Kermytheology

Kermytheology is the study of the alternative form of organisms from the alternative dimension classified as the Parallel Universe. Residents of the parallel universe have a scientific name known as Ichnorapham (Eg-NO-ruh-fum), but they are best classified as monsters. Just monsters. There are many kindoms of monsters, each containing multiple species and classes of them. Each kingdom of monsters are very distinct from others. However, there is an important law that impacts both monsters and life.

Law of Souls

Every monster and living thing has a soul, excluding single-celled organisms. Souls appear as bright, ever burning flames. They do not hurt to the touch. They contain the personality, memories, and thoughts of the organism/monster, thus they are a very important necessity to both. There is a large distinction between a monster soul and a soul of the living. A soul of the living burns brighter than the monster soul, and has a more circular shape. The monster soul is much larger than the soul of the living. It burns brightly as well but it however remains barely transparent.

Souls do expose from the deceased, they are however not visible to the living eye. Despite so, most kingdoms of monsters have the ability to see souls. Some monsters consume souls as a source of energy. Some monsters may also resort to cannibalism. Shall we go over the kingdoms of monsters?

Kingdom Amassia

The most common, populated kingdom of monsters, Amassers have been known to collect souls from monsters and the living. They have long gathered souls from both monsters and the living for the use of finances, dining, and entertainment. They are valuable to Amassers. Amassers may even hunt down their own kind to collect souls. We will go over only one class of amassers, as well as a few other kingdoms (The rest are spoilers)

Yokai

The most common class of Amassers, with a class of thousands of species, Yokai are monsters that collect souls by deals, completing jobs, or simply by murder. Long have they been spoken of in mythology of the living. Yet actually, they are connected to the universe of the living.

Beginning at the 11th century of the year 1123, Yokai have been connecting with humans. Humans and Yokai mainly made contracts or recruitment. It was rare a Yokai just wanted to have a conversation or receive advice. Humans and Yokai were able to connect with alchemy. To summon a Yokai, a human had to draw a pentagon using their own blood. A yokai would then emmitt a surrounding arua to prevent other humans from witnessing. Most of the contracts resulted in the human losing their mortality, or perhaps their soul. Many humans began to interact with Yokai. Most humans thought it was only them negotiating. However, during the 17th century, humans began to lose belief in Yokai. The long lasting tradition ended as Yokai were only a myth to humans, thus the Yokai gave up on waiting to be summoned.

Kingdom Spiritua

Another common kingdom of monsters, Spirits are monsters without souls. They consume souls of both monsters and the living for energy. Any other source of food will not digest. Spirits come in many different forms. They have no respiratory system, despite so, they can still communicate with other monsters.

Shikigami

Shikigami, the natural enemy of Yokai, have been known to hunt Yokai and feast on their souls. The spelling and pronunciation of Shikigami sounds similar to Shinigami, the Demon of death (Will be explained later), so careful not to get them confused.

Phantom

A less common monster, Phantom are previously deceased humans. Most humans don't become a Phantom, however. Phantom cannot be seen by humans nor monsters. They are physical, although deceased. Because of this, they often befuddled the living by pulling tricks on them Phantom caused the ghost phenomenon. They can be sent hell (technically where they are supposed to be) by a ritual.

Back To Souls

Souls are the main powerhouse of the body. Souls of the living manage and control the organism, The soul of the living main job is to keep the organism alive. There is a difference on how the soul of the living and monster soul work. A monster soul takes the jobs of primary job of organs.

A monster soul emits wavelengths to keep the blood flowing throughout the body. The monster soul has complete control over the body.

MONSTER

SOUL OF THE
LIVING

Souls, both the soul of the living and the monster soul, glow a bright cyan.

Yet there is ONE type of soul we will go over that doesn't glow this color.

Witches

No, folks, this is not a sandwich.

Rare to be seen, Witches are monsters with mana. They only appear as bipedal, you'll probably never see a witch with four legs. All witches are based on a certain animal of the living, they have the ability to transform into that animal. Witches formed an organization in which they group together, for the basis of taking on challenges the group may face.

Witches may ALSO appear in many different forms. Most witches look relative to their based animal. Others may look somewhat human. A witch soul is not very different from a monster soul. Yet it contains all mana a witch may have. Shockingly, they have adapted to live without their soul. Witches wear a special designed hat to resemble their organization.

Essence

The law of Zodiac, is the law that most life and monsters have a soul essence based on their spirit animal. Spirit animals are based on the personality on the organism. Animals other than cats, dolphins, and obviously humans do not have a zodiac based essence, thus animal essence is only a light. A witch has the essence of her based animal. Shikigami, because they do not have souls, do not have an essence, but they still emit a presence (Also zodiac based). Phantoms do not have essence nor a presence. Witches and Nekomada (Species of Yokai) have the ability to see soul essence and presence.

Well, looks like we got through Kermytheology.

However, there's still more to be gone over.

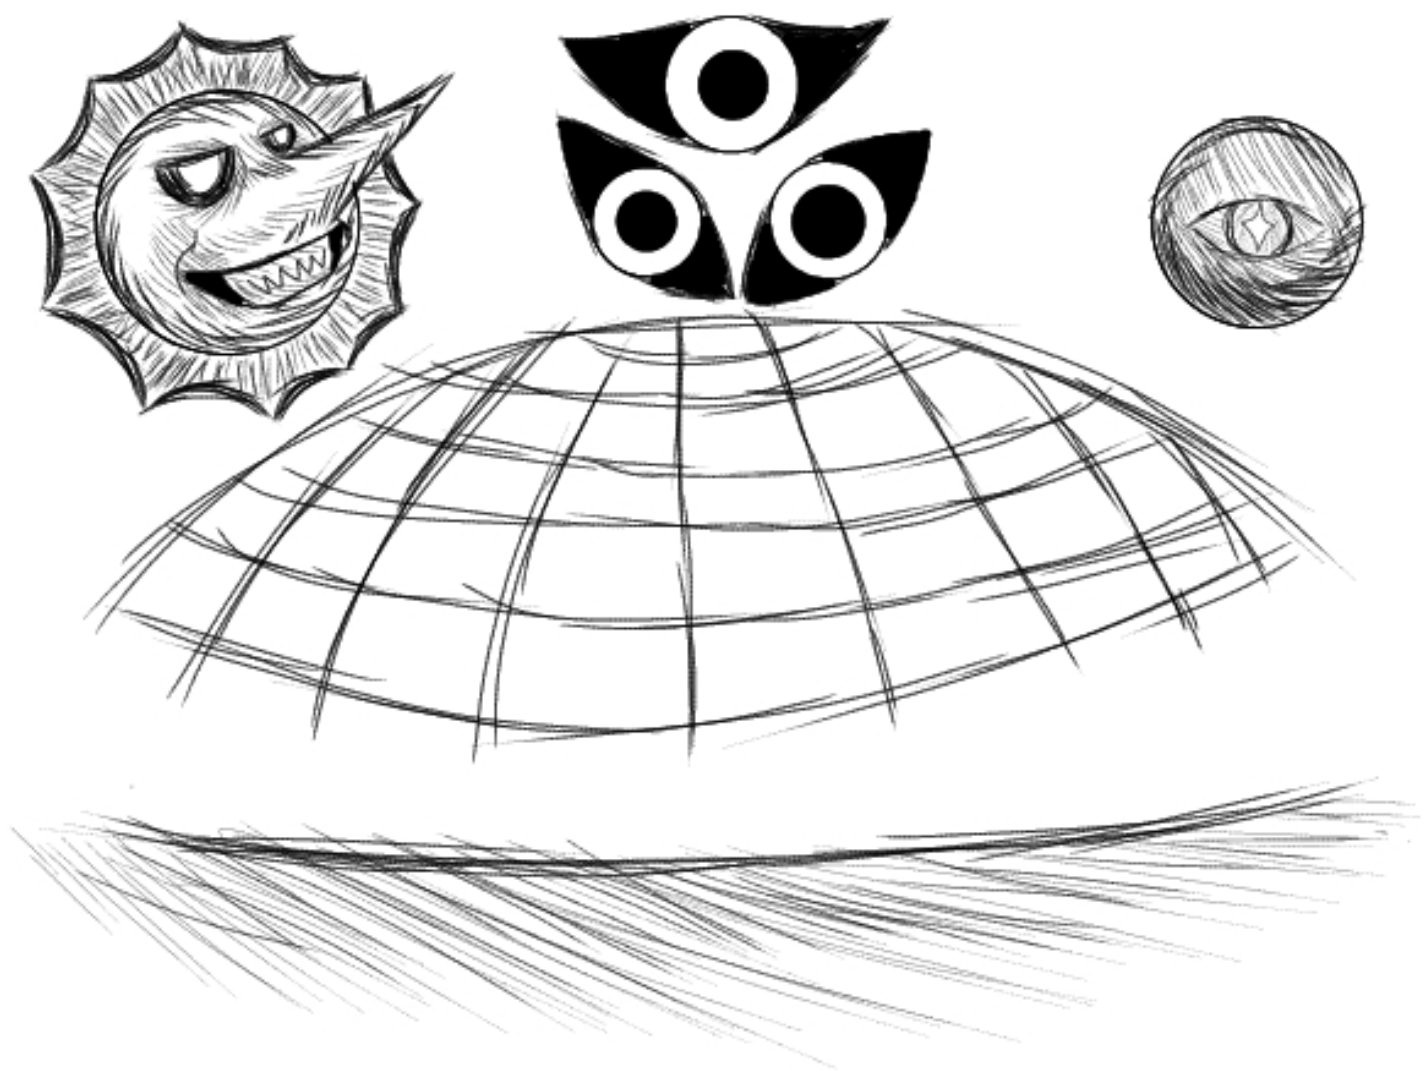

On to the Parallel Universe.

The Parallel universe is the alternative universe to to universe of the living. The primary habitat of Ichnorapham, the Parallel Universe however consists of no planets. It's a vast, endless field.

A blue barrier surrounds the field.

Among the field are the Sun, Moon, and Sky.

Yet, those aren't just ordinary things.

The Sun, Moon, and Sky...

Are Demons.

It's best for me to stop talking before I spoil the series...

Before you even think about reading the comic, now you gotta watch me eat this

Just go on. Pretend what you saw never happened.

Now I do warn the artwork of chapters 1-6 aren't the best, they are old.

CHAPTER 1

The Contract!
The Death of a Couple?

August 23, 1958

CRASH

At that very night,
The couple were discovered dead in the accident,
Their blood covered bodies were removed from the badly damaged car.
Their freshly deceased bodies were examined,
same with the other driver,
who was highly intoxicated before the crash.
The drunk driver was found to have fallen asleep while driving.
The son of the couple,
Ruth Valacent,
recieved a call the same night of the death of his parents.
After learning of the incident,
Ruth, who was aware of the tradition,
originating from the the 11th century,
was determined to resurrect his parents,
despite contact to the Parallel Universe being thought to be a myth.
He knew few of the names of the ancient monsters humans once met,
as humans were aware of Yokai,
yet however did not believe in their existence.
Few Yokai have been known to the world as mythical creatures,
some of their structure was predicted from mythology.
Yet, there was a specific Yokai Ruth had attempted to summon.
The Yokai's name is Tenkohashi.

Tenkohashi,
I summon you!

Call me Tenko.

TENKOHASHI
Soul Dealer

MEH
MEH
MEH

Are you positive that you want to form this contract?

In return, I shall have your mortality...

So be it...

In that case, I shall obtain your body.

F'WOOM

*There's no going back as of now. Once the contract has been made, it shall remain forever
unchanged.*

In order to perform the spell, I we need to collect one hundred yokai souls. The spell has been known to summon a being that has the capability of bringing desires to reality. If we can summon it, it will be sure to resurrect your parents.

There is a difference between yokai and shikigami. They emit different energy auroras.

I'm telling you this now because shikigami do not have souls. However, they do prey on the souls of yokai, thus they are never a good sign. It is nearly impossible to sense them, in fact, only Bakeneko and Nekomata have the ability capable of tracking them down. They can kill an averaged yokai like you in mere seconds, so I'd watch your back if I were you. Not to mention, souls appear as a harmless, ever-burning flame. Pay attention as a yokai's body fades, expelling the soul. Then grab it fast. Shikigami will snatch any fresh soul, and devour your kill.

Now that you are aware of the risks, It's time for us to take off and gather souls in the spiritual dimension.

CHAPTER 2

First Encounter!
The Shikigami's fury?

Well, here we are. The spiritual dimension.

As you can see, the spiritual dimension lacks of a difference than the universe of the living. Despite there is harshly a distinction between the spiritual plantae and your universe's plantae kingdoms by their structure, instead of absorbing the energy of the sun, spiritual flora feed off of the energy of the living.

I can sense something... yet I can't get a sense of it's soul. It's probably just some shikigami.

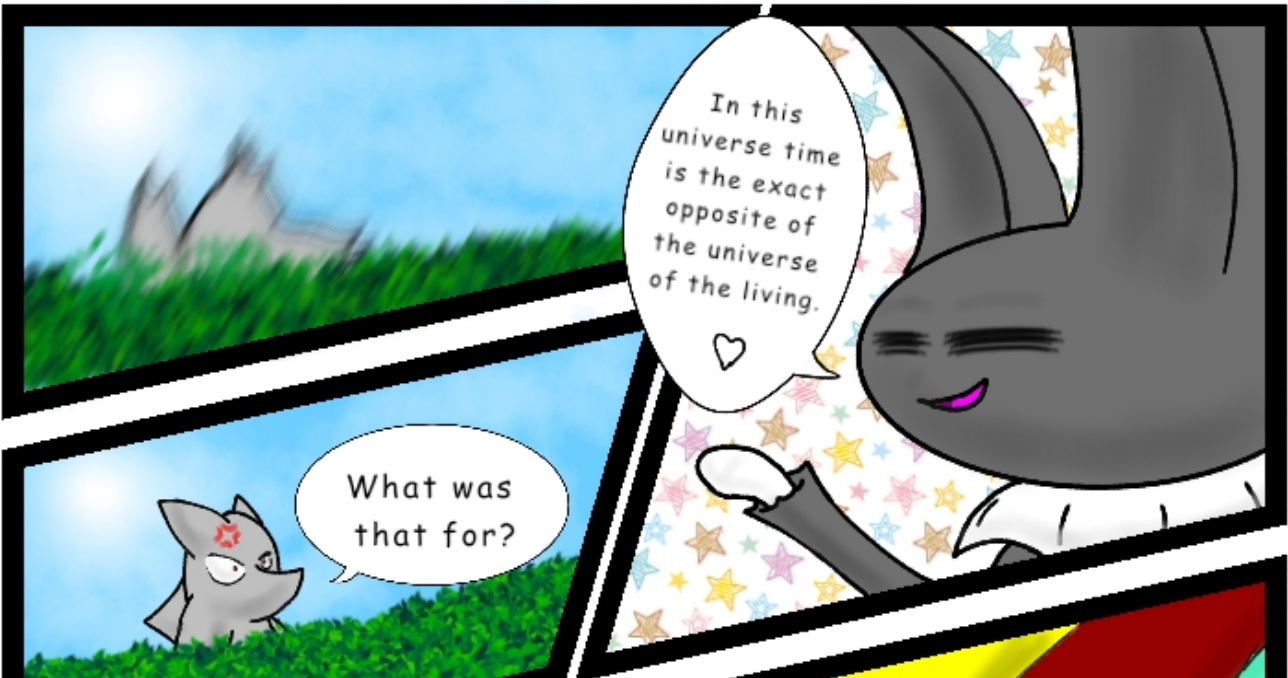

Truely disgusting creatures, lacking of manners.

