ABSOLUT

One source is our production philosophy, meaning that every aspect of the production journey takes place in and around the small village of Åhus, Sweden. All ingredients for Absolut Vodka are sourced from southern Sweden. Every drop of water and every seed of wheat comes from one water source, one village and one community. This is the reason why no matter where you are in the world Absolut will always have the same high quality.

Absolut only use hardy winter wheat from the area surrounding Åhus in Southern Sweden. The fertile fields in southern Sweden are ideal for growing wheat, with yields around twice as high as the global average for wheat production.

They always tap their water locally from their own wells that are more than 140 meters deep. The water has been filtered through the Swedish bedrock for thousands of years and gives a natural mouth-feel that you cannot create in a lab. After all, 60% of Vodka is pure water, so it's quite a big deal.

REYKA

The Reyka distillery was established in 2005 and is the only distillery in Iceland. The Vodka is made using a unique distillation process that involves using geothermal energy to heat the stills and then cooling the resulting vapours with water from a nearby glacial spring. The Vodka is then filtered through lava rocks that are sourced from the nearby Hekla volcano.

The use of pure Icelandic ingredients and the unique distillation process give Reyka Vodka a distinct taste and character. The brand has won several awards for its quality, including the 2011 Vodka Trophy at the International Wine and Spirit Competition.

We are a precious small batch Vodka made in Iceland, hand crafted using lava rock filtration, arctic spring water and geo-thermal energy. Skall! DUTCH BARN VODKA

Who knew apples could make brilliant vodka? Chris did, and thankfully he's not the only one to agree. From getting surprisingly good feedback on his early attempts (and zero casualties) after learning on the job. To now proudly gracing supermarkets all over the UK. Dutch Barn Vodka has earned a bit of a reputation. Not only because it's crisp and delightfully smooth, but because it's better for the planet, too.

In November 2023, global superstar and all-round legend Ricky Gervais announced he would be joining as the new co-owner of Ellers Farm Distillery. He's partial to a drink, yes – but he also wanted to work with a sustainable spirits business that's actually doing some good. So after diving in feet (and bottle) first, he took the reins on creative leadership whilst making sure everyone knows about Dutch Barn Vodka.

Dutch Barn Orchard Vodka is named after the barn that holds the distillery at the farm in North Yorkshire. The highest quality vodka made from British Apples by their multi-award winning Distiller, carbon neutral from day one. STOLI®

Made from the finest wheat and distilled into the highest quality alcohol, the process starts in Latvia, at the magnificent Latvijas Balzams distillery (built by order of the Tsar in 1900) where the spirit is then filtered through charcoal and quartz sand and blended with pure artesian well water, to create Vodka of unsurpassed smoothness. Latvijas Balzams has been one of the main production facilities for Stoli® Vodka since 1948.

STOLI® flavoured Vodka starts with the exceptional quality and original character of STOLI® Premium Vodka as its base. To this is added a little of the highest quality American beet sugar, refined to a level of purity to match the Vodka. Unlike a great many other brands of flavoured Vodka, no STOLI® flavoured Vodkas contain artificial flavours. Our flavour experts work tirelessly to taste, test, refine and balance the ingredients, making minute adjustments to ensure perfect consistency between each different bottling of a flavour. The result is that every bottle consistently delivers the benchmark taste that bar tenders rely upon to make the world's most original cocktails.

Stoli® Vodka is a classically styled, exceptionally smooth Vodka. WARNER'S

At Warner's Distillery, we make epic drinks in harmony with nature.

Founded in 2012 by Tina and Tom Warner, we are on a mission to save the world from mediocre drinks with a vision to become the most nature positive drinks business in the world!

Our 100% natural range of spirits are distilled on our family farm in Harrington, Northamptonshire.

We believe that real tastes better, which is why we harvest fistfuls of real farm-grown ingredients, cramming our drinks with the fresh tastes of the British countryside.

Make no mistake, it's bloody hard graft! To get the famous flavour of our naturally pink Rhubarb Gin, we throttle tonnes of real rhubarb until we have enough juice to fill a third of every bottle.

