Balinese New Year Resort Program

Dear Guests,

We hope you're doing well.

Unlike the lively New Year celebrations in Western culture, Bali welcomes its New Year with peace and reflection. This sacred day is one of the island's most significant traditions, dedicated to cleansing and renewal.

Starting at 6AM on 29 March until 6AM on 30 March 2025, the entire island will observe 24 hours of complete silence. No one may leave their home or accommodation, and all roads, businesses, and even the airport will be closed. This is a time for meditation, fasting, and self-reflection.

To honor this tradition, we kindly ask for your cooperation:

- Please remain within the hotel grounds during Balinese New Year.
- Swimming in the ocean or visiting the beach is not permitted.
- Avoid leaving the resort, as the local community (Banjar) ensures that the island remains undisturbed.
- Keep noise levels to a minimum in respect of this sacred day.

If this is your first Balinese New Year experience, you're in for something truly special. Embrace the rare opportunity to disconnect from the world and immerse yourself in Bali's deep spiritual traditions. Our team is here to ensure your comfort—please don't hesitate to ask if you have any questions.

Wishing you a peaceful and memorable Balinese New Year with us.

Be inspired,

Balinese New Year and It's Sacred Traditions

On 29 March 2025, Bali will welcome the Çaka Year 1947 with a day of absolute silence—no lights, no traffic, no fire, and no noise.

In the days leading up to Balinese New Year, the island comes alive with vibrant rituals:

- Melasti Purification (Three Days Before Balinese New Year)
Balinese Hindus perform sacred water purification ceremonies at beaches across the island, including Samuh Beach.
- Ogoh-Ogoh Parade (Night Before Balinese New Year)
As dusk falls, giant paper-mâché effigies called Ogoh-Ogoh are paraded through the streets to drive away evil spirits. This spectacular event takes place near the Nusa Dua gates at 6:30PM—a must-see cultural experience!

On Balinese New Year itself, Balinese families spend the day in quiet reflection, fasting, and meditating. It's also a time for forgiveness, symbolizing a fresh start for the year ahead.

Enjoy this rare moment of stillness and cultural wonder—it's a memory you'll cherish for years to come!