CHAPTER 3

Stand Off!
The Mysterious Monster's Search?

Where is Death?

You've gotta be more specific here! But I ain't got time for questions as of now!

8:56 PM, nearly two hours since Tenko and Ruth encountered the Amasser

CHAPTER 4

Death Moon!
The Legend of the Demon?

A soul? Must be fresh. If anything, any shikigami could have come and gobbled it up in mere minutes after the yokai died. There's something over here, and it ain't something good.

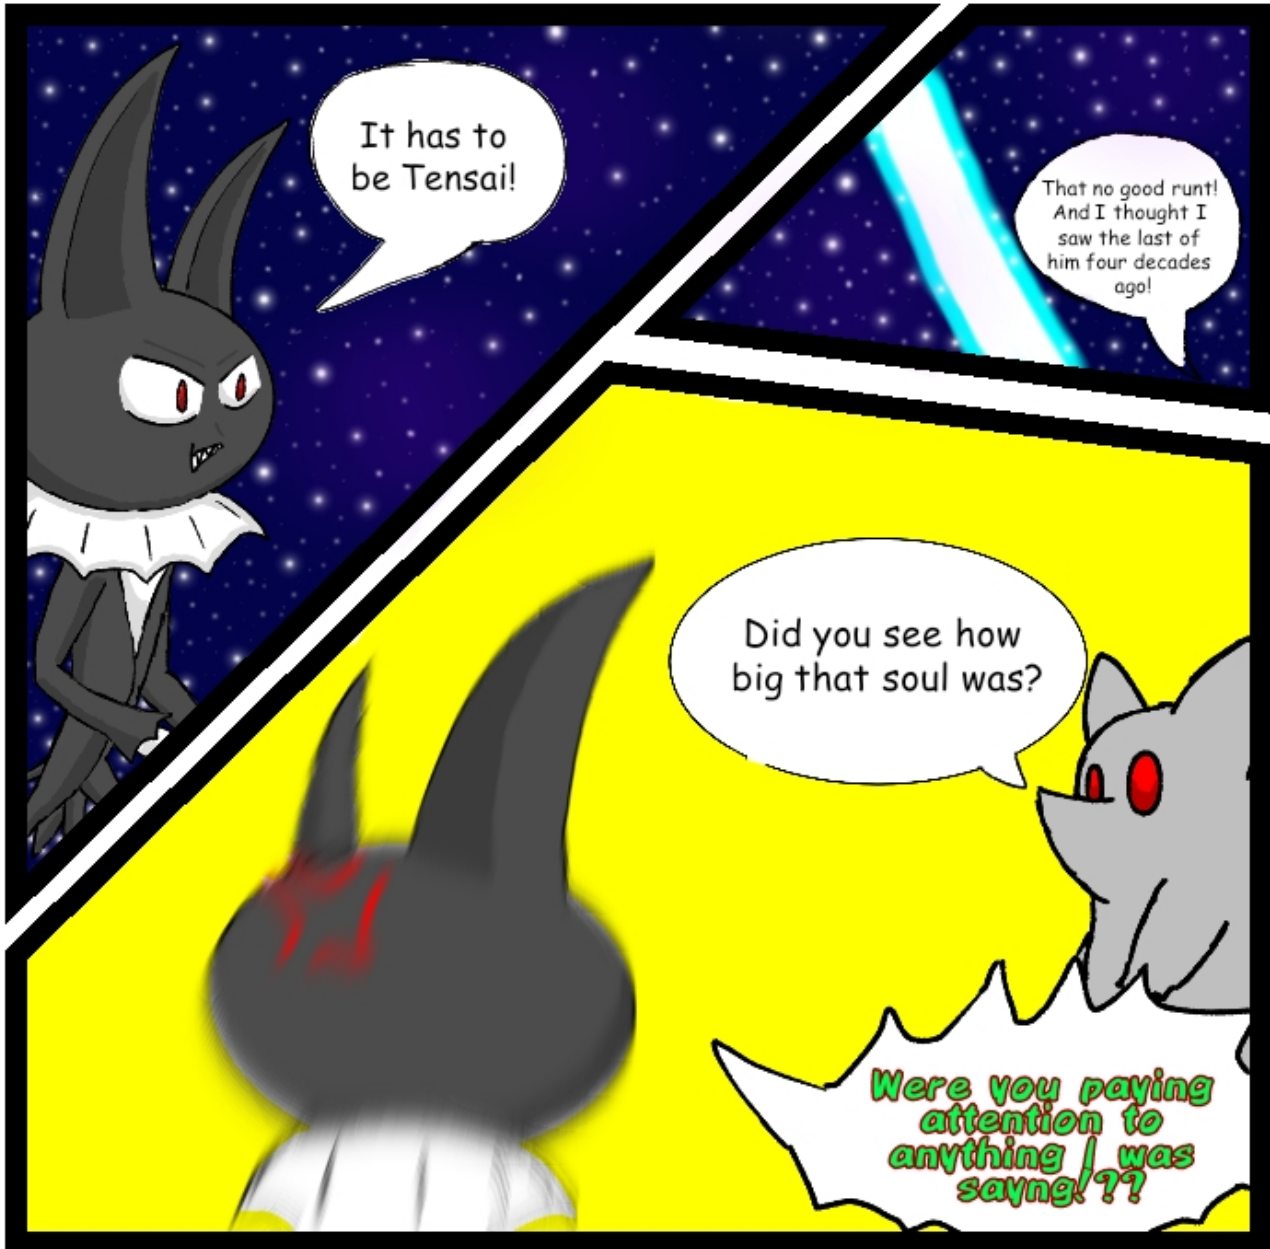

That beam of light! I know it! This could only mean one thing!

Free takes!

It has to be Tensai!

That no good runt! And I thought I saw the last of him four decades ago!

Did you see how big that soul was?

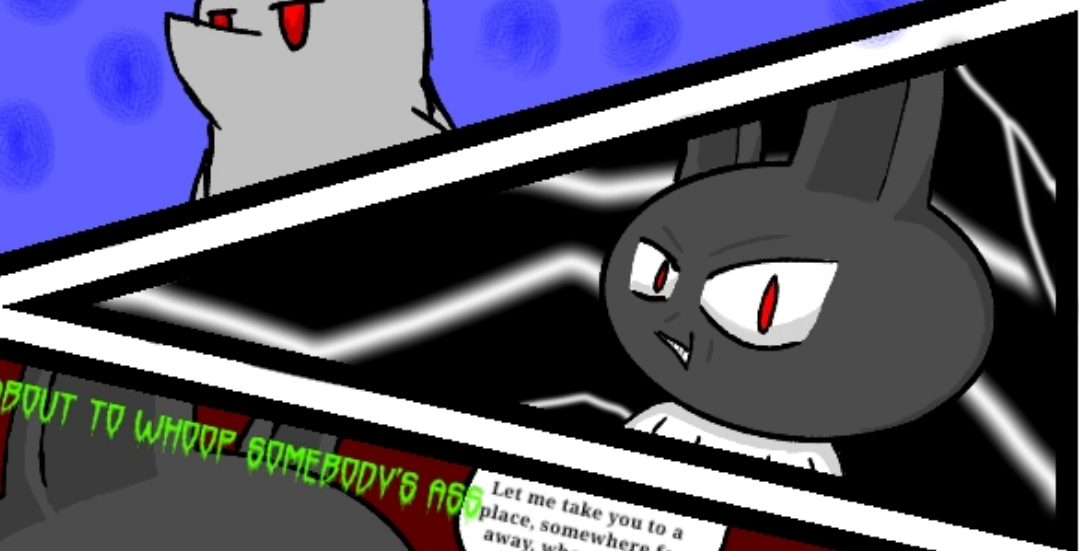

Were you paying attention to anything I was saying!??

Weren't you talking about how the yokai died?

What was that Tensai thing you were talking about? Is it a neighborhood?

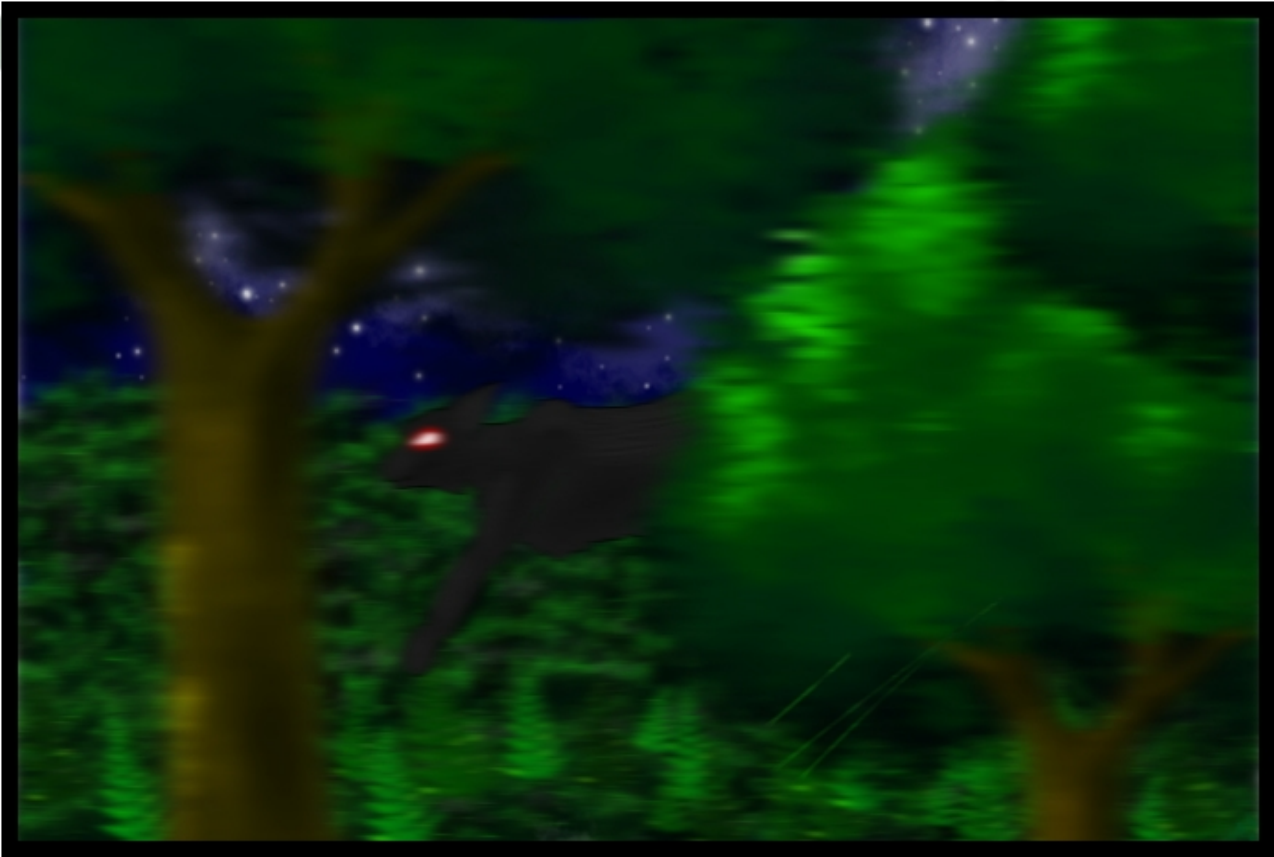

I'M ABOUT TO WHOOOP SOMEBODY'S ASS

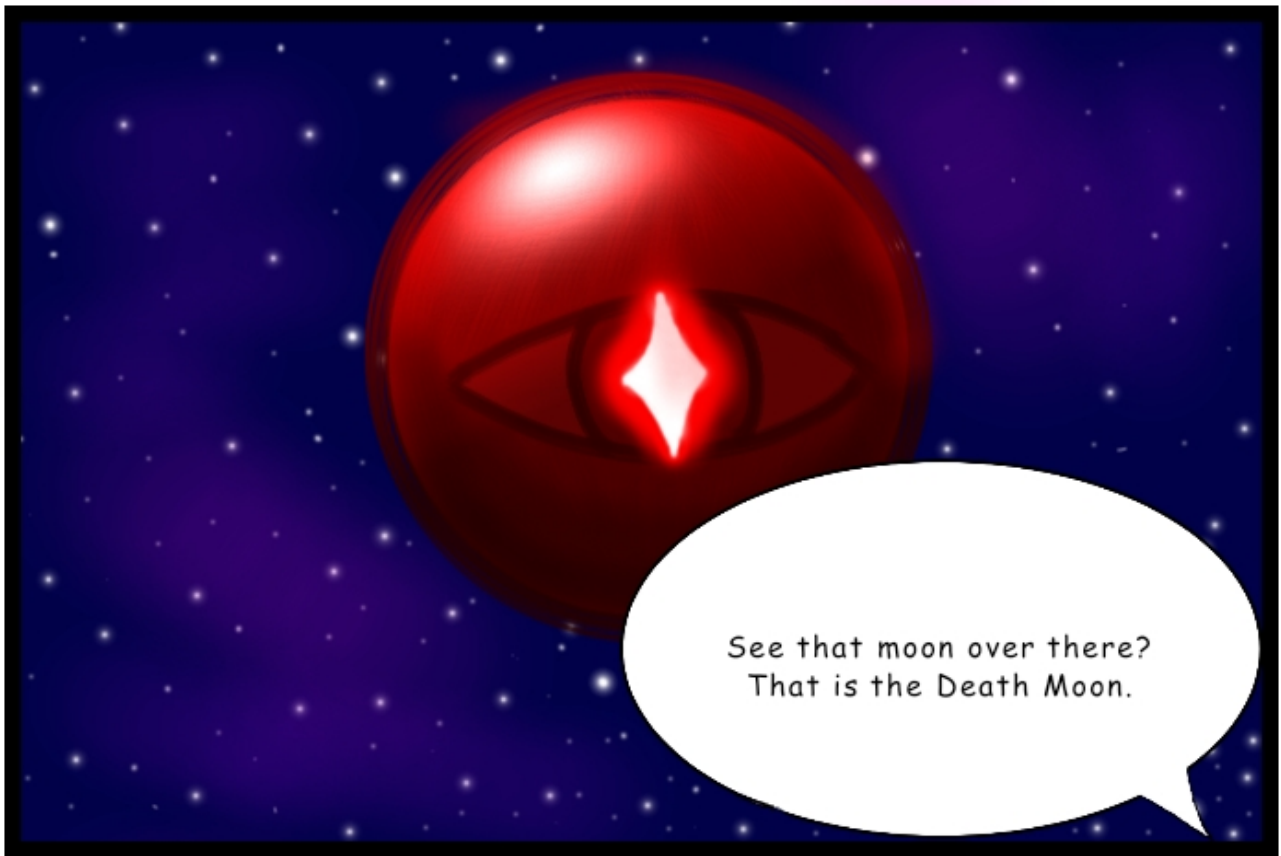

Let me take you to a place, somewhere far away, where no one can hear you scream...