Our London Dry is crammed full of fresh botanicals and rescued citrus peel, which gives it its bright burst of unique flavour.

If you're looking for a non-alcoholic tippie, our Warner's 0% range is distilled using farm-grown ingredients, meaning every drop is as refreshingly flavourful as the hard stuff.

0% Alcohol, 100% Natural.

While doing all of this, we focus on taking care of nature the way that she takes care of us, conserving the countryside, protecting natural habitats, and supporting biodiversity – because why wouldn't we?

Real Gin has the countryside in.

BEEFEATER

Beefeater Gin is a renowned brand of London Dry Gin with a history dating back to 1863. Established by James Burrough, it is produced at the Beefeater Distillery located in Kennington, London, England. The name “Beefeater” pays homage to the ceremonial guards, known as Yeomen Warders or “Beefeaters,” at the Tower of London.

The gin’s distinct flavor arises from a blend of nine botanicals, including juniper, coriander seeds, angelica root, angelica seeds, lemon peel, orange peel, licorice root, almond, and orris root. These botanicals are steeped in neutral grain spirit before undergoing distillation in copper pot stills.

Beefeater Gin is a favored choice for crafting timeless cocktails such as the Martini, Negroni, and Gin and Tonic. Its well-balanced flavor makes it equally suitable for both mixing and savoring.

ENGINE

Born from an idea of Paolo Dalla Mora, entrepreneur in the fashion and spirits sectors, ENGINE celebrates an imaginary made of oil and fuel cans, motocross races and racing vehicles, in memory of the great myths of the 1970's and 1980's like the timeless Ford custom-painted Gran Torino from TV show Starsky and Hutch or Clint Eastwood's 1972 Ford Gran Torino. From the world of cars, straight into your glass.

ENGINE is a distilled Gin (42% vol.) hand-crafted by master distillers, produced in small batches and Canned by hand in the Alta Langa region, in north-western Italy. Its formula is linked with Italian and Piedmont tradition, paying tribute to rosolios (sweet liqueurs), cordials and liqueurs made from sage and lemon which in the past were ancient digestive remedies. It is produced with 100% organic Italian ingredients, from a controlled supply chain.

CHASE

Chase Distillery is tucked away in the picturesque Herefordshire countryside. It's where our award-winning gins and Vodkas were born and first produced.

Our Distillery is part of a rich landscape famed for its fertile farmland and distinctive red soil – so it's no wonder that some of the best-tasting crops are produced here. We're proud to say that it's from these Herefordshire farming roots that the Chase story began.

From the quality potatoes rooted into the soil to the fragrant elderflower that blooms from the hedgerows, the plentiful British countryside brings with it a whole host of flavour inspirations. As the seasons change, our influences do, too – spring brings a host of deliciously tart rhubarb, with autumnal apples bringing a delightful contrast to our unique spirits.

Over time, we've developed our variety of gins & Vodkas to ensure that there's something for everyone. Whether it's enjoying a Grapefruit G&T on a grassy picnic blanket or sipping on some Sloe Gin by a warm, wintry fireplace, there's a flavour in our range to suit all occasions. Cheers!

HENDRICK'S

Hendrick's is the marriage of two different spirits from two rare and unusual stills:

The harmonious combination of the bennett and carter-head stills create an unusually smooth Gin like no other that has the required character and balance of subtle flavours.

The bennett steeps the botanicals in spirit overnight prior to distillation resulting in a rich, complex liquid. Whereas the carter-head gently steams the botanicals in a basket atop its lofty neck, so influence is imparted upon the spirit in something akin to a botanical steam bath. This yields a lighter, more delicate spirit.

The harmonious combination of the bennett and carter-head stills create an unusually smooth Gin like no other that has the required character and balance of subtle flavours.

The Hendrick's Gin Palace hails from the tiny seaside village of Girvan, which lies in Ayrshire, south-west Scotland. The distillery lies just a mile inland and overlooks the mysterious volcanic island of Ailsa Craig. This alluring outcrop lies uninhabited, save for a few gannets and puffins, but features in many local legends.

There are now 8 hands toiling together in the Gin palace under the direct supervision of our Master Distiller Lesley Gracie.

