MESSAGE FROM THE CURATOR

Thank you so much for being part of the third edition of the Cozy Indie Book Catalogue. I can't believe we're already here!

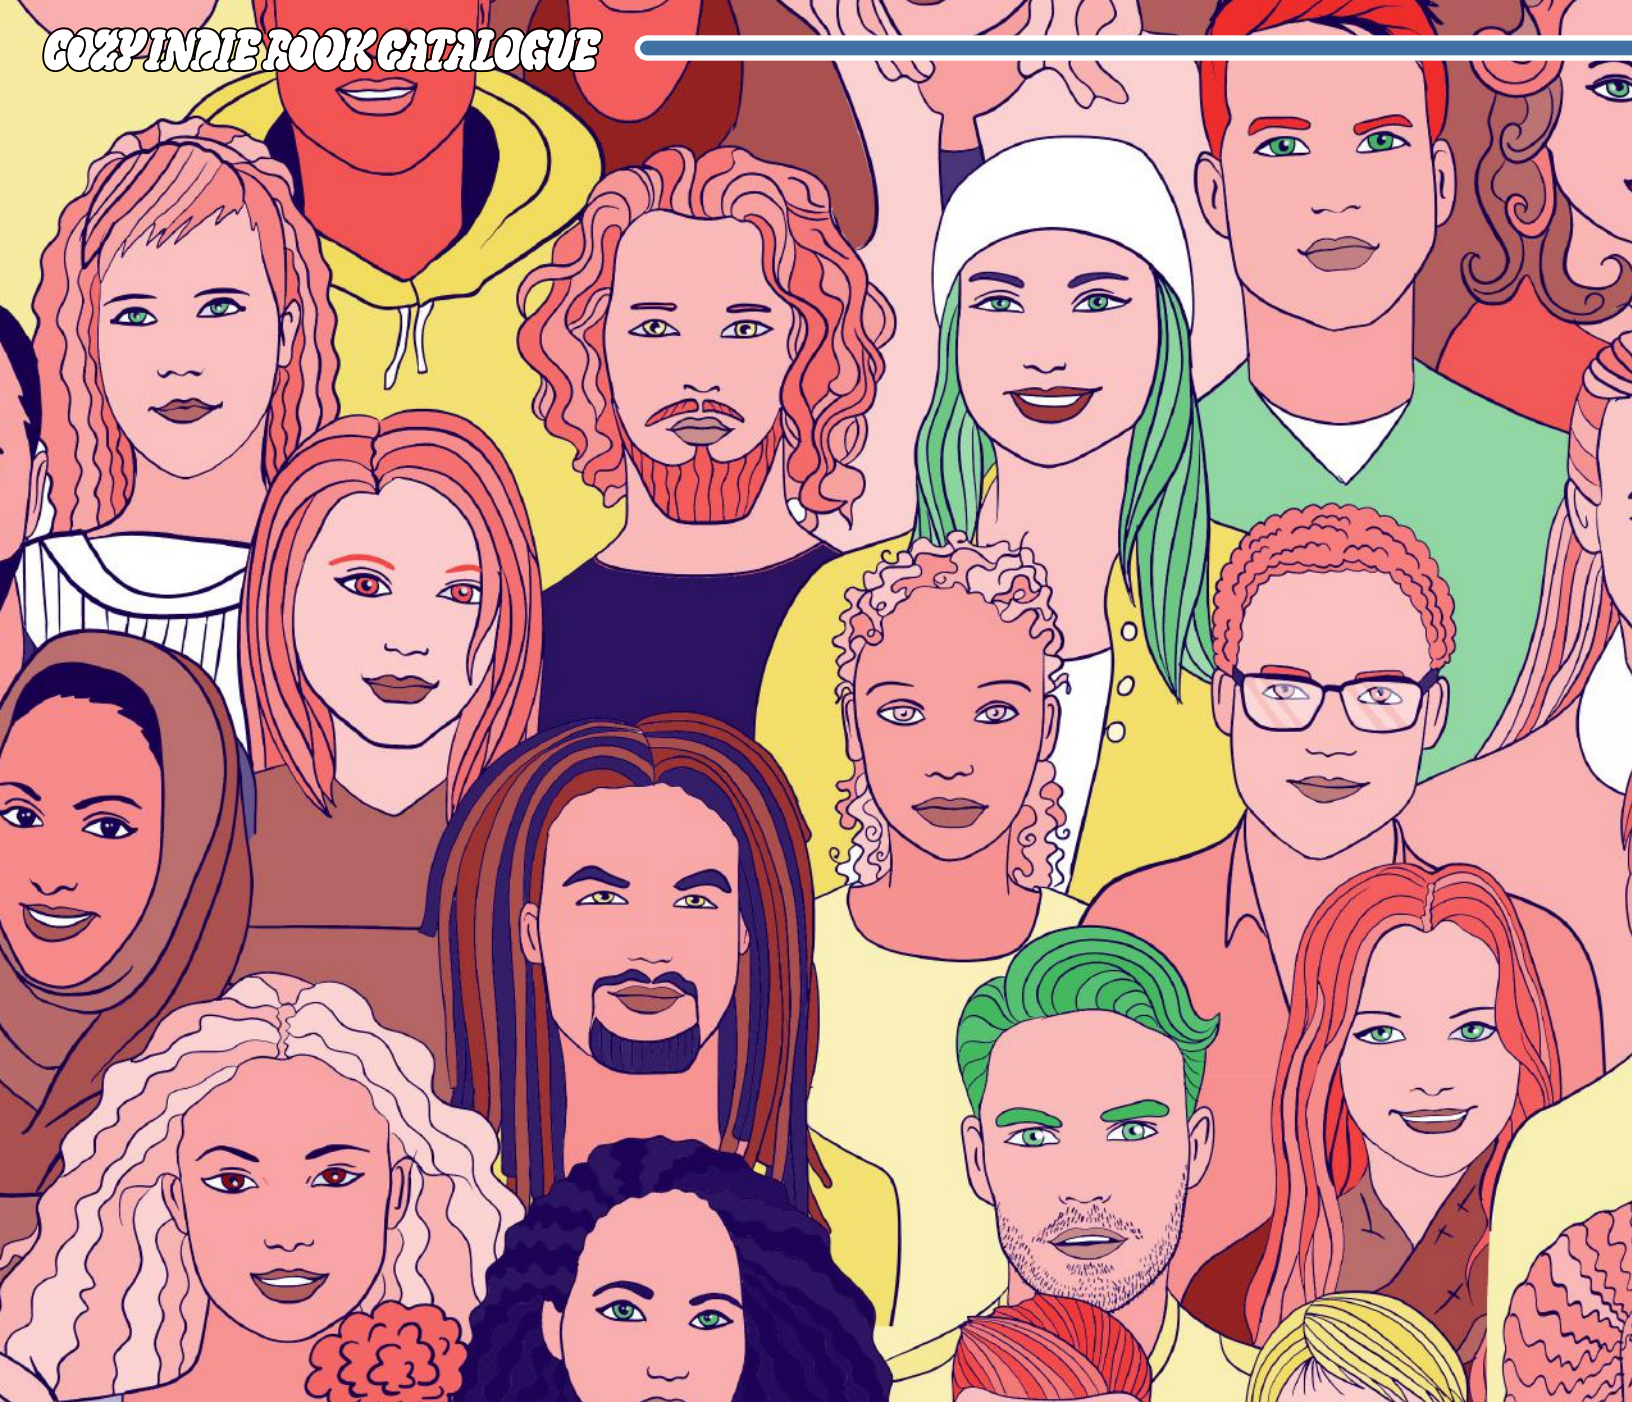

This edition is particularly special to me and very dear to my heart. It's an invitation to readers to read diversely, to step into stories that expand our understanding of the world and each other.

We are living in a time where our voices need to be heard more than ever. Through reading, we immerse ourselves in the full range of human experience. Reading diversely builds empathy, offers hope, and reminds us of our shared humanity. Through literacy, we inherit the power to imagine, to challenge, and to dream beyond limitation.

"ONCE YOU LEARN TO READ, YOU WILL BE FOREVER FREE."

- FREDERICK DOUGLASS

The Cozy Indie Book Catalogue exists because representation matters. It aims to spotlight the works that often go unseen in the literary world, the art that algorithms overlook, and the voices from communities that have intimately known oppression yet continue to carve out their own space in storytelling.

Through these pages, I hope you find stories that remind you of your own strength, reflect the world as it is, and reimagine what it could be.

You can find me on

What IS the Cozy Indie Book Catalogue?