Want me to tell you something?

See that moon over there?
That is the Death Moon.

Death Moon takes the form of the shadow of the moon.

It was once banished into the underworld after consuming the universe of the living into darkness, spreading evil intentions within the living.

It had escaped from the underworld four centuries ago, yet however lost its physical form during the elusion. It became nothing but a mere shadow.

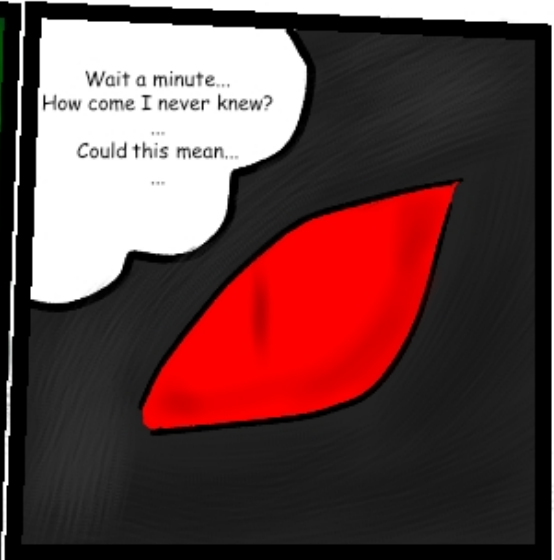

I heard that it cannot hurt you in its current stage.

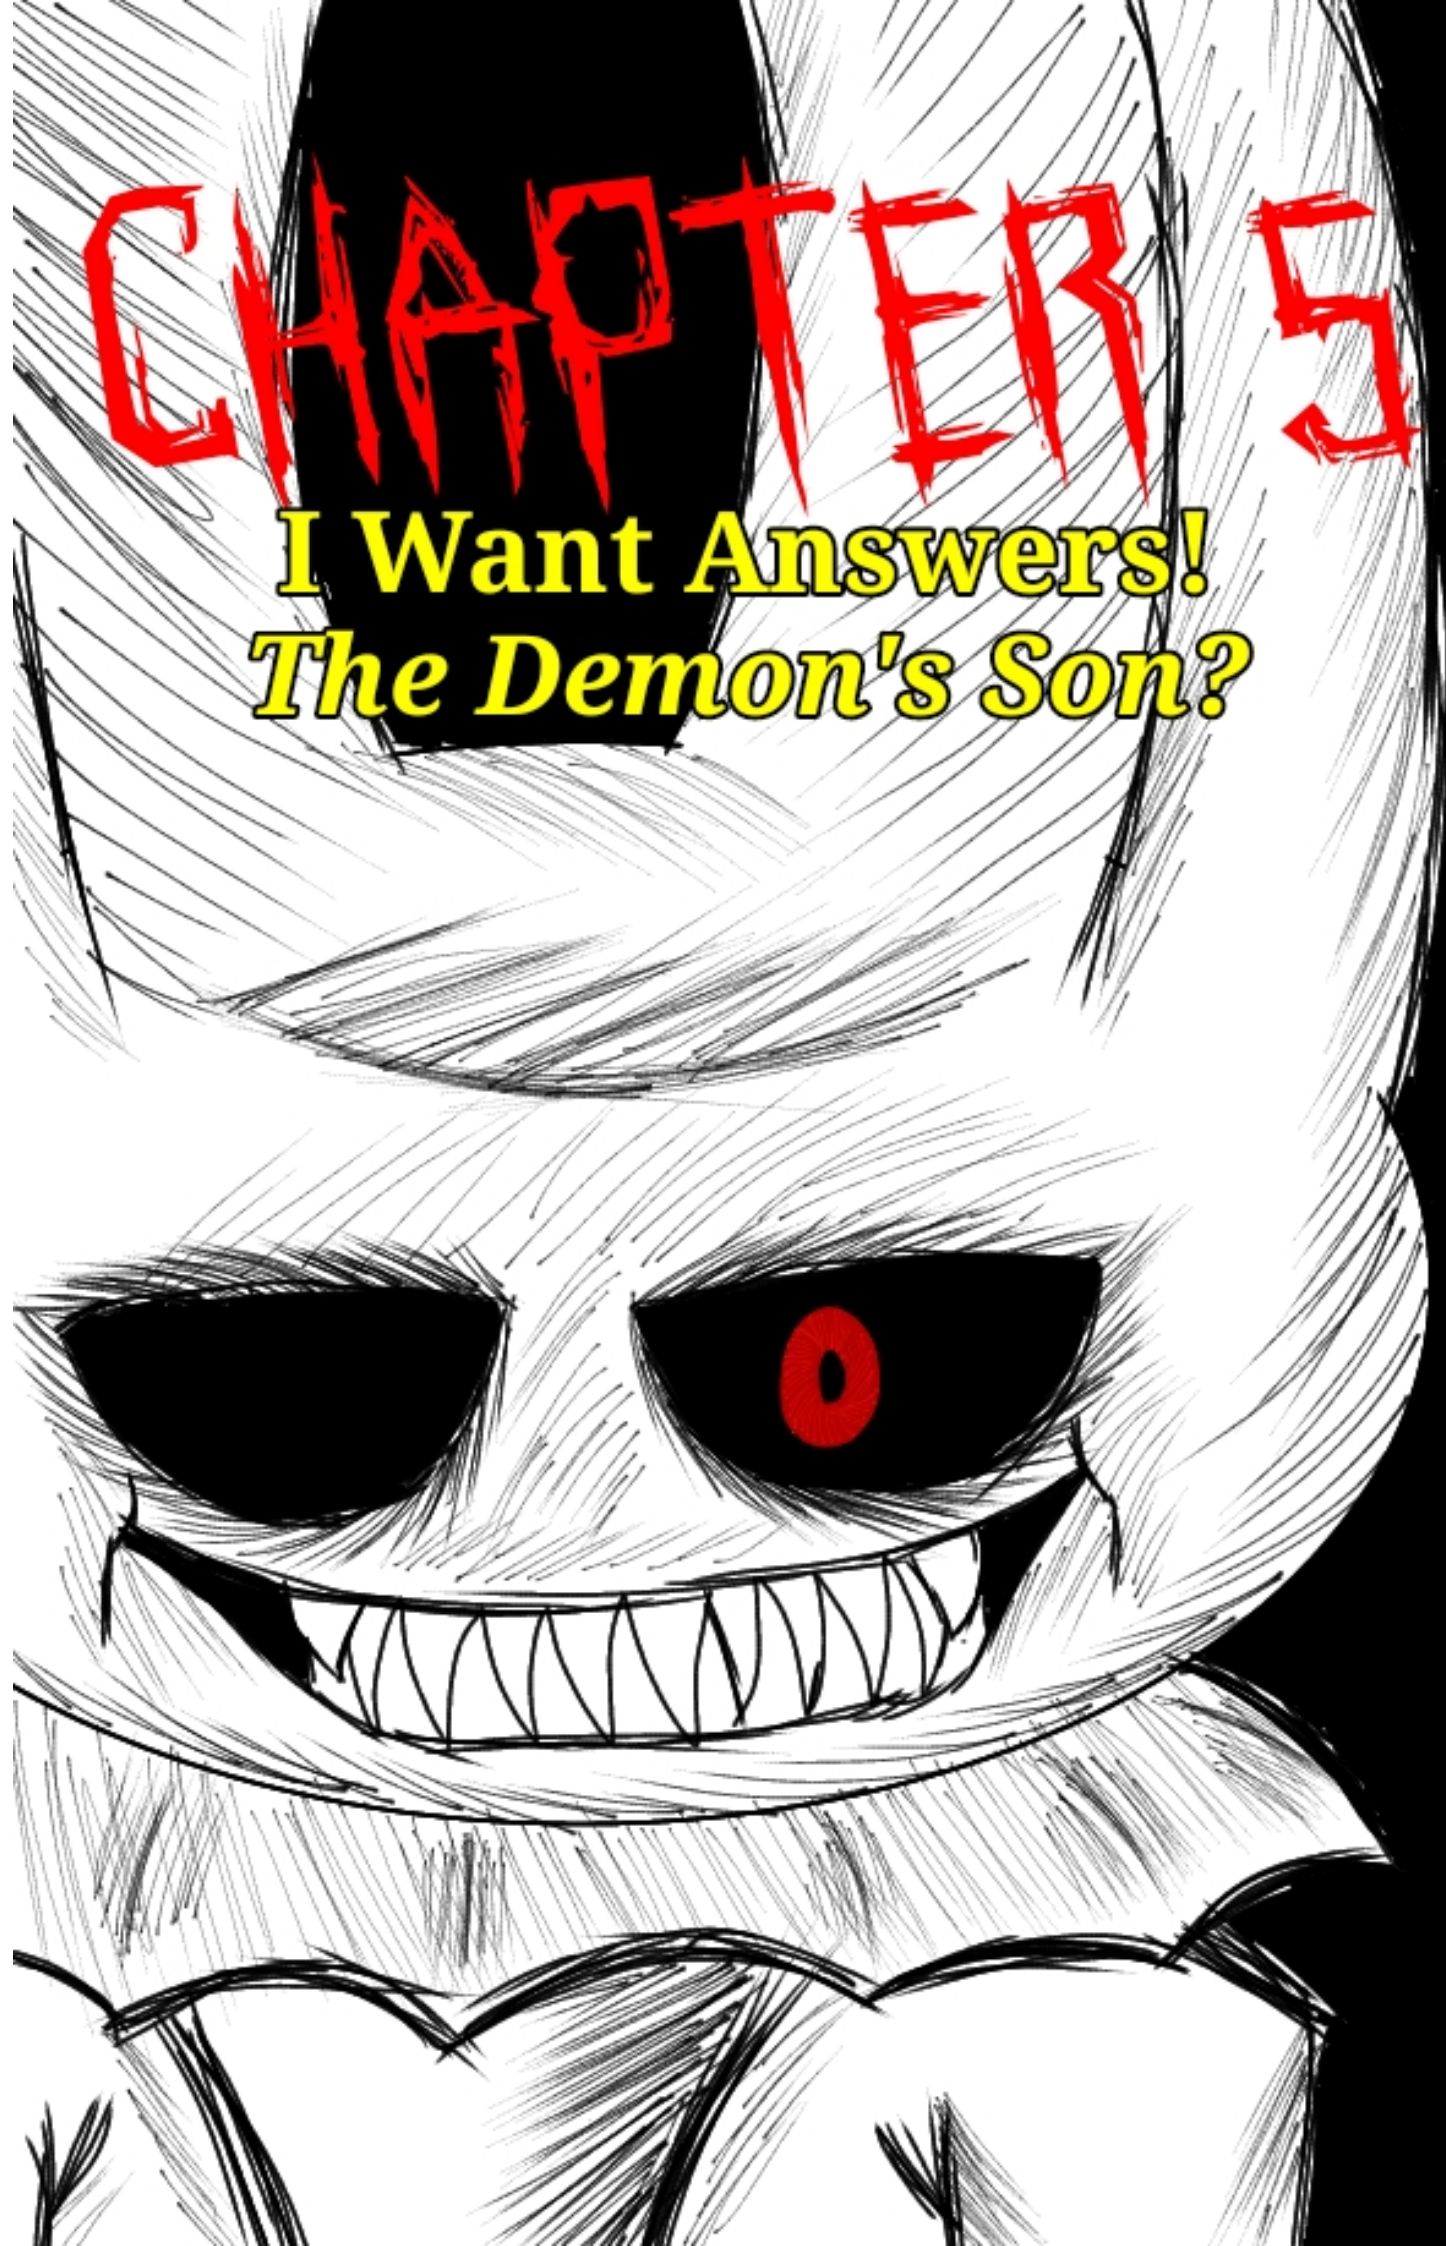

One Yokai was successful at summoning it with alchemy, thus a portion of spirits attacked each other to obtain souls to sacrifice to the demon.

CHAPTER 5

I Want Answers!
The Demon's Son?

What is it, son?

I want to know about Death Moon.

Who told you about that?

I have heard of it within a conversation between Amassers. I want to know more of this demon.

That knowledge is for you to stay ignorant about.

