Dan was very happy.

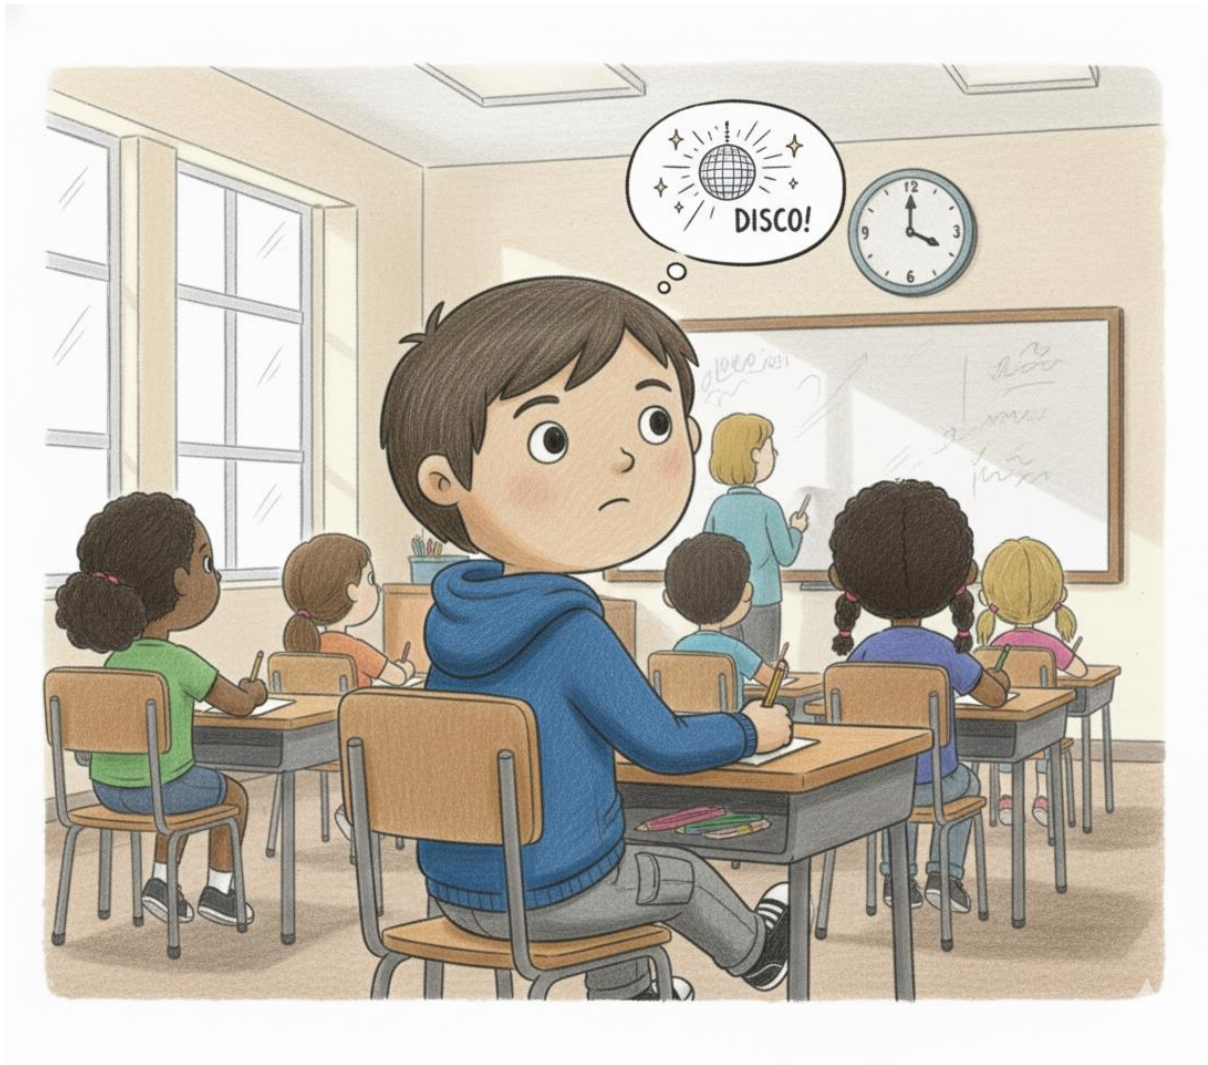

There was a school disco that night.

He had been waiting for it all week.

He could not stop thinking about it.

At school, Dan talked about the disco.
He told his friends he would dance all night.
He said he might even slide on the floor.
His friends laughed and smiled.

Dan found it hard to sit still in class.

He kept looking at the clock.

He wanted the school day to end.

He wanted to get ready for the disco.

When Dan got home, he ran to his room.

He picked out his best shirt.

He brushed his hair.

He looked in the mirror and smiled.

At last, it was time to go.

The school hall was full of lights.

Music played loud and clear.

Dan saw his friends by the door.

Dan went to the table with sweets.

He did not know what to buy.

There were red sweets, green sweets and blue sweets.