The Cozy Indie Book Catalogue was inspired by the Scholastic book catalogues we used to receive at book fairs. It is a digital curation of books, collections, stories, and more from independent authors and small presses.

As we continue to grow, we're looking to expand into a community of indie authors who can collaborate with one another and interact with readers.

Although we are based in the United States, we are happy to highlight authors from across the globe in an effort to support accessible reading and visibility.

Cozy Reminders

Drink water. Take your meds.
Be kind to others. Support your local libraries. Reading is a skill and a privilege.

Here's a quick glance of the work and authors featured in this BIPOC + Queer edition of the Cozy Indie Book Catalogue. You'll be able to see which previously released reads you should catch up on and which you should be looking for later in this year. Use the genre map on the next page to guide your search.

Moments in Time With You | Zhane'I Speaks

September 12, 2025

Moments in Time with You, is a short heartfelt collection of haikus and prose poems that explores the complexity of two women, and their bittersweet nature of love. Through moments of passion, vulnerability, and longing, their connection deepens yet remains fragile, as they navigate the unspoken boundaries of their relationship.

MEET THE AUTHOR

Zhane'I Speaks is a storyteller who writes about love, identity, and the quiet moments that leave lasting impressions.

Her work is rooted in softness, emotional truth, and the beauty found in everyday connection. Through writing, she creates space for vulnerability, reflection, and growth.

When she's not writing, Zhane'I curates art, sips honey chamomile tea, plays sims, and unwinds at a jazz concert with a well-earned espresso martini.

A Ride to Remember | Neveah Jayne

Debut

September 13, 2025

India Martel is barely keeping it together, running on fumes, sleeping in her car, and still showing up for class like her world isn't crumbling. One late-night ride-share to cover her bills puts her face-to-face with danger she never saw coming. Now she's caught up in a mess that could cost her everything.

Jasiel Vaughn was a star athlete once, with a full-ride scholarship and dreams of going pro. But one injury changed everything, cutting his future short and forcing him to grow up fast. With no backup plan and a little sister who needs him, Jasiel does what he has to do even when it means crossing lines he swore he'd never touch.

Their worlds collide in a moment of chaos neither of them saw coming. What starts as a desperate escape become something deeper, two broken paths merging into one.

But with every mile, the danger grows, and the line between survival and surrender starts to blur. Because falling in love on the run? That was never supposed to happen. Now they're not just fighting to stay free... they're fighting for each other.

MEET THE AUTHOR

Neveah Jayne is a black romance author telling the kind of love stories that stay with you, honest, passionate, and beautifully messy. As a mother of two and a lifelong reader, her love for books pushed her to start writing her own: raw, character-driven romances that reflect real life, real pain, and real healing. She doesn't shy away from the gritty side of life; instead, she leans into it, exploring the struggles, secrets, and second chances that shape her characters' journeys. Whether it's a love that defies the odds or a woman choosing herself, Neveah always delivers a story where love, no matter how complicated, is always worth fighting for.

MEET THE AUTHOR

Gwin Savage has been writing stories and building worlds since the age of eight. She writes deeply flawed heroines who make mistakes but learn from them.

She develops FF+ polyamorous relationships with clear communication, consent, and boundaries, plus plenty of toe-curling spice.

She lives in the Seattle area and is in the process of moving to Spain to join her fiancée, her "sister-wife," and their two larger-than-life cats in Spain.

Tiss: I awoke in this temple with no memory of myself. Apparently, I dedicated my life to the goddess, but that's impossible. When I see something not meant for my eyes, it's obvious things darker than worship happen here.

All I want is to know who put me here. Until I'm summoned by High Priestess Elodie.

Her magnetism is hard to ignore no matter how wildly her moods shift. When the sweet and charming Sadrie makes her interest known, a vicious hunger awakens inside of me. The longer I spend with both women, the sharper it becomes.

Elodie: Four years on top of this miserable mountain. Four years of strict discipline to guard my secrets, and there she is prowling my temple.

Beautiful and bratty, Tiss sees both sides of me. Her presence disrupts everything I've worked for. With so much to protect, I must stay away, but my discipline is faltering...

The Darkest Glass | Olivia Danson

Debut

October 10, 2025

In a kingdom where magic has been outlawed and old gods are only whispered about behind closed doors, there is a hungry darkness lurking beneath the glittering mask of Halcyon. It is in this land where four strangers will have their lives forever changed:

Julia Sheffield, a fake princess bound to a monster.