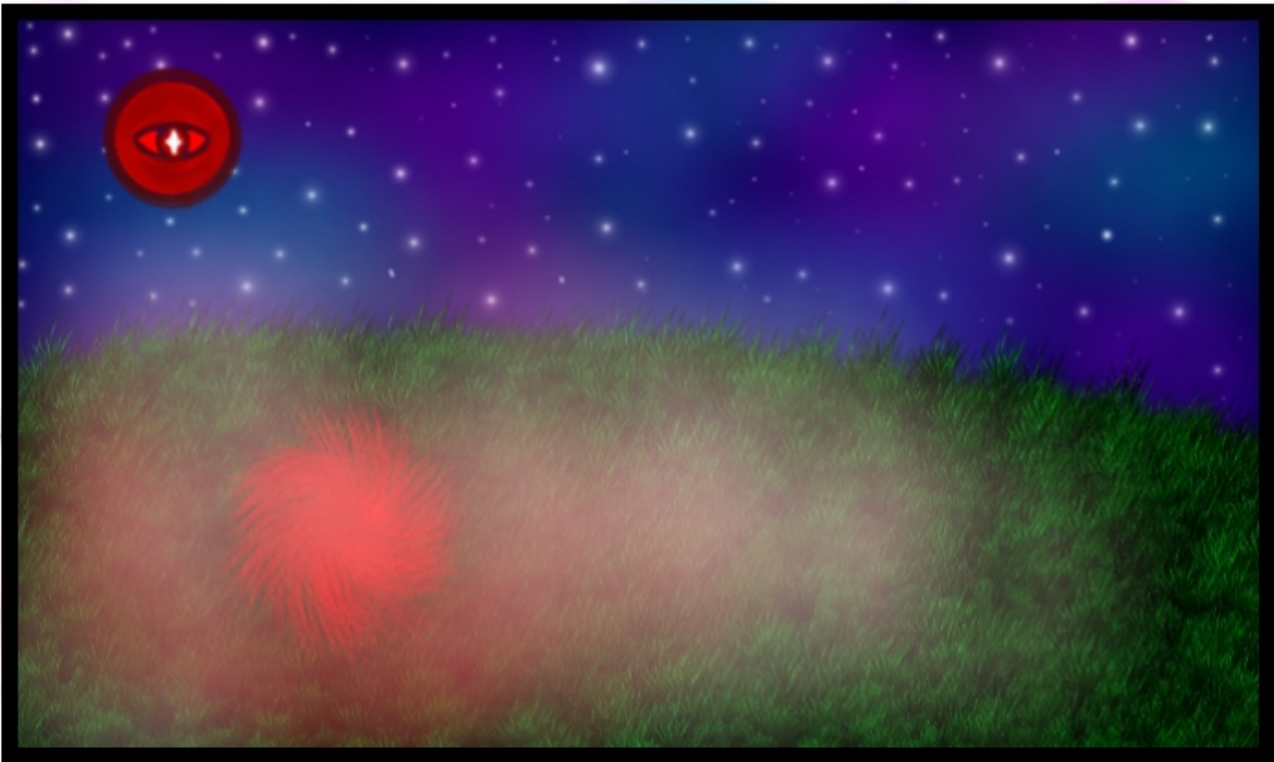

He's hiding it?
He must not want me to about about the demon...

I guess I should find those Amassers. Perhaps I shall eavesdrop, thusly I could learn more.

Back in the Universe of the Living...

CHAPTER 8

The Plush!
Amassers in the Living?

Back in the universe of the living...

How many humans do you think we can catch? If we can get a decent amount, we could make some doe out of them!

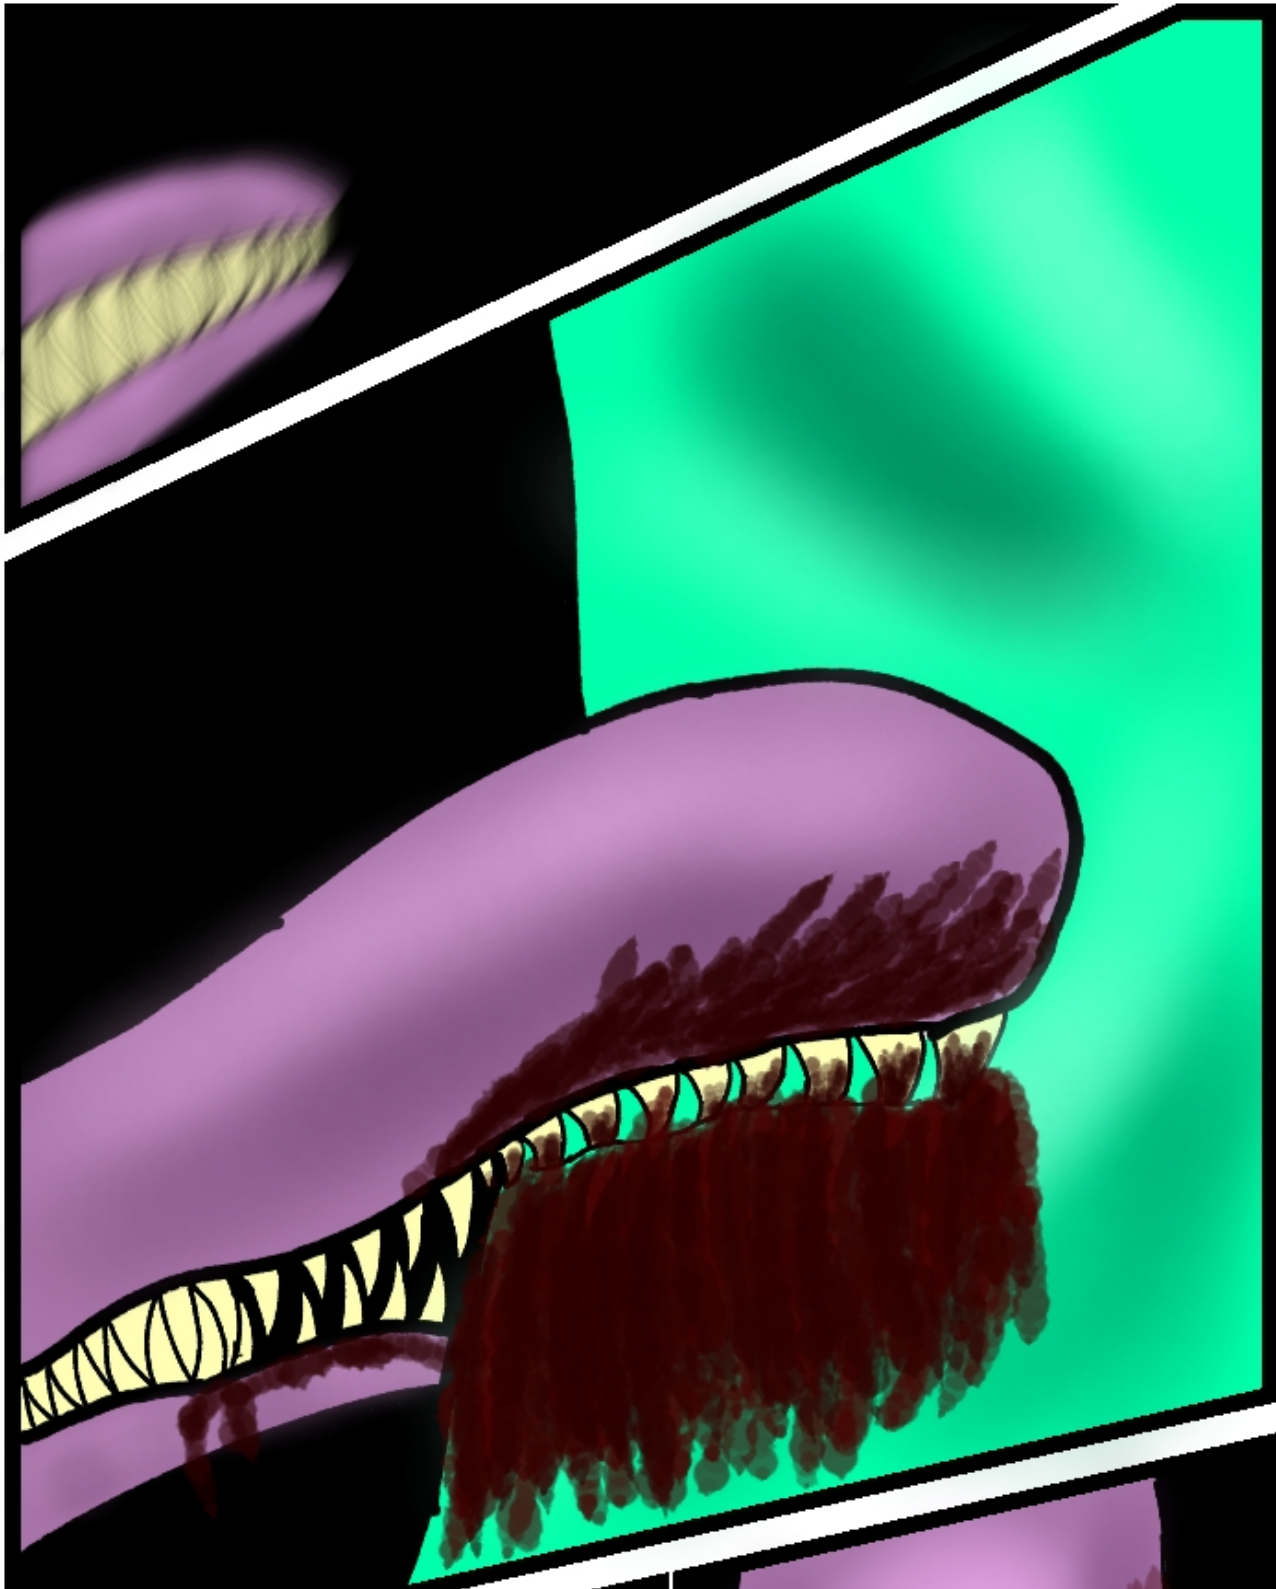

We could make lemonade out of their eyes! You never know how useful they can be!

SLURRP

However, it is possible that the legend may be false.

Back in the parallel universe...

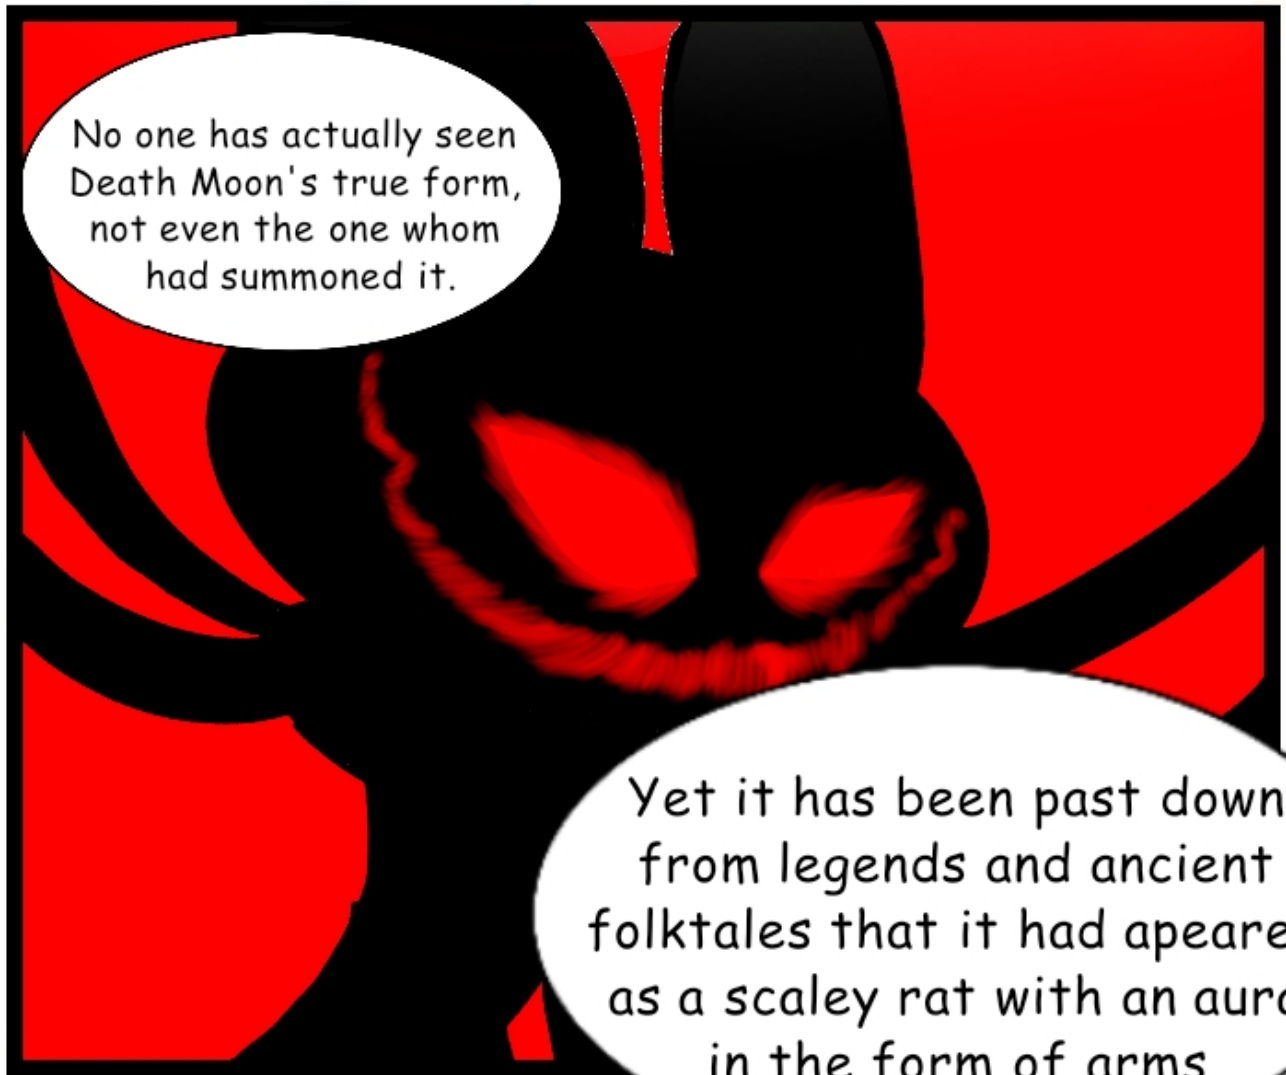

We'll see.

