ANTONINO SCIORTINO

METAL SCULPTURES

The hands of the Milan (Italy)-based designed Antonino Sciortino bring metal to life. Objects shaped from soft iron create a sculpture-like aura. The handcrafted finish emphasizes the soul we recognize in each object. Can be perfectly integrated in a wide range of interior spaces because of their pure forms and the vintage look and finish.

"I'm an artisan designer, I use my own two hands to work on shapes that I find relevant at a certain time. My designs are always the result of a need that I feel at any given time."

BEA MOMBAERS

INTERIOR ACCESSORIES

Deco Cushions - The new upholstery fabrics for the indoor/outdoor sofas and cushions of the Bea Mombaers collection are produced by a Belgian weaving mill with a long-standing history. The mill has been weaving quality fabrics for prominent national and international customers for five generations already. The cushion covers are locally manufactured as well, making this a 100 percent Belgian story. Bea chose beautiful linen and woolen fabrics, with timeless, 'passe-partout' colours and patterns, which she thinks are easy to combine in any interior.

Mirrors & Trays - Her urge for (un)perfect beauty is Bea Mombaers's greatest drive and forms the basis for a versatile line in interior design, with sober lounge sofas, bean bag chairs, bistro tables, side tables, concrete trays, black steel wall racks, and decorative mirrors and atmospheric lamps.

"I chose beatiful linen and woolen fabrics, with timeless, 'passe-partout' colours and patterns, which I think are easy to combine in any interior."

BELA SILVA

CARNET DE VOYAGES

Every bowl, dish or jug of Bela Silva's Carnet de voyages collection for Serax resounds with an unmistakable echo from the past. This is uttered by both the colours of the glazed clay and the robust design. The style is 'worldly', a limitless fusion of Bela's many travels around the world. Carnet de voyages by Bela Silva for Serax, bold and quirky in an eclectic, geographic mix that blurs even the boundaries of time.

BERTRAND LEJOLY

COSE

Cose is a collection of accessories that can by no means be pinned down to the bathroom. The bowls, jars and soap dispenser can be used equally in the kitchen, to serve the aperitif, or as storage containers. The rounded lines fit perfectly into the simple and refined design language of the Belgian designer, Bertrand Lejoly. The craftsmanship involved in the manufacture of these porcelain objects in off-white and off-black also ensures that Cose looks unique and certainly not sterile.

FRÉDÉRICK GAUTIER

FCK

Frédérick Gautier's industrial concrete Vases à arroser from his FCK collection for Serax, inspired by the floating bollards in the locks of the canals in Paris, include four minimalistic water reservoirs that reflect the opulence of the flowers when they are filled. For his sandstone and weathering steel Bau vases, Frédérick harks back to the Bauhaus architecture in the streets of Tel Aviv. With this vase you can highlight a single flower or create floral profusion by joining several elements, like an architectural structure.

"On a boat trip through Paris, we had to moor in a lock.

The characteristic form and the functionality of the floating bollards the boat was attached to immediately attracted my attention."

DENIS GUIDONE

JAPANESE VASES

Italian designer Denis Guidone likes to draw his inspiration from Japanese art, which he then brilliantly merges with Western influences. Following the success of his iconic Iki Dolls vases, which pursue a traditional Japanese aesthetic of style and elegance, Denis has based his second collection for Serax on the ancient Japanese arts bonseki and ikebana, miniature landscapes with gardens, hills and mountains and 'living' flower arrangements. As with the Japanese 'ikebana' art of flower arrangement, the game of lines, rhythm and colour is central to the Komorebi vases of Denis Guidone. The borosilicate glass plays with the light, creating a special optical effect. The delicate forms express an invitation to add an abundance or just a simple touch of colour with a single flower or a well-orchestrated sequence of natural elements. At first sight, the Bonseki vase appears to be a three separate piece, but the hand-blown vase is actually merged into a magically balanced unity. In this Japanese art form, everything revolves around the sensation of peace and satisfaction that you feel when creating a natural landscape. With this collection of Bonseki and Komorebi vases, Denis Guidone and Serax invite you to create your personal ikebana arrangement or miniature flower landscape.

LOIC WILLEMOT

LIGNE CARRÉE

In his work, Ghent-based designer Loïc Willemot always goes in search of new ways to give simple objects a special look with nothing but minimal interventions. This is no different for his Ligne carré tealight holders for Serax. Seemingly unimposing objects, but as soon as you light a candle, a beautiful interplay of lines appears through the open corners. From the outset, the designer had a clear goal in mind. He wanted to create metal tealight holders that were completely different from the usual low, round ones. He folded a cross out of a thin sheet of metal and adjusted it until the light created exactly the lines he was looking for. Every detail has been contemplated. For example, the black powder-coated steel has a matt finish so that it does not reflect light sources, allowing the candlelight to work its magic without interference. Moreover, by combining the three different sizes, you will be able to play with the effects. An extraordinary design that never gets old.

LUC VINCENT

BOIS DE ROND

Bois de rond, a unique and minimalist frame for wood. Belgian designer Luc Vincent has already had an impressive track record resulting in an extensive oeuvre of different objects. A clear evolution is noticeable in his work. Banal formalism and competitive shapes are dropped. The study of the functional side which is part of life and its beauty is essential.

MARIE MICHIELSSEN

INTERIOR ACCESSORIES

Earth - A profound love of paper and prints and the reuse of materials has inspired Marie Michielssen to create a series of characteristic lamps and pots in papier-mâché for Serax. Playing with volumes, she creates a new visual print. The unique, traditional character is not only reflected in the print, but also in the shape and colours. Papier-mâché has a great advantage since it allows a free, organic way of designing. Furthermore, this material provides a special tactile result, which is an absolute must for the Earth collection. The vases were fitted with a fibre layer inside, to guarantee their water tightness.

