WHAT'S HAPPENING

Leasing activity in the Atlanta office market has increased in the second quarter, highlighted by five leases signed for spaces larger than 100,000 SF. Although net absorption was negative for the quarter, this was largely due to AT&T's move-outs in Midtown, which contributed significantly to the market's total occupancy loss. While vacancy has continued its upward trend in recent quarters, positive move-in activity will occur later this year and into 2025. AGL Services Company, one of the latest major headquarters move announcements in Atlanta, leased 264,300 SF in Q2 and will vacate its current 255,000 SF footprint to move into its new location later this year. A low level of new office development and anticipated gains in occupancy could lead to gradually improving market fundamentals, though the trend of space rightsizing is expected to continue.
