About Us

At Patrick Bengal Luxury Estate Builders, we're known for one thing: getting it done right - the first time.

With nearly two decades of experience in luxury real estate, construction, and architectural planning, we bring the leadership, systems, and accountability every high-level project demands. We know that even small mistakes in planning or execution can lead to costly delays - and we don't let that happen.

Every project is run with sharp coordination, expert oversight, and full transparency from start to finish. Our clients rely on us because we're proactive, detail-oriented, and relentlessly committed to excellence.

Whether you're building a luxury estate, developing a new home, doing a full remodel, or expanding with a room addition - we're the team you can trust to deliver, at the highest level.

Our Mission

At Patrick Bengal Luxury Estate Builders, we create spaces that are timeless, elegant, and built with purpose - then executed with speed and precision.

We move fast, plan with clarity, and make decisions with confidence. We're experts at simplifying complex projects - delivering what others overcomplicate, with speed and confidence.

Our process is direct, precise, and proven - led by a team that has done this at the highest level, time and time again. That's how we keep projects moving forward - and finish faster than most, without ever compromising on quality.

We bring clarity, speed, and excellence to every job - and that's why the clients who care about getting it done right choose us, and refer us to their friends and family. That's where most of our business comes from.

Testimonials

10 years ago, we moved into the completed home that Patrick Bengal built for us. We have been so happy with the whole process. I continue to reach out to Patrick with questions, and he is always quick to respond and guide me to the right person if needed for anything and maintenance. I had complete trust in him after seeing his past projects, and he seamlessly took care of all the details. Patrick is knowledgeable about the rules building codes and maximized the square footage of our house in proportion to our lot size. Patrick also did a complete renovation and redesigning spaces for my parents which is my childhood home! He also did work for my brothers in-laws and other family friends. I highly recommend working with Patrick for remodeling or rebuilding your home. He is easy to work with and highly experienced.

I recently built a home in Santa Monica and leveraged Patrick for his expertise, working very closely together on all aspects of the development to ensure that the final product was a success. From the beginning, Patrick brought a unique blend of creativity and technical advice, making sure that every aspect of our project was thoughtfully planned and executed. Throughout our collaboration, Patrick's honesty and transparency were helpful. He was upfront about costs, timelines, and potential challenges, which helped bring about a sense of trust and ensured that there were minimal surprises along the way. Patrick Bengal is a great builder and designer whose integrity, skill, and passion for his craft make him a standout professional.

You've always been so reliable and a pleasure to work with; I'm so grateful for that. I gave your number to my family in case anything happens because I trust that you'll take care of them the same way you've always taken care of us
