unique carpets with own stories

100% natural wool. fair trade and circular design.

about mantara

Our project involves fair trade and circular design values. Our pieces revalorize the know-how and the ancestral techniques which the artisans from Santiago del Estero weave in each thread.

We string stories together, sew present and future focusing on taking care of the environment. Our rugs sum up the work of a community which feels respected, valued and integrated to the process of circular economy.

We believe in the creative spirit of design, in the textile which we create alongside the artisans and in the design which we develop and take to the whole country.

We respect our surroundings, the land and Nature in pursuit of achieving a balance where the environment is the protagonist of a new era; that's why the output of the process is first class raw material.

With the Earth terribly threatened and with more doubts than certainties, this is a moment to reorganize and value collaborative formats. The transformation is powered from the purity of the material and the quality of the natural textiles. We do not use dyes neither chemical processes to alter the raw material.

We have the tools and the knowledge to string our own story together.

We are a certified B Company. Several of our products have been distinguished with Sello Buen Diseño, the official distinction granted by the Ministry of Productive Development of the Nation.
