Make the most of this online, interactive document! Be aware that many words and buttons can be clicked on to jump to different pages in the catalogue to help you spend more time browsing and less time navigating. Some links will take you to Usborne Books Canada websites.

Table of Contents

The items in the Table of Contents list can be clicked on to jump you to the relevant page — both the section name and the page number will work. You can jump back to the Table of Contents easily by clicking on the ToC button at the bottom of every page.

Index

Clicking on one of the letters of the alphabet located at the top of each right-hand page will take you to that letter section in the Index.

Clicking on a book title will jump you to the first page it's found on, and clicking on the page numbers will jump you to that specific page!

Social Media and our Website

These four buttons are found at the top right on every double page spread. They will take you to our social media pages and our website. All of them open in a new tab of your browser so that this catalogue stays open in its own tab. An important implication is that the “back” button in your browser won’t work and you need to find and click on the tab for the catalogue to get back here.

Navigation

You’re viewing this catalogue on an e-zine website which has some navigation buttons for you to use, however this catalogue also has its own built-in navigational buttons. At the bottom centre of most pages there are four buttons to help you navigate easily. Here’s what each does:

Be Curious!

One more story to keep them smiling.

Dear Reader,

My dad, Peter Usborne, set up Usborne in 1973 when he found out he was going to become a father. I have grown up with this company and watched the love, hard work, and belief that he poured into it. Sadly, my beloved dad died in March 2023, aged 85 and a ½ — but not before kickstarting Usborne's 50th Birthday year in 2023 by receiving a medal from King Charles III for 'Services to Literature'. He never retired (he loved making books too much!) and spent his final days in the office, excited about new projects. He always said that being a children's book publisher was the greatest privilege of his life — and he has been remembered all over the world as being one of the very greatest pioneers in the industry. Being able to continue my dad's astonishing legacy is a huge honour.

My dad created something truly special when he started Usborne, and we believe that it shows in the books we make. Quite unusually, all our books are conceived, written, and designed in-house, by our hugely talented team. You can feel the time, care, and attention that they put into them.

My dad's motto was quite simply "Do it Better" — based on his belief that children of all ages deserved the very best books. Every book that we have ever published — and ever will — aims to spark curiosity. Whether that's a baby exploring one of our sensory books for the first time, or an older child discovering big concepts through our non-fiction series, Usborne books always encourage children to explore the world around them, asking plenty of questions along the way.

Our books are phenomenally popular all over the world because we put children at the heart of everything we do. Usborne is a children's specialist: we only publish books for children, so we come at the world from a child's point of view. Our books are written in their language and designed for their curious eyes. We hope that this catalogue will spark your curiosity.