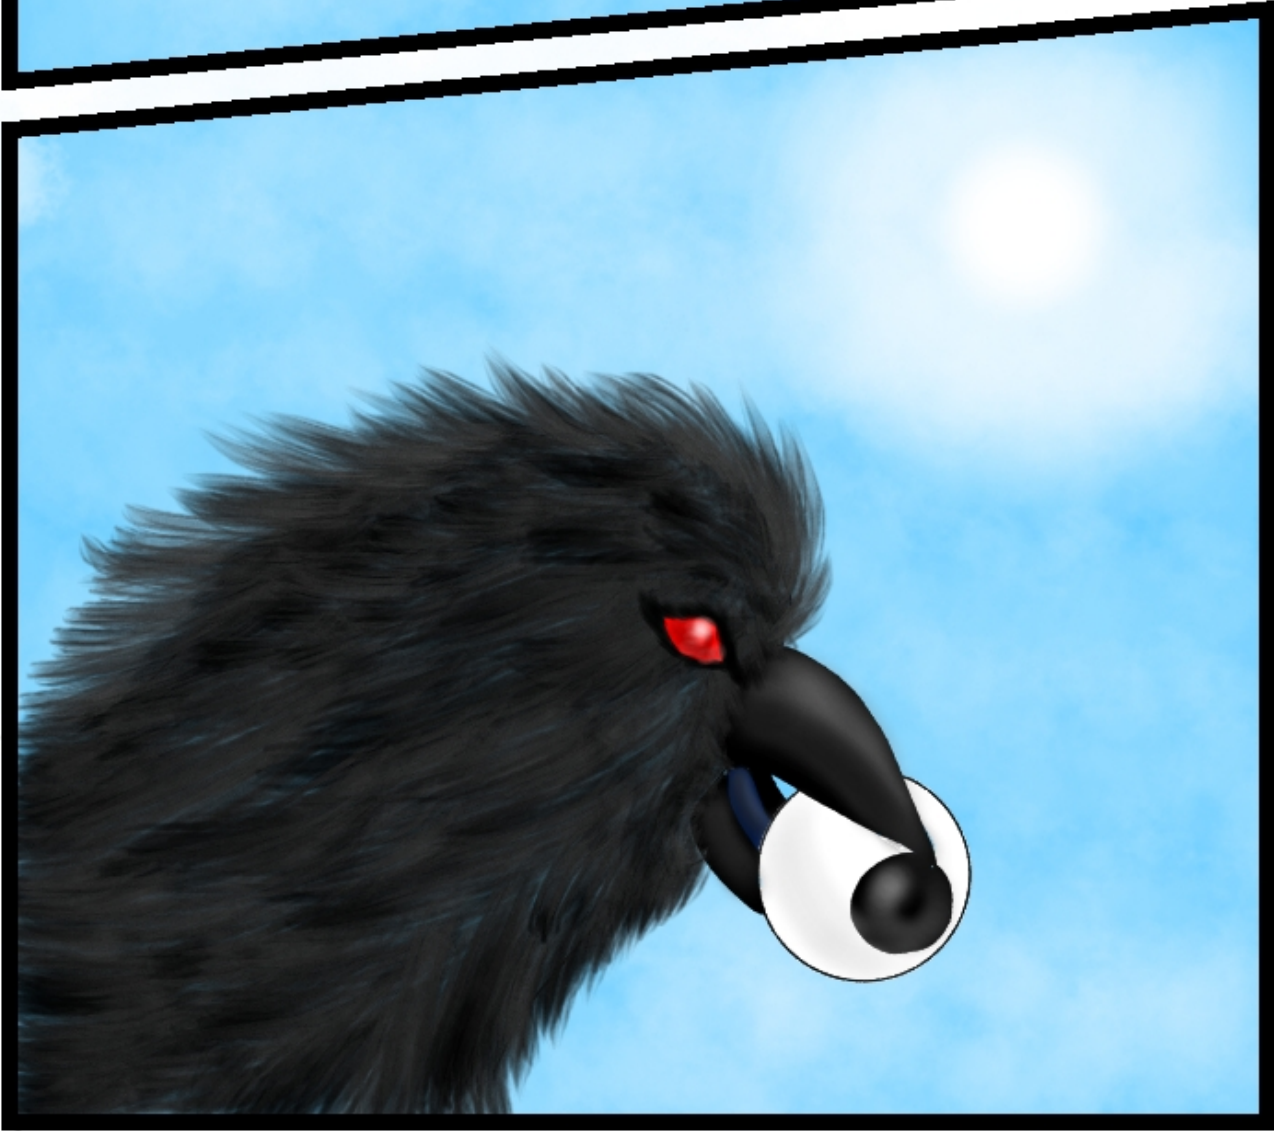

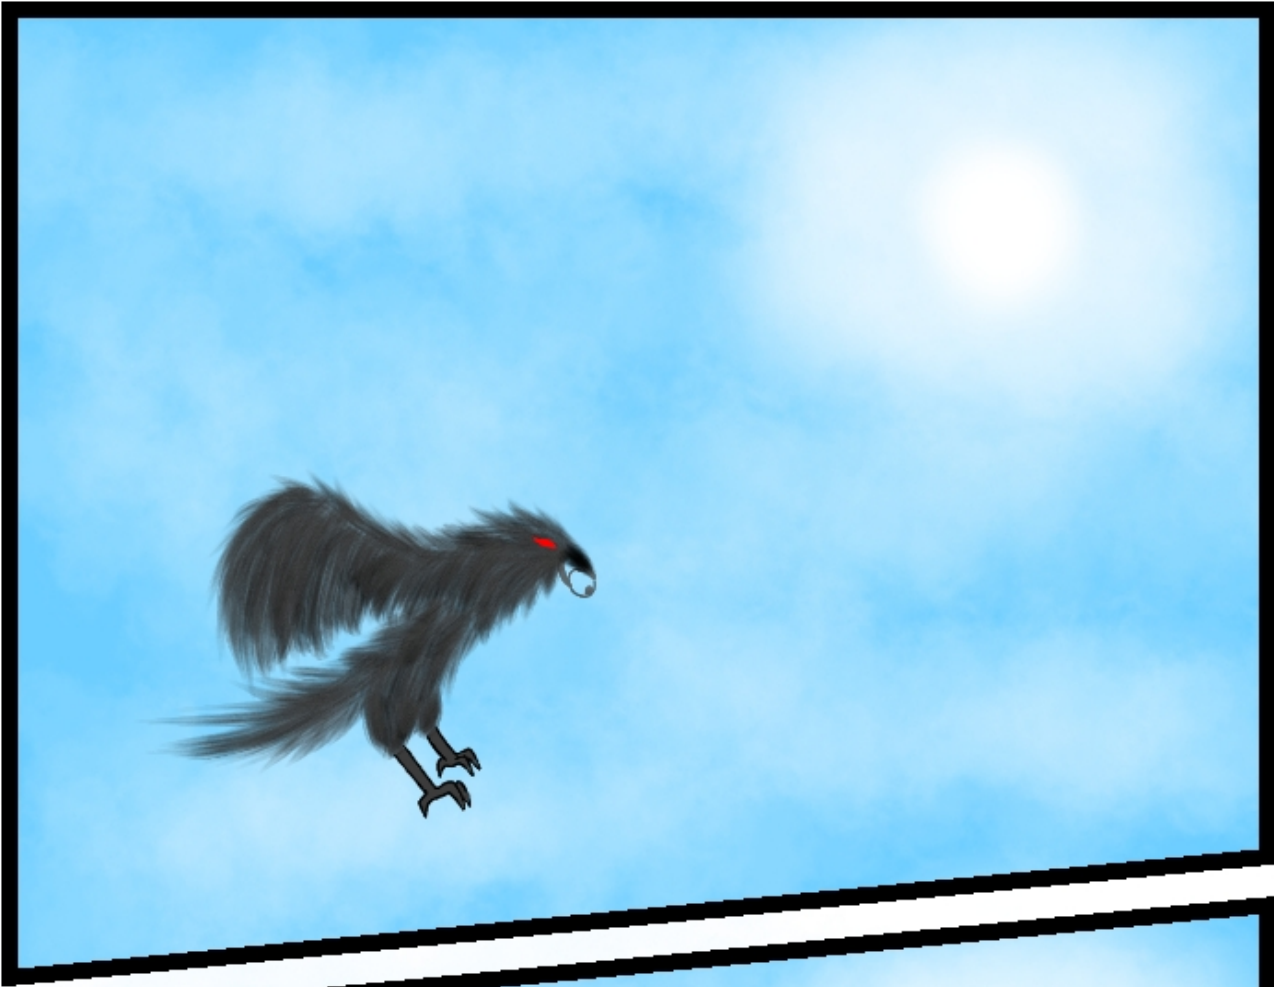

But who's to say it's not?

