Your team demonstrated a remarkable level of service and flexibility, leaving a truly strong and professional impression. You have excellent, well-functioning conference facilities, and I believe the direct view of the green pitch gives the rooms their own distinctive character. Once again, thank you for the professional service you provided.

With our off-site solutions, you can achieve a professional set-up without having to handle everything yourselves. At Esbjerg Conference & Event, we help create the framework through catering and planning, so you get a solution that matches the occasion, the number of participants, and the level of service you require.

We can deliver anything from a simple service to a more complete experience with multiple courses, and we will gladly help you choose the right solution for your programme. If you also need support with practical execution and timing, we can advise you so the day runs smoothly from start to finish.

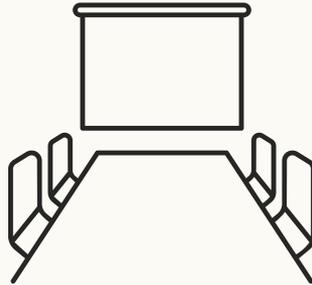

Tell us where the event will be held, how many you will be, and what type of catering you prefer - and we will prepare a proposal tailored to you.

Venues

Whether you are planning a smaller meeting, a workshop, or a larger conference, we will help you find the room that fits your purpose, number of participants, and programme. At Blue Water Arena, we offer bright, flexible facilities with modern AV and a variety of set-up options - and in several areas you can combine plenary sessions with spaces for breaks, networking, and breakout sessions. Below is an overview of some of our most frequently used rooms for meetings and conferences.

Carlsberg Lounge

Carlsberg Lounge is one of our largest and most versatile spaces and is particularly well suited to larger conferences, general meetings, professional presentations, and events with many participants. With panoramic views over Blue Water Arena, the lounge provides a professional setting that enhances the overall experience - for both speakers and attendees.

The room can also be divided into three separate sections, making it ideal for conferences with parallel sessions, workshops, or breakout rooms. This creates a strong flow in the programme, allowing you to bring participants together in plenary and still create calm and focus in smaller spaces when needed.

Claus Sørensen Lounge

Claus Sørensen Lounge provides an inspiring setting for meetings, workshops, and networking events where you want a balance of professionalism and a calmer atmosphere. It is a modern space with views towards Granly Hockey Arena and the surrounding green areas - offering a natural break during the day.

The lounge works very well for everything from training days and presentations to sessions that require dialogue and group work. At the same time, there are excellent opportunities for breaks and informal conversations, making the meeting day both efficient and enjoyable.

Skylounge

Skylounge 1 and Skylounge 2 are two bright and flexible meeting rooms of 110 m², ideal for courses, workshops, and full meeting days where you want plenty of space and a clear set-up. The rooms can be arranged to suit your needs and work well for both classic meeting layouts and more active workshop formats with group work.

For the meeting day, you have access to a projector, AV connection to PC, and a whiteboard/flip chart, ensuring presentations and sessions can be delivered smoothly and professionally. The Skylounges are also well suited if you wish to combine a professional programme with well-timed breaks, as the space supports a natural flow between presentations, dialogue, and catering.

Skybox

A Skybox is an excellent choice for smaller meetings, board meetings, and workshops where you need a calm setting for focus and strong conversations. The Skybox is 33 m² and is particularly well suited to smaller groups - and with views over Blue Water Arena, your meeting gains a setting that stands out from a traditional meeting room. The room is equipped with a TV screen, AV connection to PC, and a whiteboard/flip chart, making it easy to work with presentations, the agenda, and notes throughout the day. The Skybox is ideal when you want a professional framework in a more intimate format - with space for depth and decision-making.