He bought a big bag of blue sweets.

Dan could not stop eating the sweets.

They tasted so good.

His face was blue.

His fingers were blue.

Dan looked at his tongue in a mirror.

It was bright blue too.

He showed it to his friends.

They laughed so much they could not stop.

Dan was full of energy.

He waved his arms and spun around.

Then he went down on his knees.

He slid across the floor.

Everyone clapped and cheered.

Dan felt like a star.

He smiled and kept dancing.

His blue tongue looked funny under the lights.

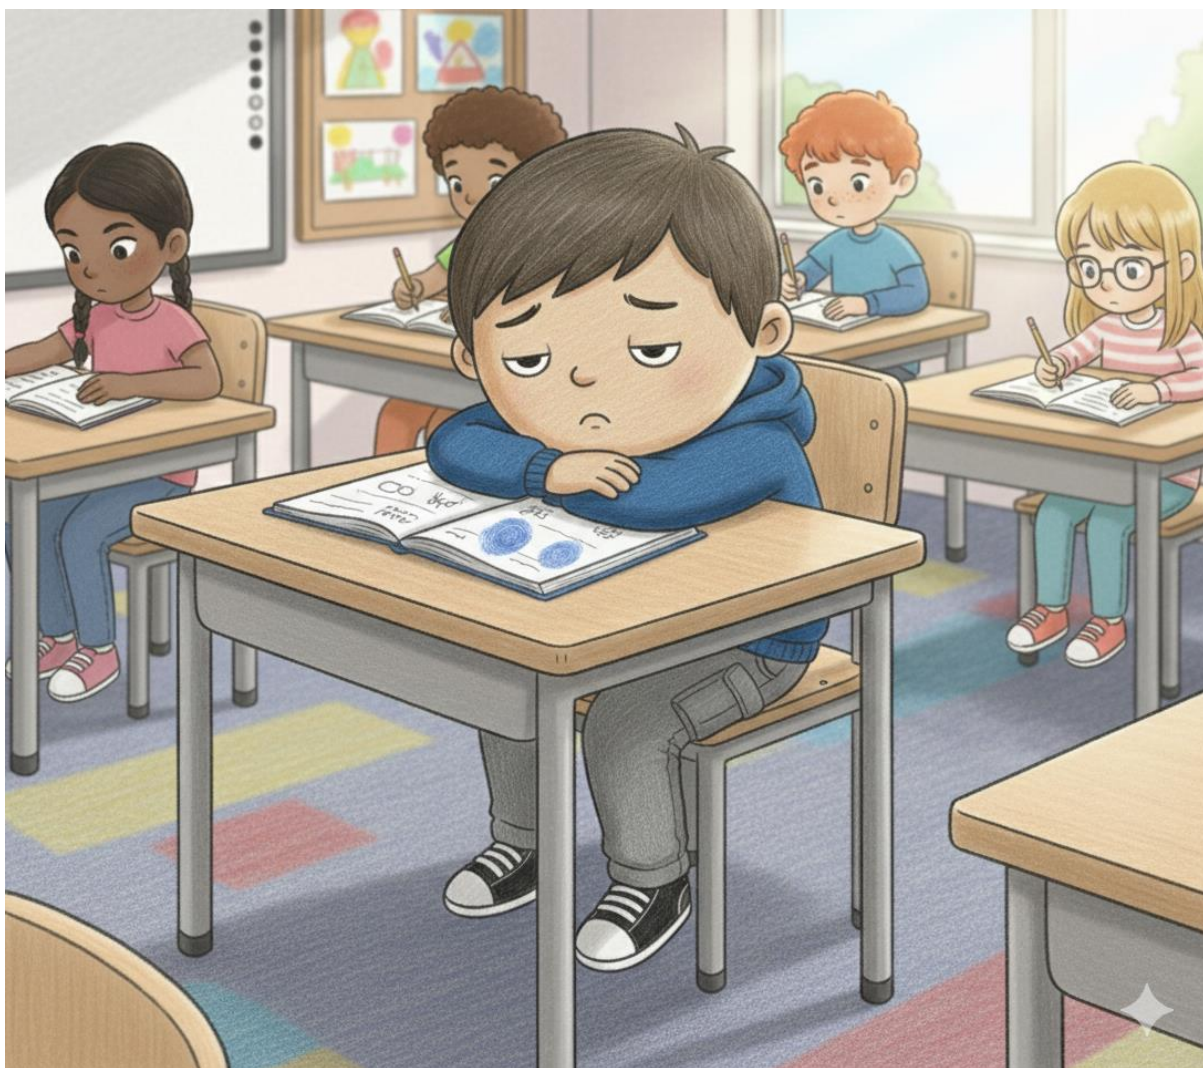

When Dan got home, he felt wide awake.

He lay in bed and looked at the clock.

He could not sleep at all.

His tummy was still full of sugar.

The next day at school, Dan was very tired.

He wanted to go to sleep.

He said that he would never eat a blue sweet again...

... until the next school disco!