Each batch of Hendrick's Gin is crafted just 500 lovely litres at a time. It is how Hendrick's Gin started in 1999 and how it will remain and allows Lesley, greater control of her careful artistry.

TANQUERAY

Tanqueray has led the way in the Gin category for nearly 200 years with an unshakeable attention to quality.

It all started in 1830 when Charles Tanqueray set up his Vine Street distillery in Bloomsbury in London and started to experiment with the world's finest botanicals - creating over 300 recipes in the process.

The result was Charles' extraordinary Tanqueray London Dry recipe which has helped define the standard for all London Dry Gins ever since.

Today Tanqueray is still driven with this enduring principle to quality and taste and the result has been a portfolio of award-winning gins, including Tanqueray No. TEN, Tanqueray Royale and Tanqueray Flor De Sevilla.

Tanqueray London Dry

PLYMOUTH GIN

The Black Friar's building dates back to the early 1400s. The most intact part of the distillery is the Refectory Room, a medieval hall with a fine hull-shaped timber roof built in 1431. It's one of the oldest buildings in Plymouth, and protected as a precious national monument. Sean Harrison, Plymouth Gin Master Distiller and a global ambassador for our premium Gin craft, joined Plymouth Gin in 1994 as Assistant Manager, rising to become Master Distiller. With this role comes great responsibility. Namely, becoming keeper of our coveted 200 year old recipe, passed down verbally to every Master Distiller since 1793. As a former Lieutenant of the Royal Navy, we can only assume Sean has undergone military grade interrogation training. He won't say.

Plymouth Gin

Plymouth Gin is a true original. Since 1793 its unique recipe of botanicals has been made to the highest standards in the same distillery in the very heart of the historical city of Plymouth, on England's South West coast. It's these factors that have resulted in our particularly English Gin becoming as famous and well travelled as those who first tasted it.

Plymouth Navy Strength

Gin had to be Navy Strength as it was stored next to the gunpowder below deck. A lower alcohol percentage like the today's original with 41,2% would damage the gunpowder if it was to leak on the gunpowder. The Navy Strength with 57% would still be a flammable liquid and would therefore not damage the gunpowder. These days, no self-respecting bartender would omit it from their arsenal either.

Whatever it is, it's been working for two centuries and counting.

REMOVE

It all started back in 2014, when our founder Dan, a native New Yorker and whisky connoisseur, had moved to the Cotswolds after working in finance in London for many years. Seeking to leave behind that world and spend more time in the picturesque countryside of the Cotswolds with his family, it eventually dawned on him that he could combine his love of whisky with his desire to start a new business. A dedicated whisky fan, Dan saw the fields of golden barley around his house in the Cotswolds and had a brainwave 'I suddenly thought, there's barley all over the Cotswolds and nobody's distilling it, let's be the first!'

Having found a derelict site near his house, he set about building a distillery and a team to run it, and the doors of the Cotswolds Distillery opened in July 2014.

Cotswolds Dry Gin is a delectable blend of nine carefully-considered botanicals, including local lavender from the Cotswolds and freshly peeled pink grapefruit and lime zest. Due to the unusually high volume of botanicals we use, our gin causes a beautiful pearlescent cloud to appear when ice or tonic is added. A juniper-led gin with fresh citrusy notes and a hint of lavender.

Our three best-selling rums Havana Club 3, Havana Club Especial & Havana Club 7 embody the Cuban Rum style, with its lightness and freshness paired with the complexity and elegance that comes from natural tropical ageing. Each Rum undergoes a distinct ageing process to release the optimum flavours for specific cocktails or simply for sipping.

BACARDÍ

Bacardi, the iconic Rum brand, has a storied history that began in 1862 when Facundo Bacardi Massó established the company in Santiago de Cuba. Facundo, along with his brother José, introduced a revolutionary charcoal filtration process that set their Rum apart from others. This process resulted in a smoother and more refined spirit, which became known as Bacardi Superior, the brand's flagship product.