Tobias Flemming, a thieving werewolf desperate to provide for himself and his younger sister.

Nathaniel Trevet, an aristocratic vampire with insatiable ambition.

Sybil Vorn, a dishonored necromancer looking for redemption.

With a fight for the crown on the horizon and growing rumors the White Raven, a fabled body-snatching demon foretold to end the world, walks Halcyon's cobbled streets, Julia, Tobias, Nathaniel, and Sybil must stake their place in a kingdom on the verge of crumbling beneath its own secrets.

Alejandra and Clara have been best friends since forever. They've always been each other's person, and they've heard "Are you two dating?" so often, it's basically an inside joke. What Alejandra doesn't know is that for Clara, it's never been that funny, because she's been in love with her best friend for years.

When Alejandra's grandmother kicks off a matchmaking frenzy in preparation for her sister's wedding, Alejandra panics and blurts out a lie: she's already seeing someone... Clara.

As pretend starts to feel a little too real, Alejandra begins to question her own heart. Now the two must face an even scarier question: What if they can't help but fall, even if it means risking everything they've always had?

The moment Riley showed up on my doorstep with a baby in her arms, my entire world shifted. Emmy—my daughter, her niece. The family I've always wanted but never thought I'd have.

The catch? Custody isn't simple. Alone, neither of us is enough in the eyes of social services. Together, with one marriage certificate, we can give Emmy the home she deserves.

I told myself it was just paperwork. That I could live beside Riley, share the midnight feedings and the messy mornings, without wanting more. But every smile she saves for Emmy, every unguarded laugh that slips out when she thinks I'm not listening, makes it harder to keep my distance.

Meet Me in December | Racquel Henry November 30, 2023

Giancarlo Westbrook isn't supposed to be home this Christmas.

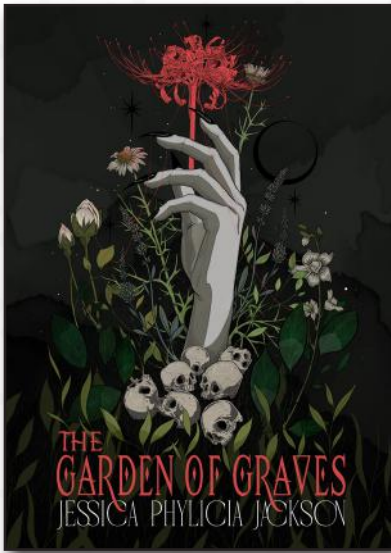

To Felicity James, Giancarlo, a.k.a. her brother's best friend, is the unfinished draft that's never supposed to see the light of day. After one unforgettable kiss in college, which was strictly for educational purposes, they both agreed that memory should be tucked in a locked drawer. So what if they grew up sharing countless late-night dinners from The Golden Lobster, adventures, and whispered secrets under twinkling stars? The line in front of the friend zone is clearly drawn, and it's a line Felicity knows her brother, Clay, would hate for his best friend and sister to cross.

Six years later, they're both back in their hometown of Wedgefield for Christmas. Felicity, now an ornament maker, and Giancarlo, now a well-known muralist, are both at a crossroads in their careers. They're each looking for a distraction—and trying to ignore the spark that never went away—when Felicity uncovers an unexpected mystery from her grandmother's past. And she's determined to solve it. There's just one problem, Clay volunteers Giancarlo to help her. As Felicity and Giancarlo embark on a mission to solve the mystery in time to deliver the Christmas gift of a lifetime to her grandmother, they find themselves caught up in the familiarity and comfort of each other's presence. Maybe some drafts are meant to be finished. Maybe some stories need to be told.

If you'd like to be included in an upcoming edition of the Cozy Indie Book Catalogue, all you have to do is fill out the Cozy Indie Book Catalogue submission form. From there, I sort through submissions and build each edition with care.

My future goals with this catalogue are to continue to spotlight indie authors and their books, and my plan for the upcoming year, 2026, is to build a community where authors can come together, share their work, encourage one another, and celebrate the stories they create.

I'm incredibly grateful for the authors who have submitted to previous editions. Having recurring authors who want to continue working with me is truly an honor, and I hope to keep creating a space where your stories can shine.