Wind & Fire - With Wind & Fire, designer Marie Michielssen makes a foray into a relatively new field, namely glass. A very lively material, that is shaped using a combination of wind and fire. She has transposed her organic paper mâché EARTH vases into glass. At the same time, she has also added completely new shapes to the collection. "The shape of these vases is reminiscent of old pharmacy pots", says Marie. "I like the proportions of these pots." Marie felt that glass offered her an opportunity to experiment with colour. The possibilities are endless. While these vases can be used for a traditional flower arrangement, they are also perfectly suited for a still-life with just one or a few flowers.

Construct Tray - Marie Michielssen loves the outdoors. She always enjoys setting the table on her terrace or having aperitifs outside. That is why she came up with a handy addition to her Construct glass fiber pots: a tray that can serve as a lid for the smallest size, so that it can also be used as a storage element in an instant.

Marie - Eclectic, a world full of wonderful extremes based on a well-thought-out structure. That is the first thing that comes to mind for the accessories collection of Marie Michielssen. Serax 's resident designer likes variety, both in style and in her use of materials and colours. From papier-mâché through concrete to porcelain, cheerfully coloured or in muted natural colours, inspired by constructivism or by the earth in its most rudimentary form, each collection is completely different.

Marie Tealights - Marie Michielssen has designed for Serax for many years. Home designer Marie Michielssen draws her inspiration from daily life. She lets different stimuli lead and inspire her to make new designs. Her impressions are translated into original designs for a range of tealights.

Marie Michielssen - Earth

"With the vases in papier-mâché, I feel my visual language shifting ever closer towards the sculptural."

Marie Michielssen

"For every design, an extensive study of shapes takes place beforehand; it all happens very intuitively."

MORRIS MARIGO

BUBBLEBUBBLE

This time the Italian floral artist wanted to create a design aimed at presenting a larger and heavier flower in an elegant way. He came up with three vases in different sizes that are attached to a metal plate by means of a magnet, which makes it easier to move the whole. The name refers to the bubbleshaped bulge in the glass, but also to air bubbles in water, which are essential for the survival of the flower.

ONTWERPDUO

NOVECENTO

Ontwerpduo, an established name in the world of design, has roots that go further back than their registration with the Chamber of Commerce in 2008. Tineke Beunders and Nathan Wierink had already formed a team back when they were still studying at the Design Academy. Quite a special duo, the very definition of the concept 'complementary'. New functions for existing objects always sprout from Tineke Beunders' imagination, often completely ignoring any practical and technical aspects. These fantasy objects often take on seemingly impossible shapes, but then Nathan Wierink steps in. In his workshop, which is starting to look more like a laboratory, he gets to work on Tineke's designs, and when he comes back out, it always appears that his partner's ideas were feasible after all.

PATRICK PARIS

LE PETIT PHOTOPHORE BÉTON

Patrick Paris' new collection of tea light holders for Serax, Le Petit Photophore de Béton, represents an accumulation of contradictions. The cold, restrained and colourless concrete cube that you perceive at first glance actually conceals a warm, round shelter for the tealight. Playing with the light in three different ways, the three different models are all unique eye-catchers, but in each other's company, they sprinkle every room or space with a touch of magic.

PERFECTION

Roos Van de Velde is a visual artist who is inspired by nature. Nature is the thread that runs through all of her designs with a recurring and strong underlying presence. Her china objects symbolise innovation in different fields. She was one of the first ceramists to produce a collection of which the imperfection, the flaws and the coincidence during the production process became a deliberate part of the end product.

STUDIO SIMPLE

DAYSIGN

The two designers Ann Vereecken and Jeroen Worst of Studio Simple love simplicity. The simple design and the choice of materials invariably show up again and again in the products made by this duo. The Studio Simple collection shows a universal character and provides that extra touch to every interior. A clear and beautiful example of design from our very own country.

LOUIS DE LIMBURG

WINDY

The umbrella stand has the same look & feel as 'Frame', the clothes rack that De Limburg designed previously for Serax. "As with Frame, I opted for cast concrete, because this technique provides the required stability. At first, I added perpendicular, symmetrical perforations in the material. However, this caused the umbrellas to fall down in all directions and, ultimately, the base to tip over. I was against making the stand any wider, because it would cause the design to lose its finesse." The solution turned out to be both simple and ingenious. "By drilling the holes at a 30-degree angle, all the umbrellas in the stand now tip in the same direction, as if they are all being 'blown' to one side by a light breeze."

SYLVAIN WILLENZ

SILEX VASES

With SILEX, Serax returns to the discipline it started out with over thirty years ago: glassware for flowers. While the brand has clearly evolved since then, it is very pleased to be able to return to those roots with Sylvain Willenz. For Sylvain Willenz, the design of the SILEX vases was an important study in form. When you look at the vases from above, they are not really cylinders, nor are they squares. The faceted corners are in stark contrast to the curves of the glass. "Not an easy shape to make in glass," says Willenz. "It takes a lot of lung power to get the sufficient amount of glass up against those faceted corners. This is an additional difficulty you don't face with round shapes." Another challenge is the weight of the SILEX vases. This weight requires strong, experienced and specialised glass blowers who can deliver the vases in the right shape. The two colours, amber and smoky blue, complement each other perfectly. Refraction of light ensures that each vase looks different from every angle," Willenz adds.