In the late 19th century, Bacardi Superior gained popularity, especially in the creation of classic cocktails such as the Mojito and the Daiquiri. The company's commitment to quality and innovation propelled its success, and Bacardi became synonymous with exceptional Rum.

However, Bacardi faced a significant setback in 1960 when Fidel Castro's government nationalised their assets in Cuba. The Bacardi family, forced into exile, relocated to the United States. Despite losing their Cuban distilleries, they rebuilt the business and continued producing Bacardi Rum at various locations globally.

A premium aged, single-island Rum from the Philippines, Don Papa is crafted on the fertile foothills of the active volcano Mt. Kanlaon - where the finest blades of sugarcane are expertly milled to produce sweet, rich molasses.

Langs Banana combines irresistible natural ripe banana with hints of toffee and authentic tropical fruity and earthy aromas.

Langs Pineapple combines juicy pineapple with hints of coconut, caramel and lime, finishing mild and long with fruits and spiced oak.

Langs Mango & Ginger is a spicy-sweet sunburst of ripe, velvety mango, with ginger heat building in a long smooth spiced finish. Imported from Jamaica, our rum is considered full bodied and special because of the island's limestone, a mineral-rich sedimentary rock loaded with calcium carbonate. Limestone water softens the final product and makes it a little sweeter, making this rum the best base rum for our exotic flavour range.

DEAD MAN'S FINGERS

Inside the Rum and Crab Shack, a famous seafood joint in St Ives, Cornwall; and feeling suitably liberated from the tyranny of convention, a spiced Rum was born. We rejected crusty old tradition in favour of flavours new; unusual flavours like Cornish Saffron cake and Pedro Ximénez ice cream were encouraged to get all close and personal with nutmeg, vanilla and a hint of orange.

The result was a unique Spiced Rum that's not only delicious sipped neat but also plays well with others – that subtle orange back-note making it a better mixer for a more diverse range of cocktails. Then, all we needed was a name.

One of the most popular items on the Shack's menu is crab (damn right, it's delicious). The long, finger-like gills inside the crab are called 'dead man's fingers' because folklore has it if you eat them, you'll die. (You won't, they just taste nasty which is why they are removed and discarded.)

It had nothing to do with pirates or Caribbean islands as is the norm for a Rum (yawn). In fact, Dead Man's Fingers as a name was so wrong – it was right. So that's us. A weird name, a skull on the bottle (allegedly the last person to eat the dead man's fingers), and a delicious Rum inspired by the sort of flavours that make us happy.

Dead Man's Fingers White Rum

We've never been afraid to mix things up a little, and our White Rum is no exception. Forget that old-fashioned fuddy-duddy stuff from the past – this is bold, vibrant, and full of character. Hints of vanilla and tropical fruit make for delicious Daiquiris and Mojitos, and if you're looking for something simple, pour over ice with cola and a wedge of lime.

CAZCABEL

WE USE ONLY LOCALLY SOURCED, BLUE WEBER AGAVE IN OUR TEQUILA WHICH GROWS FOR AROUND 7 YEARS BEFORE HARVESTING.

Cazcabel Tequila is created in an independent micro distillery in the town of Arandas, located in the highlands of the Jalisco mountains in Mexico. The elevation of Arandas ensures that the agave are well hydrated and that they have mineral and nutrient rich soil which allow them to grow larger than anywhere else in Jalisco.

Once harvested, we use autoclaves to steam our piñas and start converting the carbohydrates and starches into fermentable sugars. Autoclaves have many benefits including being able to regulate temperatures which allow for an even cook and a beautifully clean Tequila. After fermenting in steel tanks for 10 days, Cazcabel is distilled using a combination of copper pot and steel stills and then chill-filtered to get rid of any impurities. The combination of these processes gives Cazcabel Tequila it's well rounded but amazingly smooth and balanced flavour.

Cazcabel Blanco

At the heart of the Cazcabel range is our Blanco. A spirit fashioned from sun-baked blue weber agave from the heart of the Jalisco region. Fresh, crisp and with a rustic hit of earthy agave this tequila is truly one to be sipped and savoured.