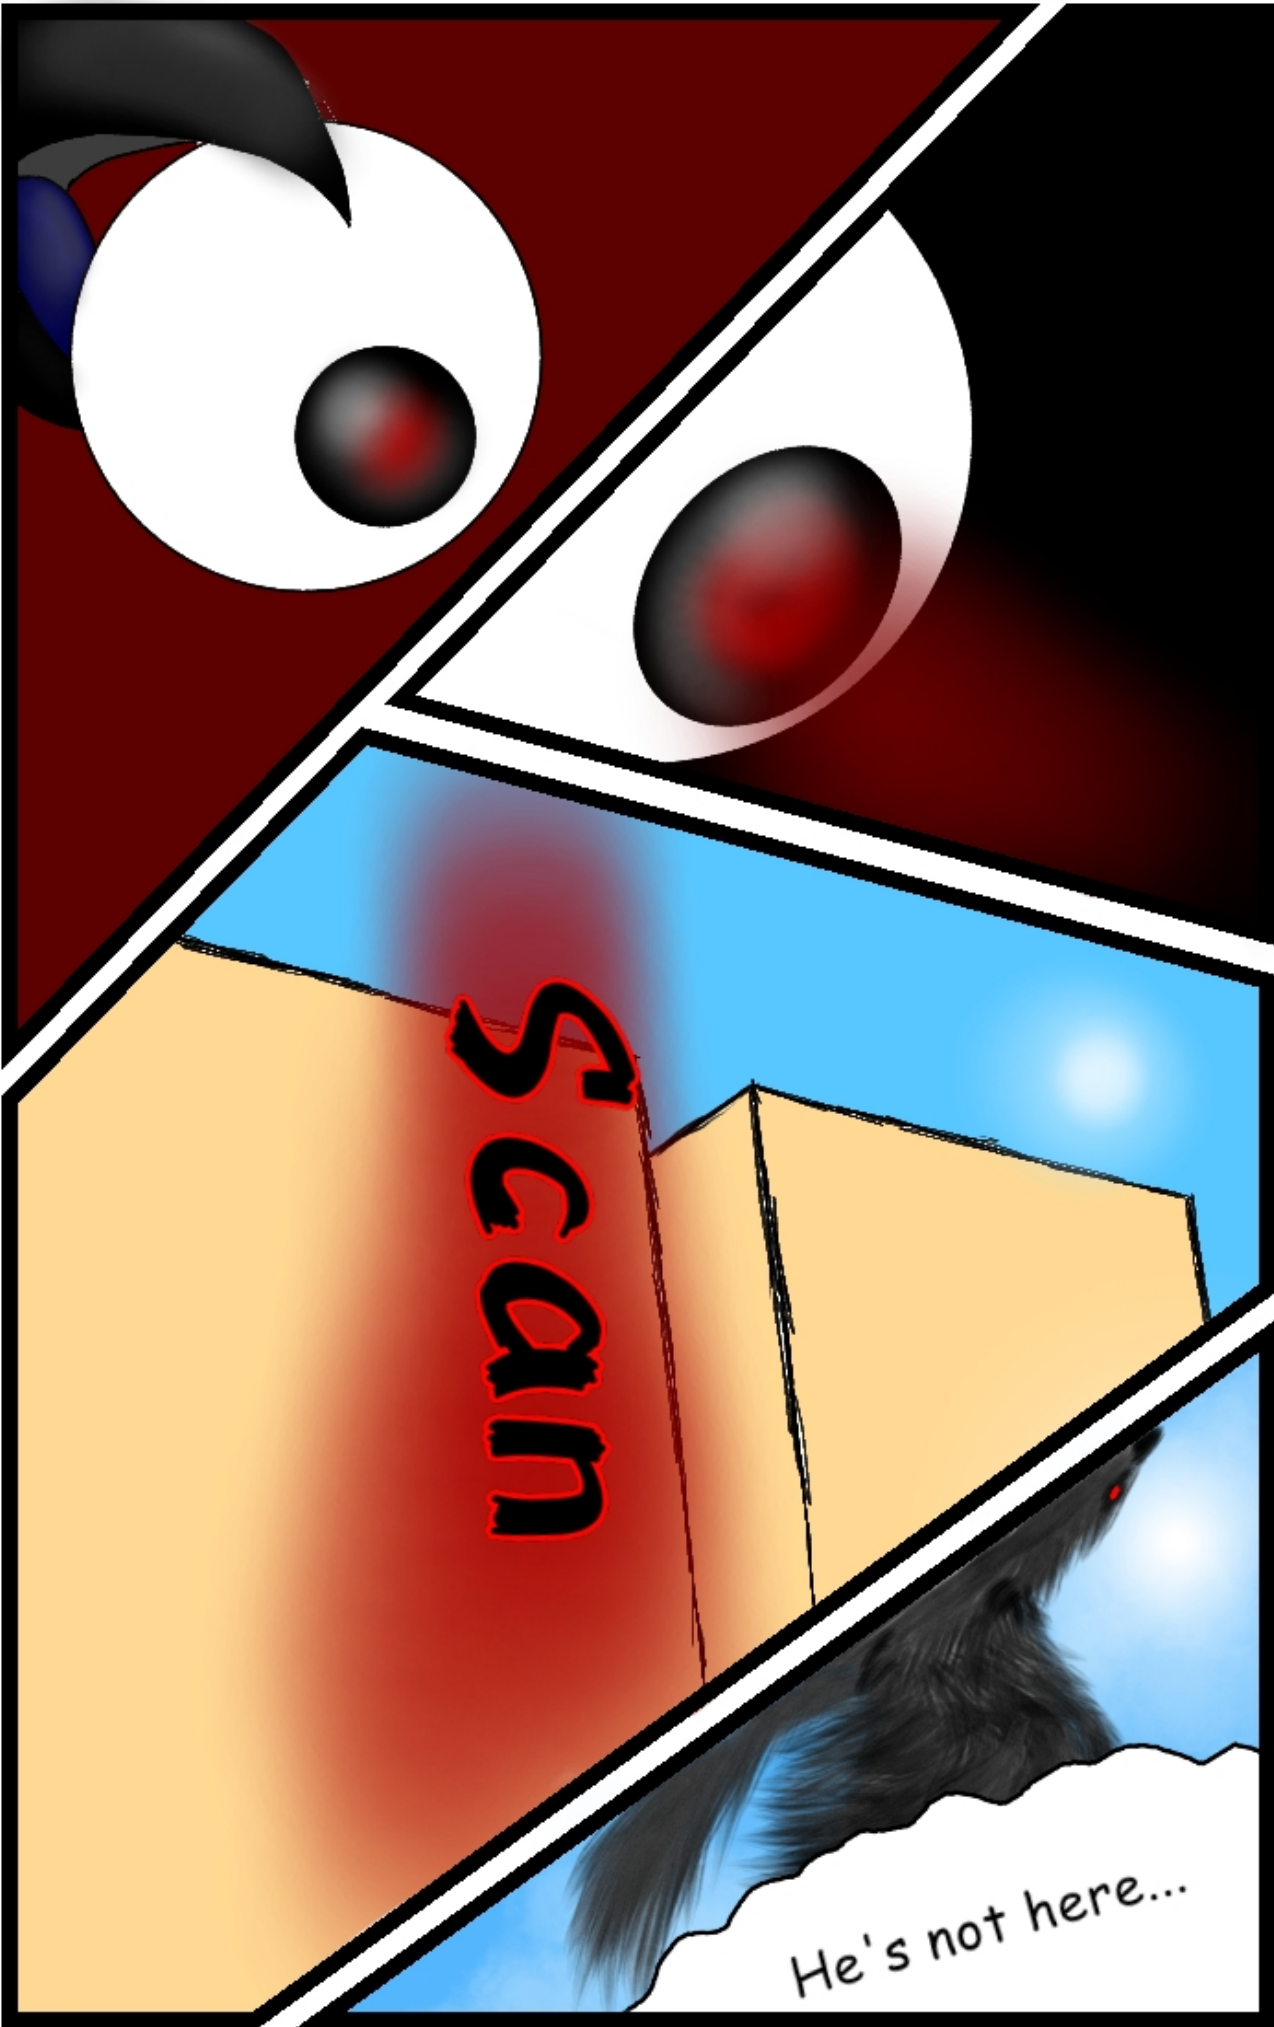

No one has actually seen Death Moon's true form, not even the one whom had summoned it.

Yet it has been past down from legends and ancient folktales that it had appeared as a scaley rat with an aura in the form of arms.

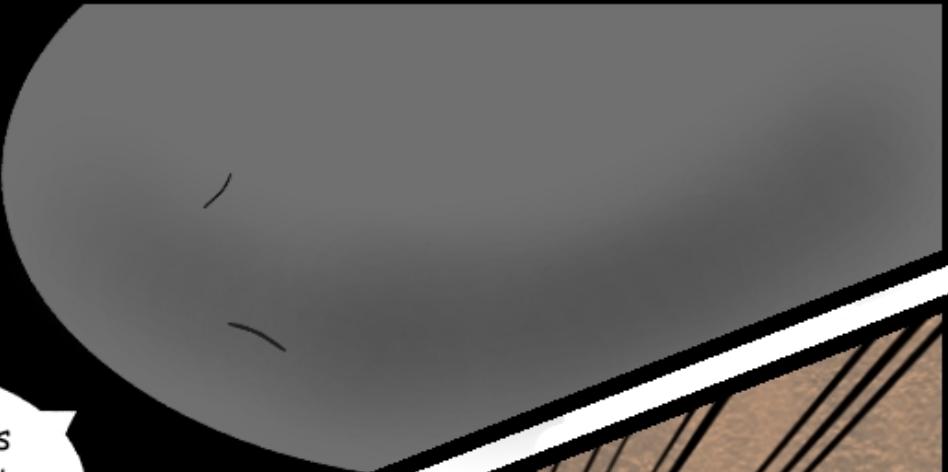

Scam

He's not here...

Some folktales described it to be pink, others black.

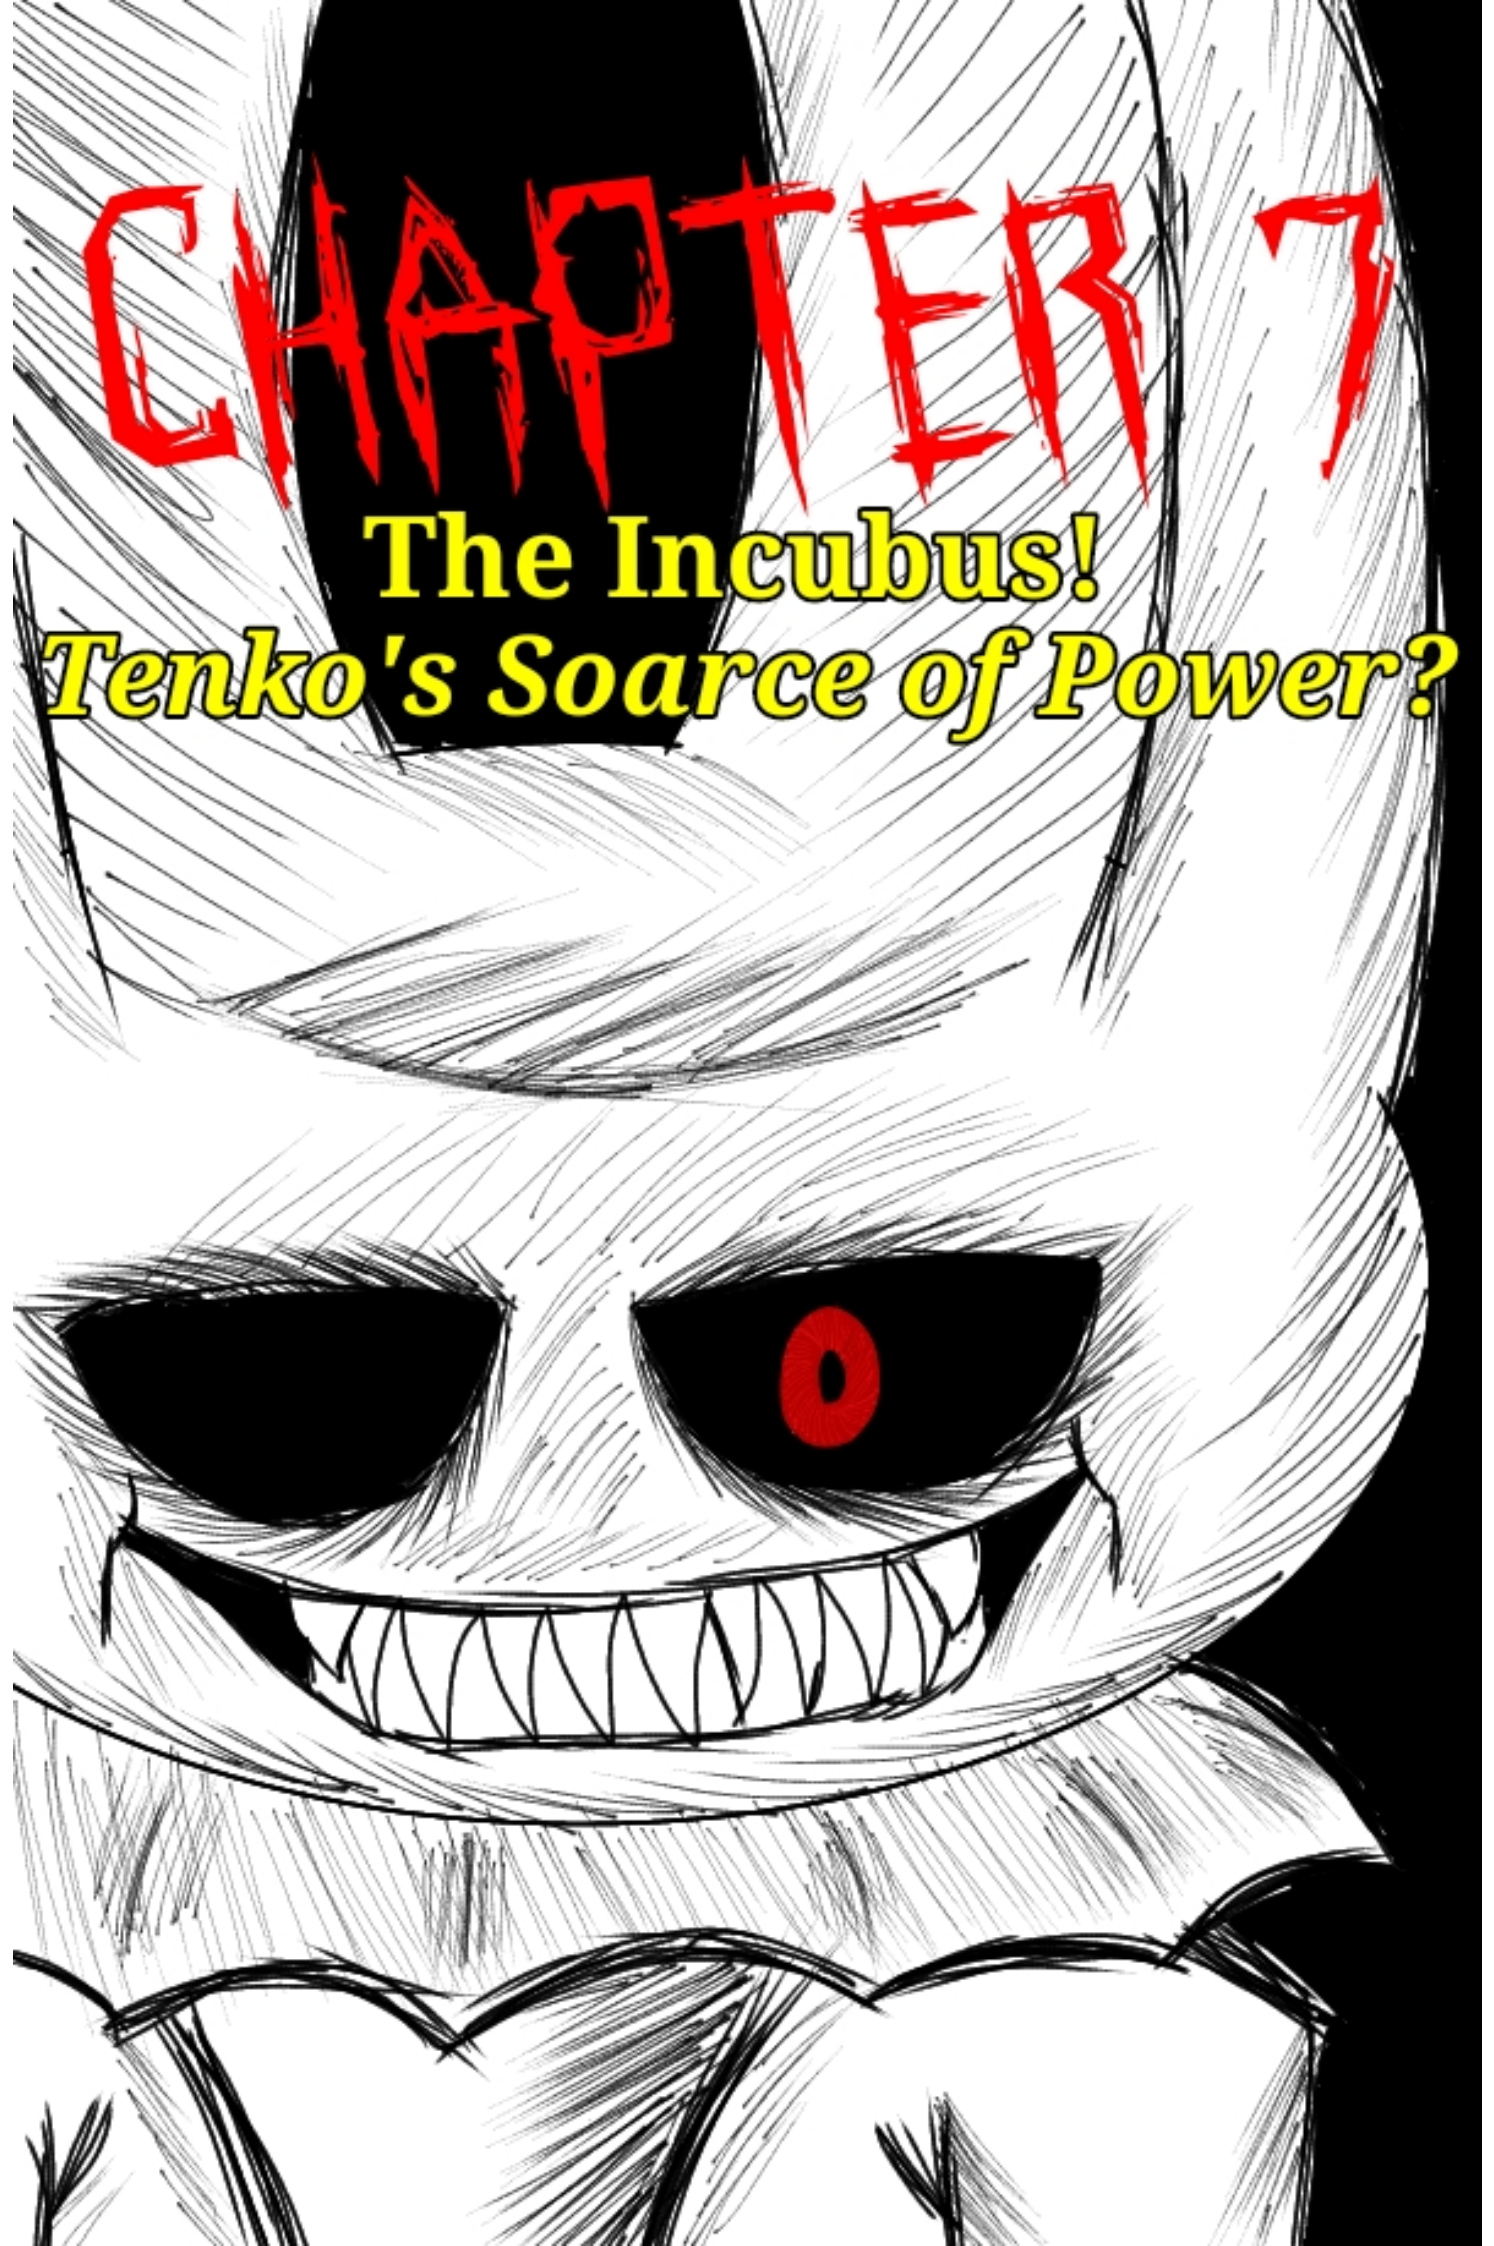

I'm sure it's how it looked.

