Origin Black Tea from Yunnan, China.

KEEMUN

Chinese black tea with a smoky aroma and an earthy smooth flavor, the gentle, malty, non-astringent taste is reminiscent of unsweetened cocoa.

Ingredients: Single Origin Black Tea from Anhui Province, China.

LAPSANG SOUCHONG

This strong, polarizing black tea is smoke dried over a pine-wood fire, giving it notes of pine resin, smoked paprika, and peated whiskey.

Ingredients: Single Origin Black Tea from the Wuyi Mountains in Fujian, China.

RED AI

High mountain tea grow at 2000 meters on Ai Lao Shan in Zhenyuan area of Simao. Picked and processed only from the first flush of spring, this black tea is lightly oxidized and processed similar to Taiwanese black tea or Wu Yi Rock tea.

Ingredients: Single Origin Black Tea from Yunnan, China.

YUNNAN GOLD

Ingredients: Pu-Erh Tea, Strawberries, Cocoa Nibs, Natural Strawberry Flavor, Natural Creme Flavor, Natural Hazelnut Flavor.

GREEN TEA

SINGLE-ORIGIN

FLAVORED

Processing: Green tea is made of fresh unfermented tea leaves that are immediately heated to stop the oxidation process and then dried. The heating method is either by: pan-frying- which gives the leaves a more “grassy” taste or steaming- giving the leaves a more “vegetal” flavor.

Benefits: a high antioxidant count that combined with flavonoids also found in the tea can prevent skin damage, lower blood pressure improve blood flow, lower cholesterol, and improve bone strength. Containing some caffeine it can also be used as a stimulant.

Many green teas pair well with mild foods like leafy salads and chicken.

DRAGONWELL

Gentle, sweet, and nutty; this famous green tea has distinctly shaped leaves that are smooth and flattened along the inside vein of the leaf, a process perfected over thousands of years.

Ingredients: Organic Dragonwell Green Tea from Hangzhou in the Zhejiang province of China.

SENCHA

Japan's most popular green tea has a refreshing flavor that can be described as vegetal, green, seaweedy, or grassy. Distinct from Chinese green teas, Sencha leaves are first steamed which creates their thin, cylindrical shape.

Ingredients: Organic Sencha Tea.

WHITE PEONY

A sweet, mild Chinese tea made from unopened tea buds with a clean, sweet floral-fruit flavor.

Ingredients: Organic White Tea from Fujian, China.

Oolong Teas

SINGLE-ORIGIN

FLAVORED

Oolong tea ranges from lightly oxidized “green oolong” to medium and more roasted “dark” oolongs. Oolong is moderately high in caffeine, has many antioxidants, and its health benefits include; healthy skin, healthy bones, alertness and stress management.

Oolongs are complex in flavor and can be steeped multiple times. Thus they are best enjoyed on their own or after a large meal but can pair well with smoky foods and roasted vegetables.

Processing: Oolong tea is made from partially oxidized tea leaves originating in China or Taiwan. The leaves are handpicked in the winter or spring and then withered in the sun, placed in baskets and rolled and shaken to start the oxidation process. After the leaves dry out, they are fired and dried, which keeps the leaves partially oxidized- more than green tea but less than black tea.

IRON GODESS OF MERCY

An exquisite, lightly roasted organic oolong that brews an aromatic, clean, and bright cup with a full body and a light fruity sweetness that lingers.

Ingredients: Single Origin Oolong Tea from Fujian, China.

CREAM OOLONG

Ingredients: Single Origin Oolong Tea from Nantao, Taiwan.

ANXI OOLONG GOLDEN FLOWER

Grown at 600 meters above sea level in the misty mountains of Anxi County in Fujian, China, this is a rolled leaf, low oxidation oolong that offers sweet, floral notes of honeysuckle, osmanthus and a subtle creaminess.

Ingredients Single Origin Oolong Tea from Anxi County, China.

PEACH OOLONG

Like a succulent slice of peach, this fragrant and sweet oolong has little to no astringency and lingering floral aroma. Excellent hot or cold, this tea can be enjoyed all year long.

Ingredients: Dark Taiwanese Oolong, Apple Pieces, Marigold Flowers, Apricots, Natural Peach Flavor.

Chai Teas

BLACK TEA BASED

HERBAL TEA BASED

The original meaning of “chai” is “tea” in the Hindi language and “masala” means “spiced”. Dating back thousands of years in India, the traditional chai tea was just a blend of healing spices. When the British colonized the country, they added the Western combination of black tea, milk and sugar, transforming the simple “masala chai” into what we now describe as a “chai”.

Processing: Tea leaves or herbs are blended with a dried spice blend that may include: cinnamon, cardamom, black peppercorn, ginger and cloves.
Try using chai teas for cooking! For shortbread cookies, oatmeal, pie, muffins, or soup.

MASALA CHAI

Masala Chai translates to 'spiced tea' in Indian culture, and this blend stays true to its roots. You'll encounter a warm and inviting fragrance, balanced flavor, and a deep, aromatic finish.

Ingredients: Traditional Black Tea Spiced with Cardamom, Ginger Root, Cloves, Natural Cinnamon Flavor, Cinnamon Bark.

CINNAMON CHAI

Sweet and spicy, this caffeine-free classic keeps you warm and cozy all year long.

Ingredients: Organic Rooibos, Organic Cinnamon, Organic Ginger, Organic Clove.

ROOIBOS TEA

Red rooibos tea comes from the dried stems and leaves of a shrub plant only found in the mountains of South Africa. Rich in antioxidants that turn this tea into its signature red color rooibos is also naturally caffeine-free. Honeybush is a sibling of rooibos with a little sweeter, deeper flavor and honey-roasted taste.

Processing: Red Rooibos leaves and stems are dampened and fermented. During fermentation the leaves and stems are oxidized (and turn from green to dark red) and then dried. For green rooibos the leaves and stems are not let to ferment rather are immediately sun-dried. Green rooibos tea has higher antioxidant properties than red rooibos and has a more grassy flavor with delicate fruit notes.

Benefits: anti-inflammatory and antibacterial properties, rich mineral content, aids digestion, can reduce heart disease, lower cholesterol, stress and blood pressure and a good choice for diabetics.

TULSI TEA

Tulsi has been worshiped for centuries across the Indian subcontinent. High mineral and antioxidant content make this herb act as an adaptogen, a natural substance considered to help the body adapt to stress and to exert a normalizing effect upon bodily processes. Another well-known example is ginseng.

Studies have proven it to be a powerful anti-inflammatory, and immune system modulator, as well as an optimistic treatment for conditions such as, liver disease, arthritis, diabetes, and cancer. It's greatest benefit is known to be its remedial effect on the nervous system. Tulsi is a corticosteroid modulator, meaning that it has the ability to rid stress hormones that course through our bodies on the regular. While protecting against the degenerative effects of stress, it also repairs the body from past and present damage.

Tulsi is an excellent tea to unwind after a long day of work and stress, soothing and perfect mind-body balance. All teas listed here contain Tulsi Tea leaves.
