Something DIFFERENT at the Village

Experiential learning is all about doing something new and different, leaving a lasting impact on your students' education. We invite you to disconnect from the modern world and embark on a captivating journey to Black Creek Pioneer Village!

Step back in time as you and your students explore a meticulously recreated 19th-century village. From the rustic buildings to the bustling streets, every detail provides an authentic glimpse into the past. Watch as costumed historians bring history to life, sharing stories, trades, and traditions from the era. Your students will be captivated by sights, sounds, and smells of a bygone era.

Recognizing the importance of highlighting marginalized voices, the Village is changing the narrative and "re-storying" the past. Students explore stories of real people from equity-deserving communities who lived and worked in the Toronto region during the 1800s. Every student visits the traditional Ojibwe wiigiwaam built under the guidance of Indigenous elders and knowledge-keepers, located next to the homes of a settler family to remind us of all the enduring presence of Indigenous peoples on the land. A visit to the Village encourages students to view the past through many lenses and consider how all peoples created the region we live in today.

BLACK CREEK

PIONEER VILLAGE

— Toronto and Region Conservation Authority —

Experience new programming - Team-building at The Village! Some skills never go out of style. The Village's new interactive team building programs promote perseverance, co-operation, and positivity. Set against the backdrop of the heritage village, students work together to decipher, collaborate, and come together as a team. Perfect for grades 6+.

At the Village, education is at the heart of everything we do. We believe that true understanding comes through active participation. That's why our field trips offer hands-on activities and interactive demonstrations. Students can try their hand at a selection of 19th century sports and games, artifact discovery, nature walks, spinning and weaving wool, and much more.

BOTANNICA TIRANNICA

An exhibition by Giselle Beiguelman

May 30 – October 20, 2024

Koffler Arts is proud to present Botannica Tirannica by award-winning Brazilian artist Giselle Beiguelman. The exhibition explores how common botanical names both mirror and perpetuate societal prejudices against racial, cultural, gender, and social groups.

Beiguelman was inspired to create this exhibition after receiving a gift of a Tradescantia zebrina seedling, commonly called “Wandering Jew”, a name referencing the 13th-century myth that recurred in Nazi propaganda. This led Beiguelman to investigate the complex, interwoven histories of botany, taxonomy and colonialism that often result in discrimination against specific groups of people.

Beiguelman has worked closely with two Indigenous experts to situate the exhibition in a Canadian context: Dr. Jonathan Ferrier, a Mississauga, Anishinaabe (Ojibwe) scientist and a Biology professor at Dalhousie University, and Isaac Crosby, also known as Brother Nature, a Black/Ojibwa knowledge keeper, gardener and agriculture expert. Dr. Jonathan Ferrier has collaborated with Beiguelman on a display of living plants each with prejudicial names. Isaac Crosby created The Garden of Resilience outside the exhibition in front of the Youngplace building on Shaw Street. It includes various plant species – considered to be invasive “weeds”.

Alongside the display of plants, visitors to the gallery will engage with two series of images created using Artificial Intelligence of reimagined hybrid plants that are positioned as resistant and resilient life forms. The exhibition also features a soundscape by São Paulo-based composer Gabriel Francisco Lemos.

Inspiring Environmental Stewards

Camp Kawartha (CK) has been providing unforgettable outdoor learning experiences since 1921.

CK's mission is to teach children how to care for each other and the Earth we all share. By using innovative teaching strategies, showcasing sustainable living in action, connecting students to nature and helping them to develop skills to enjoy the outdoors, we can inspire your students to care for the ecosystems that support and nurture us all.

Our outdoor education programs are educational, engaging, and just plain fun! Every program is linked to the Ontario Curriculum, to the UN Sustainability Goals, and to our Environmental Stewardship Framework. To learn more about our programs, visit www.campkawartha.ca.

For our 2024-25 season, Roseneath Theatre encourages kindness and compassion in our young audiences.

This fall we begin with the world premiere of "Taking Care of Maman" by Djennie Laguerre in a joint production with Black Theatre Workshop in Tiohtià:ke (Montreal). In "Taking Care of Maman", Eli's maman is having her sadness again and she knows their neighbour Madame Jean can help her. This funny and heartfelt piece explores how two completely different generations develop a supportive and lasting relationship during the hardest time of the pandemic. The study guide for grades 4-8 comes with a variety of activities supporting Mental Health, Journalling, Language and Culture, Media Literacy and even a little Dance. We're excited to offer a feature length live production reaching audiences in our company's communities and beyond.

All season long, discover Digital Dialogues, where you and your students can engage with a pre-recorded performance from our repertoire of playwrights, actors, and directors. These sessions offer flexible viewing options: enjoy the show together as a class, let students watch independently on their devices, or assign it as homework. Following the viewing, we will arrange a talk-back session with one of the creators via your preferred video conferencing software. This live Q&A provides a unique opportunity to delve deeper into the creative process, fostering a richer understanding and appreciation of the arts.

In Spring 2025, "No Big Deal" and "The Money Tree", are being remounted for a wider tour of Ontario. "No Big Deal" by Micheal Kras for grades 7-12 follows longtime friends Ariel and Grayson who are working at a horrible theme park for the summer before college. Tensions rise over their increasingly different ideas of growing into manhood - and a complicated incident involving fellow employee Lucy - might be enough to threaten their friendship. Tackling timely themes of contemporary masculinity, bro culture, and consent, "No Big Deal" is a complex, funny, and humane new play for high school audiences that's sure to provoke urgent discussion.

"The Money Tree" by Robert Watson is our long time favourite show for grade K-6 all about financial literacy. When Shasta's father loses his job, she is devastated to learn that her upcoming birthday party must be significantly downsized. Shasta and her imaginative friend, Simon, meet a mysterious Traveler who gives them a magic seed that will make a tree grow leaves of money. The two ultimately learn that being a loyal friend is worth more than a big party or having the latest toys.

Theatre has an amazing power to help everyone better understand and empathize with others and we want to share this with your students!

We consider ourselves an outdoor extension of your classroom and can provide step-by-step assistance to ensure smooth planning and an enjoyable experience for all.

Children thrive on new experiences and the chance to challenge themselves. Regardless of the season, adventure is always part of the program, with a wide variety of mountain experiences designed to inspire and challenge students while providing a safe and inclusive learning environment.

Day and overnight trip options are available, and our programming centers around our Adventure and Explore parks, which consist of over 13 attractions and more than 30 km of hiking and biking trails across the Niagara Escarpment – a World Biosphere Reserve.

In winter, we adhere to OSRA recommendations and offer students the opportunity to learn to ski and snowboard or improve their skills at Ontario's largest ski resort. Blue Mountain provides dedicated school group event managers, ambassadors, and certified ski and snowboard instructors. Rentals are pre-set for a smooth arrival, and we also offer activities for students who may not wish to ski or snowboard.

Leadership-based programming combined with resort attractions and traditional camp activities is also available. Here, students can connect with nature, build friendships, celebrate personal growth, and contribute to Blue Mountain's commitment to sustainability.