CHAPTER 7

The Incubus!
Tenko's Soarce of Power?

You sure find use of my power...

Don't you, Tenkohashi?

I need more power.

Is your greed taking over you're senses already?

Did I stutter?
I need more power!

Despite my ability to control your body, you still desire my power?

Very well then.

CHAPTER 8

Take Cover!
Attacks on the Living?

CHAPTER 9

Inseparable Duo!
Friendship, I Guess?

Are you hurt?

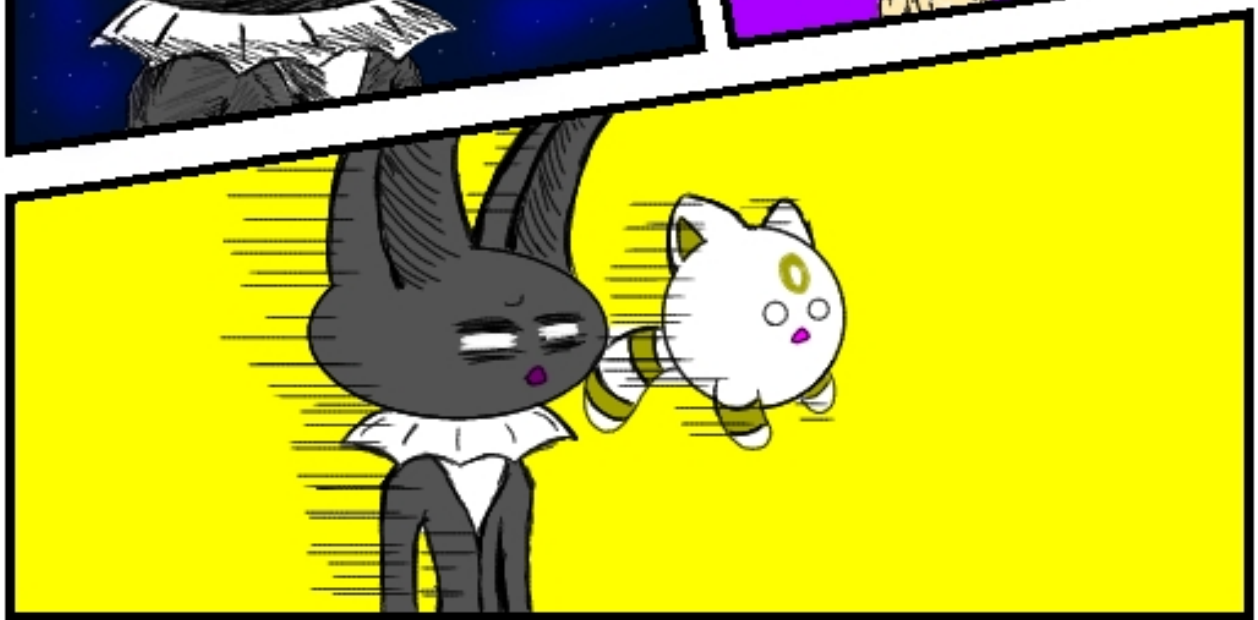

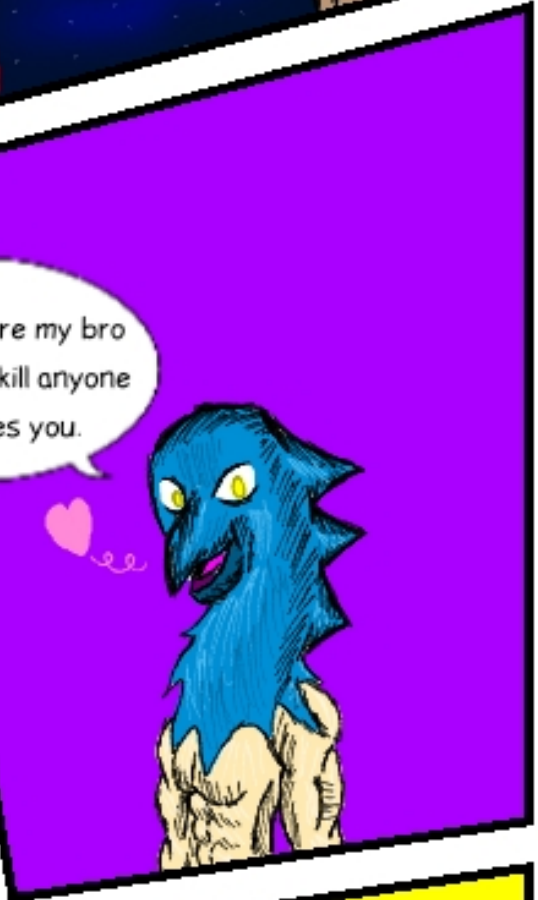

Of course not, why?

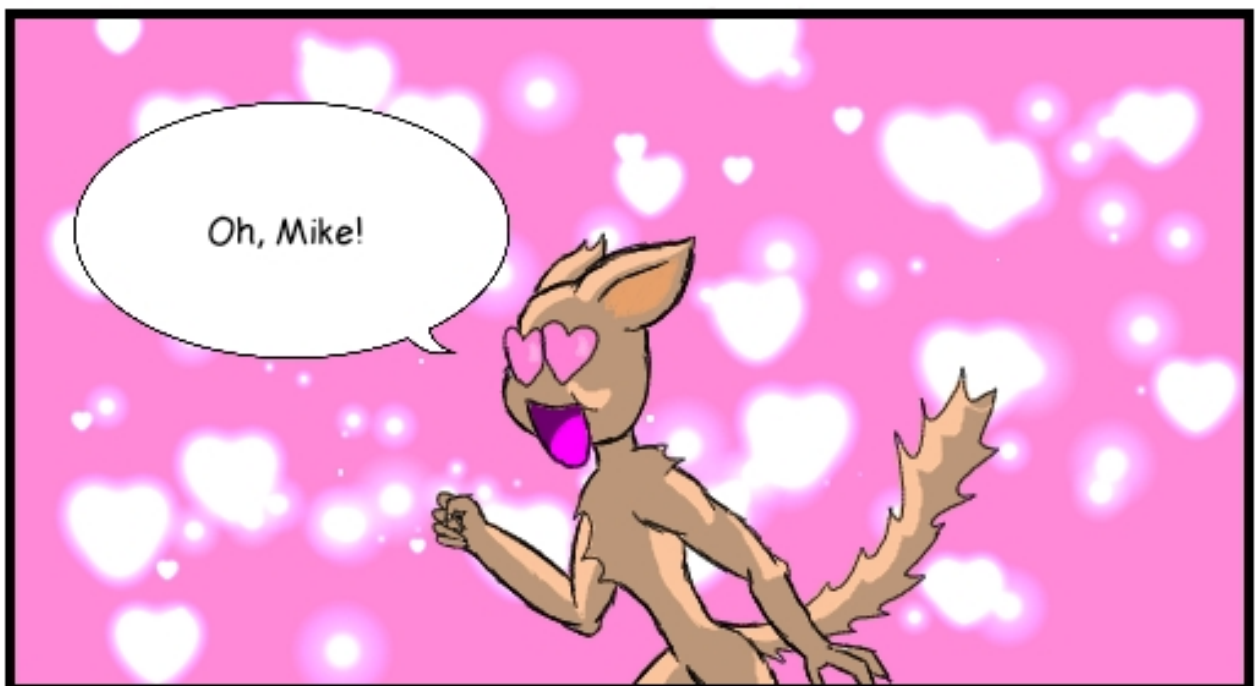

There seems to be a connection between them.

Just making sure my bro ain't hurt, I will kill anyone that touches you.

