Timeless Fairways: From Ancient Links to Modern Masterpieces

THOUGHT GOLF IN THE UK & IRELAND COULDN'T GET BETTER? THINK AGAIN...

From the rugged links forged by nature centuries ago to the iconic fairways that have witnessed the greatest moments in golf history, it's the sense of heritage, history, and legacy in the UK and Ireland that remains the true draw for golfers around the world.

In many ways, not much has changed since we launched Your Golf Travel two decades ago. Golfers still travel from all corners of the globe to experience the legendary courses that are steeped in tradition. They are masterpieces shaped by the land, and stepping onto their turf is to walk in the footsteps of the game's greatest players.

However, golf in the UK and Ireland is about so much more than nostalgia. Over the last 20 years, we've seen the emergence of modern classics that have added a new and innovative dimension to golf here, with courses like Dundonald Links, Dumbarnie Links, Trump International Aberdeen and the TwentyTen Course at Celtic Manor, while Remedy Oak and Centurion bring a fresh approach to parkland golf.

It's this juxtaposition - between the old and the new - that makes the UK and Ireland such a special place to play golf. Here, you can tee off on ancient links carved out by the elements and, the very next day, experience the cutting-edge design of a newly built masterpiece.

The diversity and depth of courses on offer is simply unmatched, with nearly 3,000 golf clubs spread across the region. In fact, almost one-third of the Top 100 Golf Courses in the World are found in the UK and Ireland, a testament to the exceptional quality and rich history of golf on these shores.

And our partnership with England Golf embodies our commitment to supporting the game's heritage here while also embracing its future. Together, we're dedicated to championing amateur golf, nurturing the next generation of players - such as with the Race to Woodhall Spa Sponsored by Your Golf Travel - and providing our customers with unparalleled access to the finest courses across the UK and Ireland.

The essence of what makes the UK and Ireland so special remains unchanged - historic courses and natural beauty. Yet, this remarkable golfing landscape is constantly evolving, making golf in the UK and Ireland not just extraordinary, but ever better with each passing year.

The Dream 18: Our Ultimate UK & Ireland Fantasy Golf Course

If you could build a golf course using the best holes in the UK and Ireland, what would you choose?

We've taken the most iconic and must-play holes from the British Isles - in the order they appear on their respective courses - to create our own ultimate fantasy course.

This handpicked collection captures the essence of what makes golf in this region so unique, blending breathtaking landscapes, storied history, and unforgettable challenges. Discover the highlights of our legendary fairways and explore the bucket-list experiences that every golfer should know about.

How many have you ticked off... and when are you going to tick off the rest?

1st: Machrihanish

Par 4, 428 yards

Often cited as the best opening hole in golf, the tee shot requires a daring drive over the Atlantic, setting the stage for a thrilling round.

2nd: Royal Porthcawl

Par 4, 425 yards

This par 4 hugs the rugged Welsh coastline, offering dramatic views and a testing second shot to an elevated green exposed to the elements.

3rd: Royal County Down

Par 4, 475 yards

Framed by the Mourne Mountains, this hole showcases the best of links golf with a blind tee shot and a sloping fairway leading to a hidden green.

4th: Royal St George's

Par 4, 496 yards

A classic links challenge, the 4th features the deepest bunker in Open Championship golf. Its undulating fairway demands precision off the tee and a strategic approach.

5th: Lahinch

Par 3, 154 yards

Known as "The Dell," this blind par 3 has an unpredictable green nestled between dunes. It's quirky, historic, and unforgettable - a true test of nerve and accuracy.

6th: Sunningdale (New Course)*Par 5, 510 yards

A stunning par 5 with heather-lined fairways, the 6th offers a risk-reward choice. Long hitters can challenge the green in two, but bunkers await errant shots.

7th: Pennard*Par 4, 351 yards

Often called "The Links in the Sky," this hole sits atop cliffs, offering breathtaking views of the Gower Peninsula. It's short but tricky, requiring a well-placed drive.

8th: Royal Troon*Par 3, 123 yards

The iconic "Postage Stamp" is one of the shortest yet most challenging par 3s in golf. Its tiny green and deep bunkers demand precise club selection and control.

9th: Turnberry (Ailsa Course)*Par 4, 452 yards

The 9th hugs the rugged coastline, with the iconic lighthouse as its backdrop. It's a picturesque yet demanding hole, with wind often adding an extra layer of challenge.

10th: The Belfry*Par 4, 311 yards

This short par 4 is legendary for its risk-reward design, tempting players to go for the green off the tee. It's also known for unforgettable Ryder Cup moments, including Seve's daring drive in 1985.

11th: Royal Liverpool*Par 4, 436 yards

A strategic hole requiring accuracy, the 11th features a narrow fairway bordered by dunes. It's a key turning point in many Open Championships held at Hoylake.

12th: Old Head of Kinsale*Par 5, 537 yards

Set atop dramatic cliffs, this par 5 offers breathtaking ocean views. It's a true test of strategy, with wind and rugged terrain influencing every shot.

13th: North Berwick*Par 4, 400 yards

Known as "The Pit," this quirky hole features a stone wall protecting the green. It's a unique challenge, blending history and a test of creativity.

