I love the fact that our children have access to the type of programming the Pacific Science Center offers. We serve low-income children and families, who would not typically be able to travel to King County to visit the center. It's a wonderful way to expose children to science concepts that relate to their daily experience.

- Skagit Islands Head Start

[The Digital Discovery Workshop] was the perfect balance of content, experiments, interaction with the students. The class was engaged and interested the entire time. Our program presenter did an amazing job!

Leavenworth Nutcracker Museum

We welcome field trips to the museum for your entire class.

The Leavenworth Nutcracker Museum is the only place in the world where students can see over 9,000 nutcrackers gathered together from all over the world – in different designs and materials and from Roman times to modern day.

A video presentation shows how the popular German nutcrackers are made, and a Nutcracker Hunt (our version of the scavenger hunt) will take them to every niche and cranny of the museum as they hunt for specimens on their age-related list.

And then there is Bavarian Leavenworth waiting to be discovered.

Take a journey ...

Showcasing the diversity and innovation of Northwest artists during the pivotal century of 1870-1970. Cascadia Art Museum shares the incredible stories of artists who have shaped our corner of the world.

Cascadia Art for Schools is a free, Washington state standards-based program designed for K-8 students to explore Northwest art. This interactive and inquiry-based program engages students through facilitated dialogue, storytelling, and hands-on art creation. It focuses on learner-centered experiences and highlights historically underrepresented artists.

The program fosters thoughtful discussion, close observation, and critical thinking. Students build confidence in forming personal interpretations of art and learn to appreciate diverse perspectives.