THE BALVENIE

The Balvenie Distillery is a renowned Scottish single malt Whisky distillery located in Dufftown, Speyside, Scotland. It is part of the William Grant & Sons group, a family-owned company established in 1887. The distillery's history dates back to the late 19th century, making it one of the oldest working Whisky distilleries in Scotland.

The Balvenie is well-regarded for its traditional production methods, and it is one of the few distilleries that still grows its own barley, making it a truly independent distillery. The distillery has its malting floor, where the barley is malted using traditional methods.

The production process at Balvenie involves a combination of traditional craftsmanship and modern technologies. The distillery uses copper pot stills, which are smaller and shaped differently from the column stills commonly found in grain Whisky production. These pot stills contribute to the unique character and flavours of Balvenie whiskies.

One of the key figures associated with The Balvenie is David Stewart, who served as the Malt Master for over 50 years. His innovative use of different cask types and wood finishes has resulted in some highly acclaimed whiskies in the Balvenie range.

The Balvenie offers a variety of single malt whiskies, each with its own distinct flavour profile, often aged for different periods and matured in various types of casks, such as bourbon barrels, sherry butts, and port pipes.

GLENFIDDICH

Glenfiddich has a rich history that dates back to the late 19th century. The distillery was founded by William Grant in 1887 after he gathered the necessary capital, materials, and expertise to fulfill his lifelong dream of creating his own Whisky.

The distillery was built by hand using traditional methods, with William Grant and his family personally involved in its construction. Despite facing various challenges and setbacks, the distillery was completed, and production began on Christmas Day in 1887.

Glenfiddich, which translates to "Valley of the Deer" in Gaelic, was chosen as the name for the distillery due to its picturesque location in the heart of the Scottish Highlands. The area is known for its natural beauty and abundance of crystal-clear water sources, which are crucial for Whisky production.

In the early years, the distillery faced tough competition from larger Whisky producers. However, William Grant's commitment to quality and his innovative vision of producing single malt Whisky paid off. Glenfiddich slowly gained recognition and began to establish a reputation for excellence.

In 1963, Glenfiddich made a bold move that would change the Whisky industry forever. The brand decided to market and promote its single malt Whisky globally, becoming one of the first distilleries to do so. This decision helped ignite a worldwide interest in single malt Scotch Whisky, leading to its rise in popularity and cementing Glenfiddich as a pioneering and influential brand.

Today, Glenfiddich remains in the hands of the Grant family, with William Grant's descendants actively involved in the management and production of the Whisky. The distillery continues to uphold its traditional methods while embracing innovation, ensuring that Glenfiddich remains a beloved and respected name in the world of Scotch Whisky.

BRUICHLADDICH THE CLASSIC LADDIE

Since Bruichladdich's resurrection in 2001, our ambitions have gone beyond the simple idea of making and selling single malt Scotch Whisky. Their goal was to be an antidote to the industry norm.

They set course to be pioneers, provocateurs and change makers.

Reconnecting the land and the dram, re-evaluating the prescribed 'rules' of the industry, questioning where flavour comes from and understanding why agricultural ecosystems are important.

This was a journey that would go on to inspire an army of distillers and drinkers across the world.

As they continue this path, they discover that the more they learn, the more they know we need to do. Today, their commitments to people and the planet grow stronger, ensuring we use their business as a force for good.

With their empowered team, they pursue this bigger purpose and maintain their mission to create the most thought-provoking spirits they can. As Progressive Hebridean Distillers, they hope their actions will stimulate other entrepreneurial start-ups to emerge on our island home and further afield, each one adding richness and diversity, paving the way for an increasingly dynamic and self-sufficient future.

Bruichladdich The Classic Laddie, showcasing the classic, floral and elegant Bruichladdich house style, The Classic Laddie is made from 100% Scottish barley, trickle distilled, non-chill filtered and colouring free.

JAMESON

In 1780, John Jameson established a way of making Irish Whiskey that has been proudly adhered to ever since.