14th: Trump International Aberdeen*Par 4, 445 yards

Walking through a narrow gap in towering dunes, the 14th tee reveals breathtaking coastal views, creating a dramatic, cloud-like perch for an unforgettable drive.

15th: Royal St David's*Par 4, 432 yards

A classic links hole with Harlech Castle as its backdrop, the 15th at Royal St David's features a narrow fairway flanked by thick rough and deep bunkers.

16th: Royal Portrush*Par 3, 236 yards

Known as "Calamity Corner," this long par 3 is one of the toughest in golf. Its raised green requires a precise shot over a deep ravine.

17th: St Andrews (Old Course)*Par 4, 455 yards

The "Road Hole" is perhaps the most famous par 4 in the world. Its blind tee shot over the hotel corner and a treacherous green make it legendary.

18th: Carnoustie*Par 4, 499 yards

"Home" is a challenging finishing hole, with the infamous Barry Burn snaking through the fairway. It's a dramatic conclusion to one of golf's toughest tests.

SunningdaleThe Belfry

England

Home to some of the most beautiful landscapes in the world - from the rolling hills of the countryside to the rugged coastline - there is something for every golfer in England.

England's varied coasts serve up an incredible range of links courses to take on. Names such as Royal Birkdale, Royal Lytham & St Annes and Royal St George's often steal the limelight, but elsewhere in England the likes of Princes Golf Club, Royal Cinque Ports and St Enodoc should not be overlooked. Head inland and you'll find some of the finest heathland courses in the world, such as Woodhall Spa, Sunningdale and Wentworth.

And The Belfry is always worth a visit, as golfers try to recreate the many incredible moments that have taken place on the famous Brabazon course in years gone by.

All of the top 10 golf courses in England sit comfortably in the World Top 100 and, with some 1,900 courses to play - more than Scotland, Ireland and Wales combined - golfers have access to a lifetime of great golf here.

Forest of Arden Hotel & Country Club - Warwickshire

In the heart of the West Midlands countryside awaits the Forest of Arden, one of the most highly regarded golf resorts in the UK. This is thanks to two outstanding courses, The Championship Arden (host of 18 European Tour Events including British Masters & English Open) and the highly regarded resort course, The Aylesford, host of multiple county championship events. A fantastic golf destination found less than 30-minutes from Birmingham city centre, ideal for golfers throughout the UK, yet is surrounded by some 10,000 acres of countryside. The 4-star hotel maintains a high standard, with excellent customer service and outlets including vibrant sports bar and extensive leisure facilities.

Be prepared for the 18th - it's a proper closing hole that plays longer than it looks, especially if the wind picks up. And keep an eye out for the deer wandering the fairways!

Scotland

As you'd expect from the country that invented golf back in the 15th century, there is simply nothing like a golf trip to Scotland.

If you're looking for pure heritage and tradition, the likes of Musselburgh Links, the oldest golf course in the world, and the bucket list favourite Old Course at St Andrews will surely be on your shortlist. Want to play the host of the 152nd Open in Royal Troon? You can! After world-class resorts ranked high in the top 100 courses in the world? Look no further than Trump Turnberry, Muirfield, Royal Dornoch, North Berwick, Carnoustie and Kingsbarns.

Links courses tend to get all the headlines in Scotland, but the country is also home to some of the best parkland layouts around, such as Gleneagles and Murrayshall. Fine examples of heathland golf courses can be enjoyed across the country too.

From bucket list courses to hidden gems, there's something for every player seeking true golfing drama that can't be found anywhere else on the planet.

This course is definitely a test of your game, especially the Par 5's - but when is golf not a challenge! Big bunkers protect raised greens and it's the Par 3's that really stand out here.

Wales

Could Wales be the most underrated place to play golf in the world?

Here you can find world-class golf courses, warm hospitality and stunning natural beauty - all of which combine to create a fantastic golf destination on your doorstep.

Golf in Wales immediately serves up memories of Celtic Manor and that dramatic European victory on The Twenty Ten course. But Wales has always had a range of incredible golf courses to offer, from Royal Porthcawl and Royal St David's, to Pennard and Aberdovey. They often steal the headlines, but other popular favourites include the Jack Nicklaus-designed Machynys Peninsula, the stunning Conwy Golf Club, and James Braid's half-links, half-parkland Porthmadog Golf Club.

And no write up about Welsh golf is complete without mentioning Nefyn & District - often described as the UK's answer to Pebble Beach. With breathtaking views and the warmest of welcomes, you'll truly be spoilt for choice here.

Ireland

Welcome to The Emerald Isle: home to world-famous hospitality and world-class golf.

Golfers heading to Northern Ireland can play what many consider to be the world's best golf course at Royal County Down, as well as the only course to have hosted an Open Championship outside of England and Scotland in the form of Royal Portrush, where The Open is due to return in 2025.

Down the Wild Atlantic Way, you can find a huge number of world-famous links courses, such as Waterville, Ballybunion, Tralee, Doonbeg and Lahinch. Further north you'll find some of the most rugged and wildly charming courses in golf including the likes of Carne, Enniscrone and Ballyliffin.

Ireland is tough to beat for links golf. That said, the Emerald Isle packs a serious punch even as you move inland. Parkland classics include Lough Erne in Northern Ireland, or alternatively Druids Glen, The K Club, and Mount Juliet in the Republic.