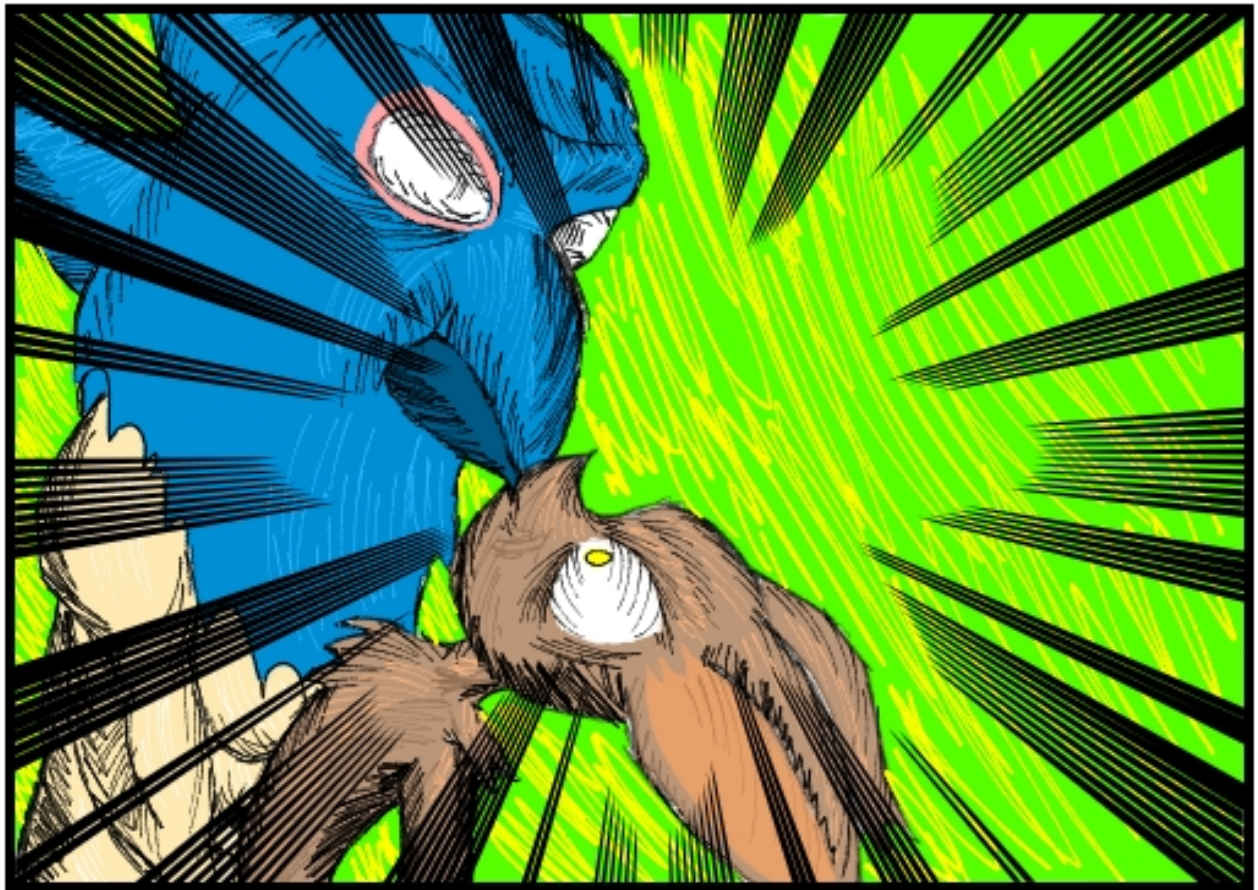

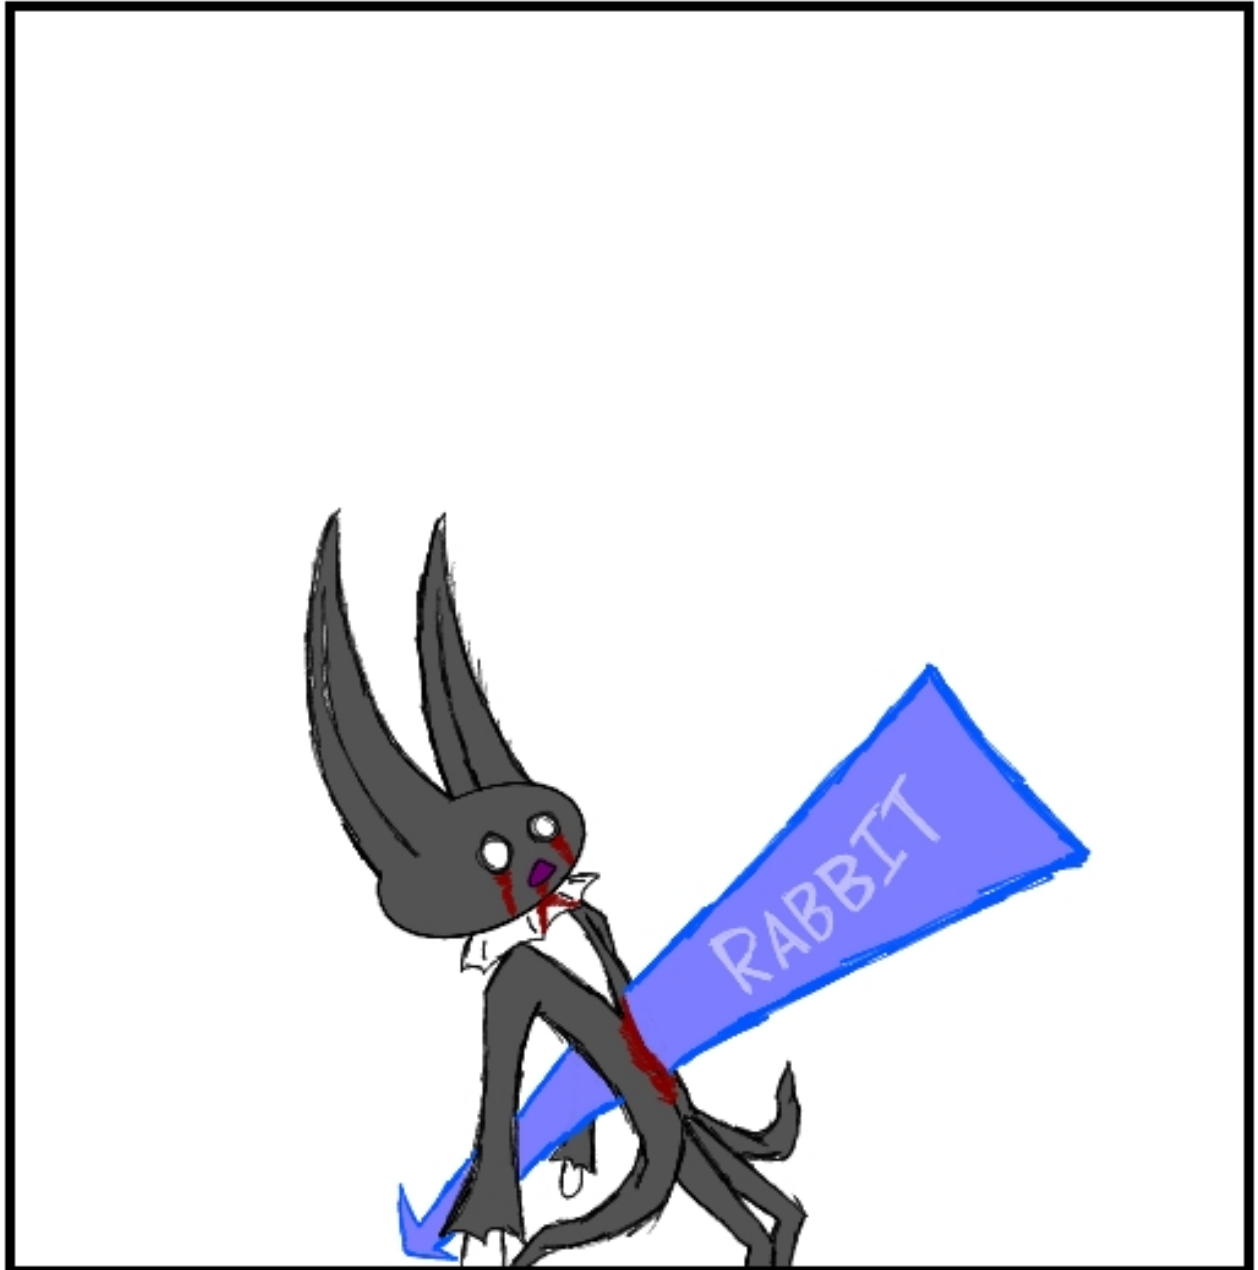

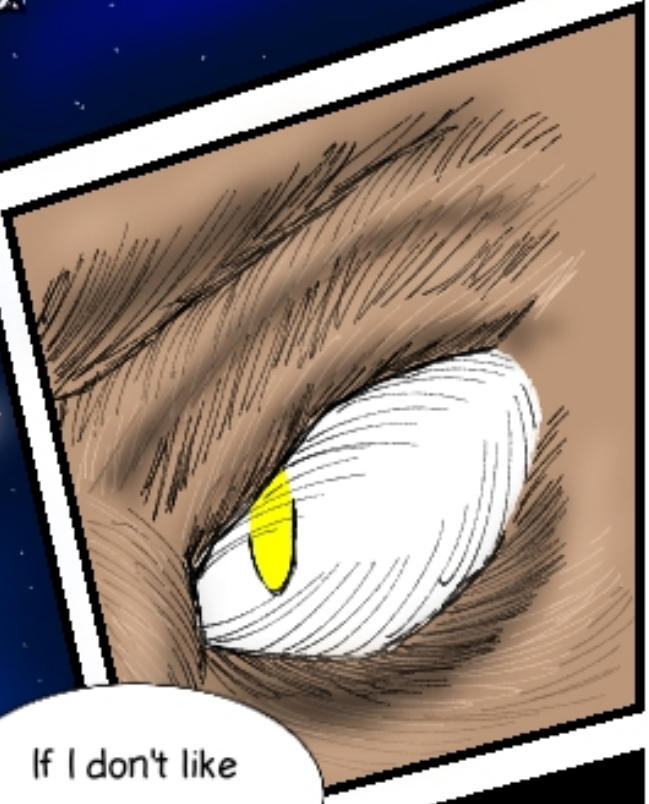

Rabbit!? You look like a goblin on drugs!

What's your purpose for being in this universe?

If I don't like your answer...

I'll eat your soul.

CHAPTER 10

Monster of the Sea!
Boyo's Request?

Why did you bring me here?

Everyone forgot about him.

CHAPTER 11

The Hunt is On!
An Illusion?

Every sound that comes from you're mouth makes you sound like a gangster, so I don't want to hear it!

New test subjects, huh?

Then let the experiment begin.

CHAPTER 12

Showdown!

My Blood is my Weapon?

My BLOOD
Is my WEAPON.

Well. That was fast.

Looks like my experiment has come to an end.

I assume it is best to observe the subjects.

POOF!

Th- the environment is fading??

Two Yokai, a Shikigami, and a human?

I guess I'll head back to base.

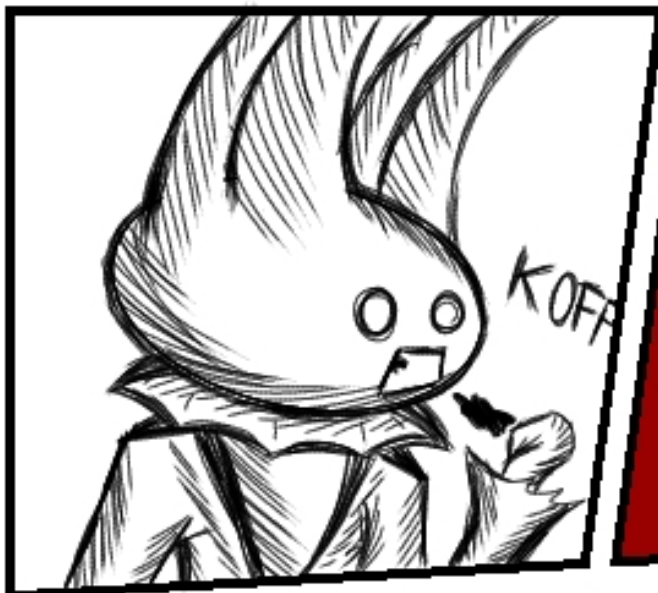

Seems to be it was all an illusion.

D- Don't tell me I ripped a chunk of my arm off for no reason!

Teleport us back with that egg thingy.

I slept great!
What about you, Tenko?
Did you sleep
good?

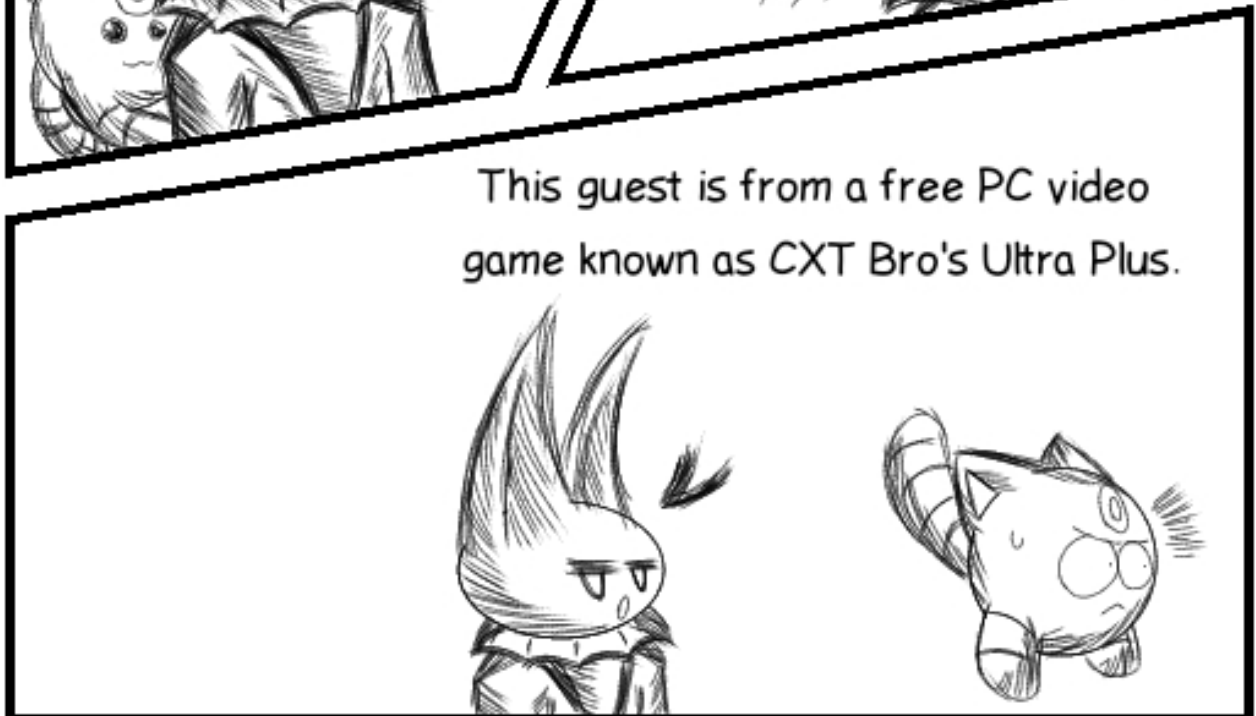

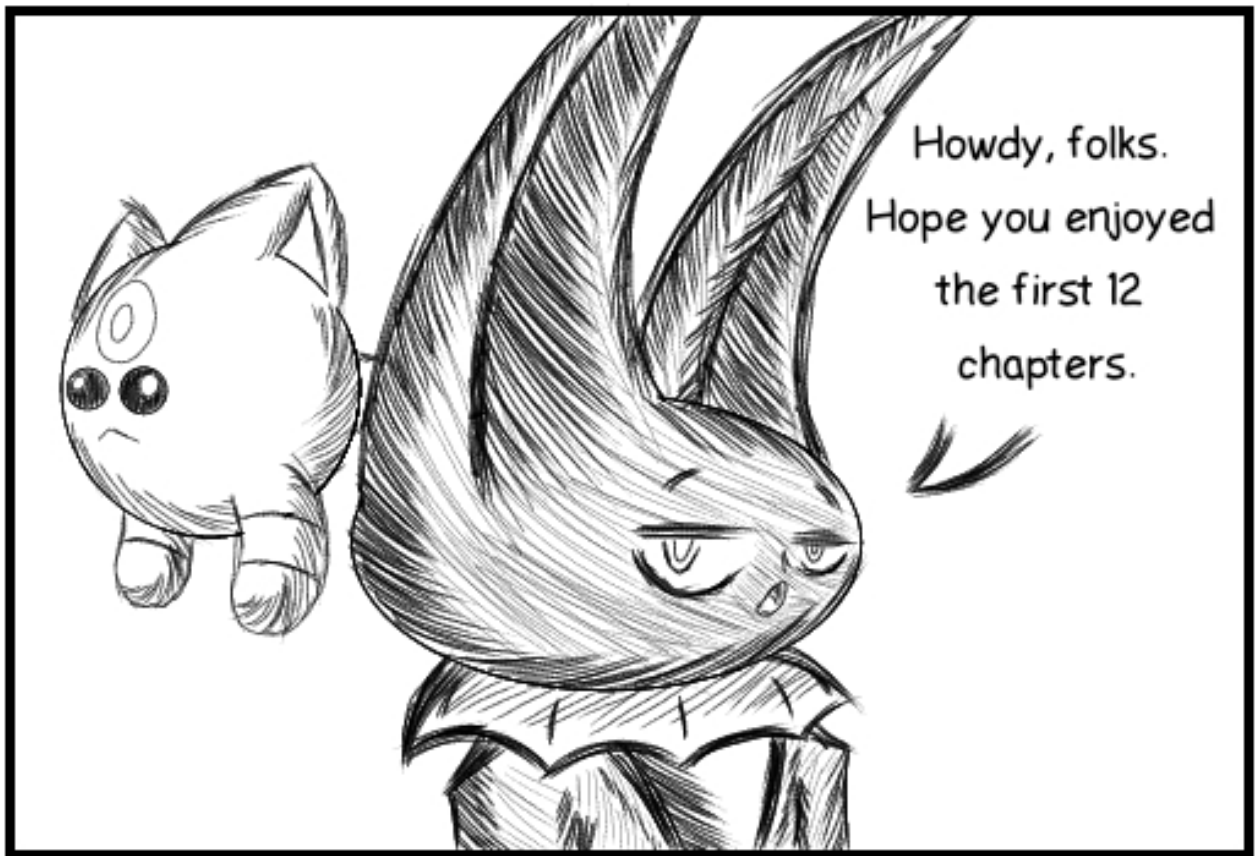

Tenkohashi?

EPILLOG

That black gunk is Itoxn (EYE-toh-xehn). Itoxn is disintegrated blood of Yokai who inhale oxygen.

Oxygen is very toxic to Yokai. It slowly disintegrates them from internally to the entire body. The disintegration begins in the respiratory system, then spreads to the arterial system. Through the arteries and veins, then slowly to the other systems. When a Yokai dies surrounded by oxygen, with the immune system failed, the oxygen's disintegration fastens, thus the body disintegrates quickly.

Thus the body begins to fade quickly, as well as the Itoxn itself. The substance monsters inhale in the Parallel Universe is known as Uriptophy (er-REEP-Toe-poe-fy).

Yet, the volume is at it's reach, thus it is time for today's adventure to end.