Jameson Irish Whiskey is made by blending rich pot still Whiskey produced from both malted and unmalted barley, with the finest grain Whiskey, both distilled three times for smoothness. The barley used in the process is all grown within 100 miles of Midleton, and the water used comes from the Dungourney river, which flows through the distillery. The word "Whiskey" derives from the Irish "uisce beatha," meaning 'water of life,' making the choice of water source fitting. While the barley and water are locally sourced, maize, being a sun-loving crop, is not suitable for Ireland's climate. Therefore, Jameson acquires all its non-genetically modified maize from a farmer in the South of France.

Jameson Irish Whiskey

Jameson Irish Whiskey is classified as a blended Irish Whiskey. The process begins by selecting the finest pot still and fine grain whiskeys. These chosen whiskeys are then triple distilled, not out of necessity but a deliberate choice, to impart the signature smoothness that Jameson is known for. Afterward, they undergo a minimum aging period of 4 years in oak casks. For those embarking on their Whiskey journey, Jameson is often recommended as the ideal starting point.

WILD TURKEY

The Wild Turkey brand has a long history that dates back to 1855 when the Ripley brothers established the distillery. However, the brand gained its current name, Wild Turkey, in the 1940s when a distillery executive shared the bourbon with friends on a hunting trip and they requested “some of that wild turkey bourbon.”

Wild Turkey Distillery follows traditional bourbon-making techniques. They use a copper still to distill their bourbon and age it in new, charred white oak barrels. The distillery has a commitment to quality and craftsmanship, and the production process is carefully controlled to ensure consistency.

Their creation - a small batch Kentucky Straight Bourbon, refined with American Oak and Texas mesquite charcoals - was named Longbranch, a reference to an extension of a hand or an invitation for friends to become family.

AKASHI BLENDED WHISKEY

As suggested by the name, the distillery is located in the small city of Akashi, south of the main island and a few miles away from Kobe. White Oak was the first Japanese distillery to be granted a proper Whisky distillation licence, back in 1919.

Having been a family-run, craft distillery since producing its very first batch, White Oak also stays true to its roots, reinforcing its long-lasting traditions of Sake and Shochu production. Whisky distillation takes place once a year over a four-month period from April to July. A new distillery using Scottish methods was built in 1984 and double distillation takes place in traditional copper pot stills..

Akashi Blended Whiskey is a beautiful and typical Japanese blend made from 30% malted barley and 70% grain, matured for five years. Pleasant freshness and spices with almost sugary, fruity aromas. Vibrant and powerful on the palate, woody notes lead the way to tasty dried fruits.

NIKKA

Nikka Whisky, is a renowned Japanese Whisky producer. It was founded by Masataka Taketsuru, often referred to as the father of Japanese Whisky. Taketsuru traveled to Scotland in the early 20th century to learn about the art of Whisky making, and upon his return to Japan, he established the first Nikka distillery in Yoichi, Hokkaido in 1934.

The Yoichi distillery is situated in an area known for its similarity to the Scottish Highlands, with cold winters and a maritime climate. This location was chosen by Taketsuru due to its resemblance to the Whisky-producing regions of Scotland. Nikka Whisky uses traditional methods of production, including pot stills and wooden fermentation vessels, to create their distinctive whiskies.

In addition to the Yoichi distillery, Nikka also operates another distillery called Miyagikyo, located in Sendai, Miyagi Prefecture. Miyagikyo produces a different style of Whisky compared to Yoichi, with a lighter and more delicate character.

FIREBALL

Since it burst on to the scene Fireball has been nothing short of a revelation.

Bloomsburg Business Week described it as “the most successful liquor brand in decades”- and it’s easy to see why. Fireball has blazed a trail of success across America before the flames leapt over to UK shores.

Rumour has it that a bartender on a particularly harsh Canadian winter attempted to warm himself up by blending cinnamon with Canadian rye Whisky, but ended up creating America’s new favourite liqueur.

Fireball is a liqueur blended with Canadian Whisky and natural cinnamon flavours. It’s a fiery but smooth drink best described by the makers themselves ‘Just imagine what it feels like to stand face-to-face with a fire-breathing dragon who just ate a Whisky barrel full of spicy cinnamon.’

