GUIDED BY MISSION

"Providing a Pathway to Transformation Through Restorative Care"...

Our mission is at the heart of everything we do. With your unwavering support, New Day for Children creates transformative "pathways" for young trafficking survivors, guiding them toward renewed hope and healing. In a safe and nurturing environment, these children receive comprehensive care to reclaim their dignity and self-worth.

As I look back, 2024 was a year of remarkable growth for New Day. We were honored to place 40% more children in restorative care programs. We welcomed Garland Oaks, a new partner care home in Tennessee, and Emerging Grace, our fourth program in Texas! The children continue to make strides both in and out of the classroom, building confidence and advancing their skills.

In September, New Day's Night of Hope fundraiser surpassed all expectations, achieving unprecedented success, and thanks to your incredible generosity, our end-of-year appeal broke records. These vital funds allowed us to say "Yes" to more children, and invest more deeply in parent support! Together, we are transforming lives and shaping a world where young people can flourish and fulfill their unique potential. Please know that you are an essential part of each and every healing story, and a vital partner in their life-changing journey.

Thank you for believing in New Day's mission, and for investing in the lives of these extraordinary children. Your support makes all the difference.

STORIES BEHIND THE NUMBERS

FREEDOM JOURNEY 2024: RESTORING HEARTS ~ REBUILDING FUTURES

Thanks to your generosity, New Day for Children was able to expand our impact in 2024, increasing the number of children we served by 40% compared to 2023!

Children from Delaware, California, Georgia, North Carolina and Texas received the life-saving care they needed. These survivors, age 12 to 17, come from diverse backgrounds, each with their own unique story. They found safety and stability in our trusted partner programs in California, Colorado, Texas, Louisiana, and Tennessee.

Within these nurturing environments - designed to meet the unique needs of the children we serve - these young survivors began their journey of hope and healing. With the dedicated support of trained and compassionate staff, they receive the care and empowerment they need to overcome the profound trauma of sex trafficking, to reclaim their future, and embrace a life filled with opportunity and possibilities.

TRAUMA-INFORMED THERAPY: A LIFELINE FOR HEALING

Behind every number is a child—a survivor—who has endured more than we can imagine. Trauma-informed therapy isn't just a service; it's a lifeline that empowers children to heal and move forward. Thanks to you, children receive compassionate support from care staff and therapists, who provide specialized trauma therapy tailored to their unique needs.

Healing doesn't end when a child leaves our care. That's why New Day continues to support them with therapy and life-coaching as they transition home, offering family counseling to rebuild trust and connection.

Caring for survivors is emotionally demanding. Your support also provides therapy for staff care-givers, helping them process secondary trauma and maintain well-being; healing starts with those who provide care.

MEET OUR NEW RESTORATIVE CARE PROGRAM PARTNERS

GARLAND OAKS

Senior Director Amy McAmis and her husband have personally fostered children for over ten years. In 2018, Amy was hired by Street Hope TN to implement the vision of creating a Christ-centered home that fosters healing and hope for girls, ages 12-17, who are survivors of trafficking. That is when Garland Oaks began.

Amy says, “What started as a home of hope has become a house of miracles—it is so rewarding to see those miracles every day in the lives of children who once thought they were forgotten.”

Garland Oaks is a ministry of Street Hope Tennessee, an impactful Christian nonprofit organization focused on bringing an end to the sexual exploitation and trafficking of children in Tennessee.

The name Garland Oaks is derived from Isaiah 61: 1-3, where the Lord says He will give the brokenhearted and those set free a garland of beauty instead of ashes and make them solid oaks, restored and firmly planted in Him.

One child said, “Garland Oaks didn’t have to happen, but I’m really glad it did.” Another wrote, “Keep doing what you’re doing because you’re doing it right.” These words remind the care-team daily of the life-changing impact of their work.

EMERGING GRACE MINISTRIES

Emerging Grace

Each child who comes to Emerging Grace in Texas is welcomed with open arms, not as a case to solve, but as a person to cherish. We focus on creating a sense of safety from the very beginning, taking the time to build trust and stability at a pace that feels right for them. Patience and flexibility guide everything we do, allowing us to create a nurturing space where setbacks are part of the journey and growth happens naturally. We understand that healing isn't a straight path—it's a winding road, and we're here to walk it with them.

We know we can't do this alone, which is why we partner with organizations, like New Day for Children, who make it possible for the children to come and receive the trauma informed care they need.

At Emerging Grace, it is our mission to restore a child's hope and renew their spirit, because every child is worthy of love and life. We are so grateful for all you do to make healing possible through your gifts to New Day for Children. Tina Stahl

"After working in the corporate world, I felt a calling to heal the hearts of children from hard places. I first answered the call when I became a houseparent at Boys & Girls Country. My career then took me on a journey that led to my commitment to open a campus for girls that centers on the exclusive needs of child sex trafficking victims. My goal is to see these children move from victims to survivors and to become future leaders of their community"