GRAHAM'S

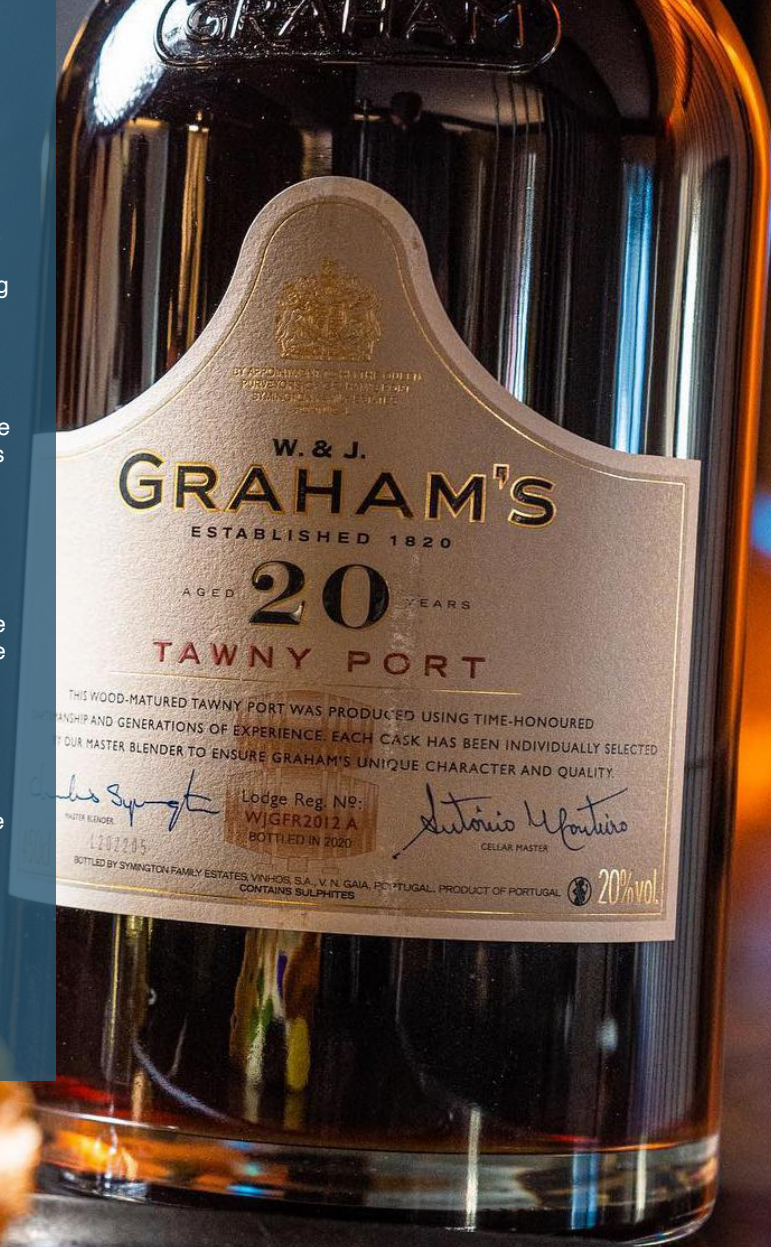

Founded in 1820 by brothers William and John Graham, Graham's Port quickly became known as a producer of exceptional ports. This success culminated in the building of the Graham's Lodge in Gaia and the acquisition of Quinta dos Malvedos in 1890.

In 1882, Andrew James Symington sailed from Scotland to Porto to work for the Graham family, thus beginning the long association between the families. In 1970, Andrew's grandsons acquired the company from the Graham family, and have continued to grow its reputation for producing incredible ports.

Graham's wines combine the best of tradition with innovation in our pursuit of excellence. Using sustainable and minimal-intervention methods wherever possible, we strive to produce the finest expressions of our estates using indigenous grape varieties.

We source our grapes from four properties: Quinta dos Malvedos, Quinta do Tua, Quinta da Vila Velha and Quinta do Vale de Malhadas. Each brings its own unique characteristics to our wines.

Each year, the finest Graham's ports are made in our specialist winery at Quinta dos Malvedos. Here, our winemakers are tasked with producing the finest expression of that year's fruit – an approach that has lasted for over 200 years
